TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

THE Society met on Wednesday, May 8, 1850, at 9 o'clock, A. M., at the Society's house, to transact any business which might be brought before them, the President, Hon. THOMAS S. WILLIAMS, LL. D., late Chief-Justice of Connecticut, in the chair. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Howard Malcom, D. D., of the Baptist church, Philadelphia. The Rev. Dr. Knox, chairman of the Executive Committee, made a statement of the general prosperity of the Society, and the arrangements for the public meeting; and, on motion of Rev. Dr. Malcom, it was Resolved, That the thanks of the Society be presented to the Rev. Gardiner Spring, D. D., one of the founders of the Society, for his able quarter-century sermon, delivered on Sabbath evening last, at the request of the Executive Committee, in the Reformed Dutch church, Lafayette-place, and that a copy thereof be requested for the press.

The Society then adjourned for the public exercises at the Broadway Tabernacle; where, at 10 o'clock, the President took the chair, supported by Chancellor Walworth of New York, Chief-Justice Hornblower of New Jersey, and other Vice-presidents, and Rev. Dr. Knox, chairman of the Executive Committee. After prayer by Rev. Benjamin Tappan, D. D., of Augusta, Maine, the Treasurer's report was presented by Moses Allen, Esq.; an abstract of the Annual Report was read—Publishing and Foreign Departments by Rev. William A. Hallock, Colportage by Rev. R. S. Cook, Secretaries; and the following resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted: namely,

On motion of Chancellor Walworth, seconded by Hon. Heman Lincoln of Boston,

Resolved, That the Annual Report, an abstract of which has now been read, be adopted and published under the direction of the Executive Committee; and that the Society recognize with devout gratitude the proofs it affords of the increasing usefulness of the Institution, under the blessing of the Triune God.

On motion of Chief-Justice Hornblower, seconded by Rev. Seth Bliss, Secretary American Tract Society, Boston,

Resolved, That under a popular government, and with a free press, the influence of a purely Evangelical Literature universally diffused, is indispensable to the permanence and well-being of our social, civil, and religious institutions.

The congregation then united in singing the hymn,

“God is the refuge of his saints,” etc.

On motion of Rev. J. B. Shaw of the Presbyterian church, Rochester, N. Y., seconded by William B. Crosby, Esq., of New York,

Resolved, That in the rapid increase of Emigrants from Europe, and the obvious adaptation of Colportage to their spiritual necessities, we find urgent incentives for the speedy and universal application of this system to that class of our population.

The Rev. William S. Plumer, D. D., of the Presbyterian church, Baltimore, on rising to offer a resolution, after a few remarks, proposed that the Society pause and unite in thanks to God for his smiles on the past, and invoking his blessing on its future operations. The Society concurring in the suggestion, the Rev. Thomas De Witt, D. D., of the Reformed Dutch church, New York, offered prayer; when, on motion of Dr. Plumer, seconded by Rev. J. M'Carrell, D. D., of the Associate Reformed church, Newburgh, N. Y., it was Resolved, That the enterprising frontier settlers, scattered over half the continent, are entitled to our earnest endeavors for their salvation.

On motion of Rev. William M. Thomson, missionary from Syria, seconded by Rev. Amos Sutton, general Baptist missionary in Orissa, Resolved, That the Christian press in Foreign and Pagan lands requires constant and increasing support; and that, in view of its claims, not less than $20,000 are demanded the coming year for Tract operations in Papal and other nominally Christian countries, and at the mission stations aided by the Society.

On motion of Rev. George W. Bethune, D. D., of the Reformed Dutch church, Brooklyn, N. Y., seconded by Rev. Benjamin C. Cutler, D. D., of the Protestant Episcopal church, Brooklyn,

Resolved, That the providence and grace of God are gratefully acknowledged in the harmony, prosperity, and usefulness of the Society during the past Quarter of a Century; and that its future interests are joyfully confided to His keeping who sees “the end from the beginning,” and whose “mercy endureth for ever.”

On motion of Rev. John S. Stone, D. D., member of the Executive Committee, seconded by Rev. Otto Tank, Moravian missionary from Surinam, the officers of the Society were reelected for the ensuing year, the Rev. Dr. Spring being elected a Vice-president in the place of the Rev. Dr. Miller, deceased; the congregation united in singing the Christian doxology, and the public exercises were closed with the apostolic benediction, pronounced by Rev. Dr. Stone.

ABSTRACT OF THE ADDRESSES.

FOREIGN EMIGRANTS.

THE REV. MR. SHAW said, our foreign population, if we consider the different causes which moved them to leave their native land, may be divided into three classes. Some of these strangers have been driven among us by necessity. They had no alternative but come or die. On the one hand were an ocean voyage with all its perils, and a virtual exile in a strange land; and on the other, misery, degradation, and death. These poor people were in hunger and thirst, and in want of all things; their life hung in doubt before them. In the morning they would say, would God it were even; and at even they would say, would God it were morning; and they came if possible to better their condition—to get a little reviving in their bondage—to have it to say that they had eaten at least one full meal and spent at least one quiet night in the house of their pilgrimage.

Some of these strangers have come among us from a sincere preference for republican institutions. They had witnessed the oppressions of the old world long enough. They had stood by and seen their brother bound and beaten, compelled to bear every burden and endure every indignity which heartless pride or irresponsible power saw fit to inflict, until they could stand by and see it no longer. They wanted to reach some spot where a man might breathe God's air and see God's light without paying his fellow-man for the privilege, and so they have come among us—not because they needed bread, or wanted wealth, or hankered after power; but because they wished to live and die among freemen, be wrapped in a freeman's untaxed shroud, and be laid in a freeman's unmolested grave.

Some of these strangers, it must also be confessed, have come among us to escape the consequences of their crimes. They are fugitives from justice; they have cheated the prison and the scaffold of their due, and deserve nothing at any man's hand but that mercy which pities while it condemns. No mark is to be discerned on their brow, no stain appears on their hand, and yet they are among us. Not hiding from the light of day, not moving with stealthy step lest every stone on which they tread should divulge the horrid secret, but the most noisy, the most unreasonable, and the most unscrupulous of all the motley multitude; as arrogant in their claims as if they had made the country and the people who are in it—as if the sun could not shine nor the harvest ripen without leave from them.

Having thus in a word described the different classes of strangers among us, let me now suggest two or three things which should reconcile us to their presence. One is, the fact that they have a right to be here. This, many will think, can never be sustained. These people are regarded as intruders. Setting providential barriers at defiance, they have unrighteously quartered themselves on us. What was the ocean made for, unless to save us from such intrusion?

But what right have we to the inestimable blessings over which we glory so much? Did we, Mr. President, pay any of the score or do any of the work? Did we shoulder the musket and sleep on the frozen ground, and live on a handful of musty eorn a day, and mark the snow with the red prints of our bleeding feet? No; the work was all done, the fabrie all built before we saw the light. Money enough was expended, but not ours; blood enough spilt, but not ours. And for whom did our fathers do this great work; for themselves alone, or their posterity alone? It would be an impeachment of their character, an insult to their memory, a profanation of the dead to say it. They took possession of these fertile fields and these great rivers in the name of humanity. They spent their substance and spilt their blood to open an asylum for all mankind. They sent forth their invitation to the world, if your chain galls, if your yoke binds, if your burden presses, bend your steps hither. There is nothing between you and freedom but the ocean. Make any part of our coast, touch any spot of our soil, come at any hour of the day or night, some warm heart and some warm hand will be ready to give you a welcome. Once among us, none shall hurt or molest or make you afraid; nor shall any voice with insulting arrogance ask, What do you here without your chain; and who gave you leave to call yourself a man? We offer you not a menial's place and a hireling's portion, but a freeman's birthright, "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Your property shall be as well protected, your rights as sacredly guarded, your vote as faithfully counted, as if like ourselves you had sunk a fortune and lost a limb and risked a life fighting for freedom. And now, Mr. President, shall we stand on our father's graves and take all this back? Shall we shut the door which they opened; shall we tear down the platform which they erected? Shall we drive these people back as intruders; station sentinels along the coast, and make it an indietable offense to land a foreigner on our shores?

Another thing which should reconcile us to the presence of these strangers, is the fact that they teach us a lesson which we might have to learn in a more expensive way. God can teach a fallen being the value of his blessings only by taking them away from him or away from his fellow. The blind man who lives on public charity, is regarded as an unmitigated burden; this is the prevailing opinion, but it is not mine. That blind man is a public benefactor. He passes through our streets and comes none too often to our doors to teach us what our eyes are worth, what a calamity the loss of sight would be. The sun does not shine nor the moon walk in brightness for him; for him no early dawn, no dewy eve, no midday glory. And why has he thus been visited? Did he deserve, more than another, such an infliction? Nay, Mr. President, it was to teach you and me the value of our disregarded blessings. It is an easy thing now to learn what sight is worth. No need to put out our eyes, to bid farewell for ever to the cheerful day. We have only to look at our poor brother as he gropes for the wall, as he feels his way through the streets and wishes there were one on earth still who could say, "Son, receive thy sight." Now these strangers, God-commissioned, have come to teach us the value of our blessings. They have left their homes, and crossed the ocean, and gathered on our shores to show us the value of freedom. O, American citizens, they say, would you know what your patrimony is worth; would you know what it is to be free? No need to enter a hovel, no need to wear another's cast-off clothes, no need to eat the crumbs from a pampered lordling's table, no need to put on the chain, no need to fire the fabric which your fathers built, and renounce the birthright which your fathers bought. Look at us. We have come to forestall the necessity of so dreadful an experiment. We have come, not to devour your substance or undermine your institutions, but to show you what it is to be free. Look then at us, at us the bound, the burdened, and the broken-hearted, with scarcely any thing of humanity left but its high responsibilities and awful destiny.

Another thing which should reconcile us to the presence of these strangers, is the fact that we need their help. We have a great work to do. We have forests to clear, and marshes to drain, and mines to quarry, and cities to build. We have canals to dig, and harbors to improve, and roads to make, and telegraphs to construct, and we need the help of these strangers. Nor can we well do without it. This is work in which the American citizen will not willingly engage. It does not comport with his dignity or agree with his constitution. It would be well then for those who complain of the presence of these strangers, to ascertain whether we can complete our national works and realize our national destiny without them.

There is a prevalent misapprehension on this subject which I should be glad if possible to correct. A strong arm is really so much capital in a country, and yet who is willing to believe it? A man pays a high price, a small fortune, for some machine made of wood and iron; but this living machine, this human mechanism, fearfully and wonderfully made—this master-piece of Almighty skill—is regarded as of little account. Such a manufactory is said to be worth an immense sum; and why? Because it contains so many machines, and so many spindles, and can spin and weave so many yards per day. So the perceiving eye, and the practised hand, and the discerning judgment, and the controlling will, all go for nothing. Now, to show the fallacy of such an estimate, turn those operatives adrift, send those men and women and children abroad to look for other employment. What are your stone walls and iron machines, your bales of cotton and stacks of wool, worth now? How many yards will that manufactory throw into the market; how much percentage will it pay the proprietors, if a human step never crosses the threshold? A man has just landed on our shores, and the question is, Did he bring any capital with him? and the answer is, No, not enough to buy his first meal, or pay for his first night's lodging. But is money the only capital which a man can bring with him? Will money pull the snags out of a river, or build a breakwater at the entrance of a harbor, or set a lighthouse on the sea-girdled rock? It can pay the laborers for doing it, and that is all. Yet money is accounted every thing, and the laborer nothing. A robust constitution and herculean strength are seldom enumerated in the inventory of our national effects. We have so many chartered companies, and so many incorporated cities; so many railroads, and so many acres of tillable land; so many ports of entry, so many navigable, and so many inland seas; but no one thinks of adding, so many able-bodied men. Now this is a doctrine to which we do not subscribe. These strong hands, and stalwart arms, and robust frames, are worth something. They are the best capital of the country; the capital which makes all other capital of any account. With the exception of the miserable wretches shipped from the work-houses and lazarettos of Europe, every emigrant makes the old world so much the poorer, and the new world so much the richer.

But, Mr. President, whether reconciled to the presence of these strangers or not, here they are, and here likely to be ; and by having sent them here, as clearly as if written in star-letters on the firmament, God is calling on us to bestir ourselves for their salvation. They have drawn their necks from under the iron hoof of despotism, and we are to complete the work of emancipation by delivering them from the more dreadful dominion of sin. We are to make them good citizens and good Christians, and this the American Tract Society proposes to do, and is peculiarly well fitted to do. In the work of the world's salvation, the living ministry is, I believe, the great thing. But a suitable ministry cannot be secured for these poor people. The requisite number of men speaking their different languages cannot be secured, and if secured, would be found lamentably ignorant of the truth as it is in Jesus. But we can supply them with tracts, and supply them with books, and supply them with Messengers, and supply them with the next best thing to the living minister, the single-eyed and sincere-hearted Colporteur. And with these instrumentalities and this agency, and God's blessing, the work can be done. I thank God to-day that this system of Colportage was ever devised ; and I thank him again that he ever put it into any man's heart to engraft it into this goodly tree. For, Mr. President, the American Tract Society is a goodly tree, like the tree which the king saw in vision, "the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the sight thereof unto the end of all the earth : the leaves thereof were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all : the beasts of the field had shadow under it, and the fowls of the heaven dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh was fed of it." It is indeed a goodly tree ; we love to look at its stately branches ; we love to look at its beautiful foliage ; we love at a distance to inhale its widespread fragrance ; and with still greater delight do we occasionally come to these high places of Zion, and sit down under its shade. This tree, we have been told, is twenty-five years old to-day, and never so stately, never so verdant, never so fruitful as to-day. Some who aided in planting it, who nourished it with their contributions, watered it with their tears, guarded it with their prayers, have passed away ; but they have gone to behold the verdure that shall never wither, and repose under the shade that shall never fail ; and the same unwithering verdure, and the same unfailing shade and shelter await us.

REV. DR. PLUMER'S ADDRESS.

REV. DR. PLUMER of Baltimore remarked, that it was twenty-five years since he first landed from sea, coastwise, in this city, and learned that God in his providence had directed the hearts of pious men to found the American Tract Society. He heard much debate among good men about the possibility of its success. But we have seen God's providence over it. We have lived to see results from it that have filled our minds with astonishment. Although he knew that it was dangerous to change the order of exercises of a meeting, he proposed to do it ; for in view of what God had done, he was sure that the pious servants of God would rather unite in offering thanks for the past, and supplications for the future, than in listening to his remarks. He therefore moved that we pause for a moment, and that Dr. De Witt be requested to lead the devotions of the assembly.

One of the profoundest European writers on benevolence, said Dr. Plumer, divides the friends of God and man in the work of benevolence into three classes: first, such as are chiefly engaged about the past, who study and think about their ancestors, admiring their virtues and trying to copy them; second, those who are of the present generation, who study the past but little, nor are much concerned about the future, but are busy about our own times; third, those who constantly conjecture, and are filled with anxiety about the future. To which of these three classes does the American Tract Society belong? To the first? Surely. If they neglect the lesson taught by the first, their sun will go down. We ask the past to love it. Shall we give it to the present? Millions on millions look up to it for nearly all their light to aid them in groping their way to the judgment of God. But we must not confine it to the second; for the future is larger than the past or present. I am not fifty years of age, and yet I was in Cincinnati when all the houses there did not cost so much as this single edifice. In one hundred years, San Francisco will be more important to the destinies of mankind than New York is now. At the close of Jefferson's administration, St. Charles, in Missouri, was the extreme western post. Now, when you get five hundred miles beyond that, in Missouri, you have but just begun to enter the West; and then you can go thousands of miles before you reach the Pacific. The territory that has been acquired in the last five years is more than one hundred and twenty times the extent of Vermont, and is filling up as God filled up this land when he first settled it—sifting the old settlements to get the best men. He graphically pictured the character of the men who go to settle our new countries, where every one is active about something, earnest about every thing. These new states and territories are sure to rule us. This last winter, in some cabin, perhaps in Minnesota, might be seen studying by the light of his pine torch, a boy who is yet to be President of these United States. These new countries, whose whole character is yet to be developed, are to rule us. With their vast dimensions, inexhaustible resources, bold independence of character, and the corrupt influences among them, it behooves us to bestir ourselves. If the Tract Society and other institutions forget the West, God does not. God has it in his keeping. Men there have hearts, spirits, consciences, and will do something on a great scale. If you will help them, they will make good use of your help; if you will not, they will help themselves.

REV. WILLIAM M. THOMSON'S ADDRESS.

REV. MR. THOMSON said, that in a recent "question-meeting" at the West, a gentleman had sent him the inquiry, "Do you regard the operations of the press as important to your success in the foreign field?" In answering this question, it was not necessary to demonstrate that the press is an important power; the only point was, Is it important in heathen and nominally Christian countries? Such a question must be settled by testimony; and testimony, to be worth any thing, must be personal. He appeared, therefore, as a witness, to give testimony as to what he had seen among the Arab race, the descendants of Ishmael. The Rev. Jonas King, now a missionary in Greece, had been, previous to going to that country, a missionary in Syria. On his arrival there, he went to the chief town of Mount Lebanon, as the best place to study the Arabic language. But when it was known that he was a Protestant missionary, such a storm arose that he was obliged to leave. The man with whom he stayed while there, however, had a son, a lad, upon whom, ignorant as they were of each other's language, Dr. King had made so deep an impression—Jonas King always makes an impression—that the boy resolved that he would be a scholar. He went to Egypt, to the Seminary founded by Mohammed Ali; and placed under the charge of infidel Frenchmen, he there became a scholar, but also an infidel. But he was a man of a noble spirit, as well as lofty intellect; and he would let no book pass him without examination. About three years ago, he met at Damaseus with an Arabic version of Dr. Keith's work on Prophecy, published by the Tract Society. He examined it. He immediately was interested, and began to compare it with the Arabic Bible. He did what few have ever done: in six weeks, he read the whole Bible twice, from Genesis to Revelation, carefully noting all the passages that bore upon the work of Keith. He became convinced that the Bible was the word of God. He now began to compare the various Oriental creeds with the word of God, and found that of them all there was no one that accorded with it. He did the same with the Protestant creed, and the consequence was that he became a Protestant. To this one book, thus we can trace the arousing of the finest and noblest mind in all Arabistan, and who exercises there a wider influence than could be wielded by any ten or twenty missionaries; and thus to this one book can we trace that great religious movement that is the cause of almost all that mighty wave now heaving and swelling against the walls of superstition in that land.

If you would know the power of a battery, you must not go to the men who work it, but to those who receive the discharges. Now, to put down the Protestant press in Syria, all the different churches there left off anathematizing each other, and joined their efforts. This Arab, of whom mention has been made, commenced a work showing the fallacy of the tenets of the Oriental churches, which was published in numbers. So great was the excitement raised by the first number that was issued, that the intervention of the autocrat of all the Russias, and the emperor of Austria, was asked to put a stop to it, and our own ambassador at Constantinople was forced to come down to Syria and investigate the matter. This consternation, and these efforts to suppress the printing and circulation of Protestant tracts, are proof enough of the importance of the work carried on.

There has hardly been a movement in Syria that is not to be traced directly or indirectly to the operation of our mission press. It should be carried forward with a far greater power and energy.

REV. AMOS SUTTON'S ADDRESS.

REV. MR. SUTTON commenced by relating the remark of a Christian native preacher in Orissa, who was speaking of his wish to visit England and be present at one of the great meetings. Mr. Sutton asked him what he should say. The first thing, said he, would be to wish them ten thousand loving salutations. What next? After thinking a little while, he said, "It wont come!"

And, said Mr. Sutton, I confess that in rising to address this assembly, I find myself very much in the condition of that dear native brother ; I can wish you ten thousand brotherly salutations, but what to say beyond, out of all that crowds upon my mind, I know not.

He proceeded to express his emotions on visiting the United States for a second time—(Rev. Mr. Sutton was on the Society's platform sixteen years ago)—and witnessing the improvements. It had been his lot to labor for a quarter of a century, almost under the very walls of the great temple of Juggernaut, in Orissa ; and if any spot on earth could be described as a place where Satan's seat was, it must be the purlieu of that temple. When he was before in this country, years ago, he could speak only in the language of hope and of prophecy, but now he was able to tell of good actually accomplished. He had been astonished to see the vast improvements that had been made since that time in many things ; but in one thing he had never heard of any improvement, and that was the gospel of Christ. When they entered upon their work in Orissa, they encountered opposition upon every side, even from their own countrymen. It was thought absurd to attempt to make converts there ; and so, on human principles, would it have been. But if a vast multitude, from all nations, and peoples, and kindreds, and tongues, were to be given to Christ, they thought that Orissa must be represented there. And so they labored on for six years, and into the seventh, before they saw a single convert ; and O, what a long and dark night of toil was that !

Mr. Sutton then spoke at length of various incidents of missionary labor ; narrated the circumstances of some of the earlier conversions, and which could all be traced back directly to a tract given to a young Hindoo. He described a lovely village of native Christians, erected upon a site once covered by a jungle, which had been a favorite resort of thieves and robbers. The pastor of that native church told the speaker, that on that spot he had himself set fire to the funeral pile of his own mother.

Mr. Sutton hoped that the resolution that he seconded would pass ; and that the Society would pass it knowing what they were doing ; and he would therefore give some account of the post he occupied, considered as a station for local distribution. He lived at the very head-quarters of idolatry ; he had seen two hundred and fifty thousand pilgrims there at one time, while the whole surrounding country was made a Golgotha by dead bodies thrown out by hundreds to dogs and unclean birds. He believed that there had been but very few cases of conversion in which tracts had not had something to do. Last year the Society had granted them $200 ; but what was that among so many ? Moreover, in the province of Orissa, there were no missionaries except those sent by the Society with which he was connected. In other districts and countries there was a greater number of laborers, so that should one fall another might step in and take his place. This fact should be taken into account in deciding upon the amount of appropriations to be made. They were also in the neighborhood of a people called the Khunds, among whom human sacrifices were prevalent. Their victims were not of their own people, but were children stolen from the neighboring tribes. These are kept until they reach a certain age, say fifteen years, when, adorned with gay dresses and flowers, and preceded by a band of music, they are taken out into a field. There they are bound to a post, the Khunds, howling and yelling, and with knives drawn, forming a ring about their victims. At a given signal, they rush upon them, eager to cut out a piece of flesh from the still living bodies, that they may bury it before night in their fields, as an offering to the goddess of the earth. Within two years five hundred victims have been rescued from such a fate in two districts only, through the intervention of the British government. We used to hear of the mild Hindoos, the pure and gentle heathen ; but the more we learn of paganism, the more do we discover that it is stained with blood. Verily, the dark places of the earth are full of cruelty. Of these victims rescued from the Khunds, one hundred and fifty are placed in the mission schools at Orissa. Mr. Sutton then gave an account of one of these youths, whom they named David, who for a long time appeared sunk in the lowest stupidity, but whose heart being touched by divine grace, his whole character underwent a marvellous change, so that he became exceedingly intelligent. Suddenly all over his body white circular spots made their appearance—the fatal precursors of leprosy. Each of these spots became a violent ulcer. The hands and feet of the poor sufferer dropped off, so that he only presented a mutilated trunk, with the ulcers eating their way to his vitals. Every care possible was taken of him, with a view to alleviate his sufferings. One night Mr. Sutton and wife went to visit him, and through the half-open door of his hut they saw him engaged in prayer, with his Testament clasped to his side, his hymn-book open upon his breast. They retired—when next they looked in, he had passed to glory.

Mr. Sutton concluded his remarks by an earnest appeal to send the gospel to the heathen. If he be esteemed a benefactor of mankind who makes two blades of grass grow where but one grew before, what shall we say of him who extended the blessings of the gospel to lands where it was before unknown?

REV. DR. BETHUNE'S ADDRESS.

The REV. DR. BETHUNE said, how much better would it be for us, who are so richly supplied with the bread of life that we almost forget that there is in the world such a thing as hunger, to listen to the voices of those who have learned the value of the gospel in heathen lands. But yet it was fitting that some response should be made by those at home to these appeals of our brethren from missionary ground.

He proceeded to show how each of the great societies was linked to the others in this work, dwelling especially on the one central truth, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, and that faith in him could only come by hearing ; that it was this great truth which this Society was engaged in preaching—aye, preaching—for that term should not be confined to oral discourses. Our beloved apostle Paul, when pacing his narrow room, and dictating his tracts to his young amanuensis, always imagines himself preaching. This Society, then, in every true sentence that it issued, was preaching. It is a blessed thing that the word of life has such vitality that, break it into fragments as small as you please, yet so that there be enough to contain the annunciation of a doctrine, there is still life in it. It is not necessary to commit the whole Scriptures to memory, or even to read them all, to know the sweetness and preciousness of the power of redeeming love. One drink of the water of life, one draught imbibed into an honest heart, shall become a fountain for ever welling forth religious comfort and joy. He passed into a glowing eulogium of the Tract Society. Our blessed Master had promised that whosoever should give even a cup of cold water in the name of a disciple, should not lose his reward; and I never see a Tract brimming over with the simple gospel of Jesus, but I see you handing a cup from which some soul may drink. This Society was doing more than Moses did when he struck the rock and brought forth water: those who drank of that water died in the wilderness; but those who should worthily drink of the water which this Society proffered, would live for evermore. Among the great number and variety of the publications of this Society, some might prefer this and some that, but all believed that there was in them enough of the gospel, if rightly applied, for the evangelization and salvation of the world.

Dr. Bethune went on to speak of the too little account we are accustomed to take of God's control over the physical elements. Providence at times seems to be sleeping, when in fact he is silently preparing to produce the greatest effects. This was illustrated by the state of Europe at the period just before the Reformation. In that age, apparently of deepest slumber, he was preparing men in different quarters, and apparently simultaneously, to invent the art of printing. So too, God was moving in the world when he put it into the heart of men to invent the steam-engine. How comparatively feeble, for instance, would have been the operations of this Society, were it not for that steam-engine in its basement working out, with its Briareus-arms, the will of God, with the strength of a hundred giants. The speaker proceeded with an animated and graphic description of the scene of the sailing of the noble steamer Atlantic, and of its parting with the Ohio, one bound for the old world, and the other bearing those who were to convey our language and civilization to California. And California was not the terminating point, it was only the lookout post of civilization. We had scarcely begun to dream of what was to be effected by steam navigation, which, like a mighty shuttle passing across the ocean, was destined to weave the web of national amity. The stormy Atlantic was not its most proper element. The broad and tranquil Pacific was especially adapted for the development of its power; and all along the great route of commerce through it, depôts of coal were laid up in advance for its use. The English language which was to be borne throughout the East, thus laid open, was the consecrated instrument for the evangelization of the world. In no other language was embodied the tithe of the wealth contained in this; and the wealth of the language had been gathered together and compressed in the publications of this Society, which comprised the best theological library for practical use anywhere to be found. This language was to be spread over the globe, so that all nations should become one brotherhood, and should be no longer fettered by the restrictions which men had set to intercourse with each other; every man then who needed our help should be our neighbor, and every neighbor should be loved as a brother.

TWENTY-FIFTH

ANNUAL REPORT.

FOR a quarter of a century the God of grace has sustained the laborers in this institution, guided their counsels, and crowned their endeavors with his blessing. It was founded in the faith and prayer and humble trust of the living and the dead, who sought to meet the call of duty and commit the results to God, and he has more than fulfilled their most sanguine expectations. Our friends and associates are no more on earth, but we are here before God, "the living, the living, to praise him as we do this day." One object, we believe, has animated all hearts, to honor our crucified, risen, reigning, interceding Redeemer, in the salvation of men, through the renewing and sanctifying operations of his Holy Spirit; and the promises of his mercy, which is abundant to all who trust in him, have been richly fulfilled, mercy upon mercy, "grace for grace." Let us adore and magnify his holy name.

One venerated Vice-president, whose name stood first on the list, out of four original Vice-presidents, the Rev. SAMUEL MILLER, D. D., formerly a beloved pastor in this city, and for nearly thirty-seven years so prominently identified with the Theological Seminary at Princeton, New Jersey, departed this life in January last, at the age of fourscore years, a period which few men have filled up with such distinguished usefulness. His venerable colleague and most intimate associate and friend, the Rev. Dr. Archibald Alexander, in his funeral sermon, bore a just testimony to his uniformly consistent piety; his liberality, especially in his gifts to foreign missions; the attractiveness of his character in all the relations of life, and his public usefulness, as a minister, a professor, and an able and accomplished author. He was an unwavering friend of this institution, and the author of two of its tracts. His memoir, it is understood, will in due time be given to the public.

As the founders of this Society are rapidly passing away, it has been deemed proper at this period to record in the Society's Annual Report a few brief reminiscences of the events which led to its formation, and which have characterized its history.

QUARTER-CENTURY REMINISCENCES.*

The earliest Religious Tracts were the books of the Old and New Testaments; in which we have at once the divine sanction of the method of diffusing truth by the written or printed page, the appointment of the living ministry, and the source from which, under the teaching of the Spirit, it derives the instructions it is to convey.

Passing on to the invention of the art of printing about the year 1440, and the quickly succeeding era of the great Reformation, we find the reformers adding to the power of the living voice that of the press, especially in the issuing of short tracts adapted to existing emergencies, and wielding it with an energy that shook the papal throne, and wrung from the adherents of a dark and cruel superstition the complaint, "The gospellers of these days do fill the realm with so many of their noisome little books, that they be like to the swarms of locusts which did infest the land of Egypt."

Again, in the latter part of the last century, when, in the holy providence of God, relentless and bloody persecutions had almost extinguished the Reformation in southern Europe, and the infidels of France agitated the civilized world in their efforts to hunt the hated religion from the earth, we find them perverting the weapons used by the reformers, by turning them at once against popery and vital godliness, and spreading their blasphemous and licentious tracts, even in "dittys, songs, and ballads," wherever the name of Christ was known.

It was in the terror then felt by all enlightened Christians, from the discovery that the poison was working among the masses and threatening desolation, that modern Religious Tract Societies took their rise. Mrs. HANNAH MORE, about the year 1792, issuing one tract in weakness and fear, found that God had given her power over the masses of men; and for three years she consecrated her noble energies, with such aid as she could command, in issuing the monthly series of "Cheap Repository Tracts," which gained a circulation of several millions. The success of this series of tracts, and the desire to give the world publications somewhat more strictly and palpably doctrinal and religious than accorded with the object of the Cheap Repository, and at the same time to secure system and permanency of action, led the Rev. George Burder, May 8, 1799, after a missionary sermon in the chapel of the Rev. Rowland Hill, London, to invite a meeting to form a society for printing and distributing religious tracts. That meeting adjourned till the next morning, when "THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY" was formed, which has been the mother of all kindred societies throughout the world. Through its means the British and Foreign Bible Society was also formed. In December, 1802, the Rev. Thomas Charles, of Bala, in Wales, visited London, and brought before the Tract Committee the necessity of issuing Bibles, and "in its minute-books are recorded the first suggestion and all the subsequent steps in which that noble institution originated;" the Rev. Joseph Hughes, Secretary of the Tract Society, became Secretary of the Bible Society; and nine other members of the Tract Society were elected on the Bible Committee.

As early as 1806, "the Religious Tract Society" having issued three or four millions of tracts, including a cheap narrative series with cuts, adapted "to counteract the influence which a flood of infidel and other vile publications was exerting upon the lower classes," gave attention to "the formation of Tract Societies in foreign countries." In the preceding year, the Rev. Drs. Paterson and Henderson, forbidden to go to India by the East India Company, went to Denmark for liberty to station themselves at Serampore. This being denied, they had the "Great Question Answered" translated into Danish, gave a copy in the royal garden at Copenhagen, to a young Moravian, and this led to the extensive Tract and Bible operations in the north of Europe, which by the coöperation of the Rev. Drs. Pinkerton and Steinkopff and others, aided by liberal grants of funds from the Committee in London, were extended over Protestant Europe; 30 tracts and 38,000 copies having been published in Russia in 1815, under the patronage of princess Metstchersky. In 1814 the efforts of the Society were directed to India and China, since which they have been vigorously extended to every accessible country throughout the world.

In 1819, the Society commenced the issuing of books for Children, illustrated with attractive engravings, and it has now on the children's list about 1,700 publications, of which it circulates annually about 4,000,000 copies.

About the year 1822, the issuing of standard practical evangelical volumes was commenced with Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, the number of such volumes on the Society's list being now not far from 500; and the whole number of tracts and books, large and small, adapted to all classes of minds, which the Society have issued, embracing a variety of 4,925 distinct publications. The circulation, in the Society's fiftieth year, amounted to 18,223,955 copies; making in fifty years about 500,000,000 tracts and books circulated, in 110 languages and dialects. The Society's total receipts in fifty years have been about 1,200,000 pounds sterling, of which about 145,000 pounds have been in donations, or free contributions; and the total amount expended in its gratuitous operations is about 151,000 pounds. See pages 115, 116. Also Proceedings First Twenty Years, and Jubilee Memorial, of the Religious Tract Society in London.

IN THE UNITED STATES, as in Europe, both before and after the formation of the Religious Tract Society in London, intelligent and pious individuals issued and circulated, either at their own expense or assisted by donations from others, many evangelical tracts, and such books as the Rise and Progress, Saints' Rest, and Christian's Great Interest, among whom were the Rev. Dr. John Stanford, who printed tracts in London in 1780, and on coming to New York issued tracts in that city; Rev. Dr. Alexander Proudfit, of Salem, N. Y., who wrote a number of tracts and volumes, and circulated books widely in the new settlements, with the aid of Gen. Stephen Van Rensselaer, of Albany, and others; and friends who issued tracts in Philadelphia. Records of the Rev. Dr. Jedidiah Morse, of Charlestown, near Boston, Mass., show that, in the fall of 1802, he printed editions of 19 tracts amounting to 32,806 copies, which were chiefly distributed in parcels of about 60 each, through missionaries, among the new settlers in Maine, Kentucky, and Tennessee. To Maine alone he sent, in the fall of that year, 170 parcels, directed to 85 different townships. He also printed volumes, receiving donations from friends to assist in bearing the expense, and having a large room occupied as a depository. The Rev. Dr. David Tappan, evangelical professor of divinity in Harvard college, was engaged about the same time in issuing and circulating tracts. Among the young men whom he invited to buy parcels of tracts for their own reading and distribution, was Mr. Henry Homes, the late benevolent merchant and active friend of the Tract cause in Boston, who paid a dollar and received tracts, one of which, the Shepherd of Salisbury Plain, he regarded as the means of his conversion. Other young men became interested, and among them a young printer, Mr. Ensign Lincoln, who printed tracts gratuitously, his associates paying for the paper, and who became a pillar in the "Evangelical Tract Society," afterwards formed in Boston.

The following publishing societies were formed in different parts of the country, besides many others organized for tract distribution.

In September, 1803, partly through the influence of Rev. Dr. Tappan above named, and of Lieut. Governor Samuel Phillips, who gave £1,000, "five-sixths of the interest of which to be expended in the distribution of pious books in Andover, his native town," and £3,000 for "a more general distribution of like pious books," both of whom died that year; the "Massachusetts Society for promoting Christian Knowledge," chiefly by circulating pious books, was founded by the Rev. Dr. Morse, Rev. Dr. Abiel Holmes, of Cambridge, and others, who contributed $1,165 at its formation. For many successive years, Rev. Dr. Eliphalet Pearson was President, Dr. Morse Secretary, and Dr. Holmes Clerk. It circulated in 1804, 6,253 tracts; in 1806, 9,174; and in 1815, had printed 8,224 books and 30,350 tracts.

In 1807, a "Connecticut Religious Tract Society" was formed at New Haven, of which Rev. Dr. Dwight was President, and Jeremiah Evarts, Esq., Secretary, which published a series of 26 tracts, and circulated about 100,000 copies.

In 1808, a "Vermont Religious Tract Society" was formed under the direction of the trustees of the Vermont Missionary Society, which issued a number of tracts at Middlebury.

In 1810, the "Protestant Episcopal Tract Society" was formed in New York, Bishop Hobart, ex officio, President, and in five years had published 13 tracts.

In 1812, the "New York Religious Tract Society" was organized, and in 1814 the "New England Tract Society" at Boston, whose proceedings, and their agency in forming the American Tract Society at New York, are noticed below.

In 1813, the "Evangelical Tract Society" was formed in Boston, which in 1824 had issued a series of 31 tracts, and 466,000 copies; Messrs. Lincoln and Edmands, agents. The "Albany Religious Tract Society," formed the same year, had in 1824 printed 277,000 tracts, when it committed its funds to the "New York State Tract Society," then organized in that city.

In 1815, the "Religious Tract Society of Philadelphia" was formed, and issued in five years 795,000 tracts, when it "transferred the printing, publishing, and sale of tracts to the board of managers of the Philadelphia Sunday and Adult School Union," formed in 1817, which, in 1821 to 1824, published 429,000 tracts, and in 1824 "transferred its funds, books, and other property to the American Sunday-school Union," organized at that period.

In 1816, the "Religious Tract Society of Baltimore" was constituted, and in 1824 had a series of 62 English and three German tracts, and had issued 330,413 copies. Rev. William Nevins, D. D., President; Mr. Samuel Young, Secretary.

In January, 1816, the "Hartford Evangelical Tract Society," Connecticut, was formed, and in 1824 had published a series of 57 tracts, and 376,237 copies. Rev. Joel Hawes, President; Mr. Charles Hosmer, Secretary. The "Episcopal Prayer-Book and Tract Society for the Eastern Diocese," formed in Boston in 1816, published several tracts.

In 1817, the "New York Methodist Tract Society" was formed, and in 1823 had published 43 tracts in English, and four in French. Rev. N. Bangs, D. D., President; Rev. T. Mason, Secretary. The "Protestant Episcopal Female Tract Society of Baltimore," formed in 1817, had issued in 1823 a series of 44 tracts. The "Newark Religious Tract Society, New Jersey," formed in 1817, published a few numbers of tracts.

In 1819, the "Western Navigation Bible and Tract Society of Cincinnati" was formed, and in 1823 had printed a series of 54 tracts, amounting to 700,000 pages. Rev. Elijah Slack, President; Samuel Johnston, Secretary.

In February, 1824, the "Baptist General Tract Society" was organized at Washington, D. C., since merged into the Baptist Board of Publication at Philadelphia; and the same month the "New York State Tract Society" was formed at Albany, N. Y., and entered on the publication of tracts, issuing also a monthly New York Tract Magazine. Hon. Stephen Van Rensselaer, President; Mr. Ebenezer Watson, Secretary.

THE NEW YORK RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY.

The first brief report of this Society, February, 1813, signed by the Rev. Dr. Alexander M'Leod, Corresponding Secretary, states that it was formed twelve months before, and that in April, 1812, it "purchased from the former Tract Society the remainder of their stock on hand," consisting of 7,986 copies of Nos. 1 to 11, which numbers were continued as the first of the series of the New York Religious Tract Society. The second report, of three small pages, has no signature. The next six reports, each embodying interesting facts in an appendix, and extending from forty to seventy-two pages, are signed by Zechariah Lewis, Esq.; the ninth, tenth, and eleventh, by Mr. John R. Hurd; the twelfth, and the thirteenth and last, for 1825, by Dr. James C. Bliss, the three Corresponding Secretaries of the Society during those eleven years. In the second year, "The Larger Catechism, with Scriptural Proofs," was published, but does not appear on the Society's lists of publications. In the sixth year, a series of tracts was commenced both in French and in Spanish. In the tenth year, the "Female Branch" of this Society was organized, Mrs. Divie Bethune presiding; Mrs. Samuel Boyd and Mrs. John Nitchie, Directresses; Mrs. Arthur Tappan, Treasurer; and Mrs. Holt, Secretary—a society which is now an efficient branch of the New York City Tract Society. In the last year of the New York Religious Tract Society, five series of children's tracts, in all 75 numbers, were issued chiefly under the care of Dr. Bliss, Secretary, most of them from the Religious Tract Society in London, and a large part of them are still continued in the children's series of the American Tract Society. The last Report, for 1825, gives a list of 192 tracts in the principal English series, 15 French, 10 Spanish, and 75 Children's Tracts. During the year, 754,950 copies were printed, being 500,450 more than in any former year, making the whole number of copies published by the Society in the thirteen years of its existence, 2,316,694. Total receipts of the year for sales and donations, $5,537 66. This Society had a number of auxiliaries, among which, that at Utica, the Female Auxiliary at Brooklyn, the "Providence Female Tract Society," R. I., and the "Georgia Religious Tract Society" at Augusta, were reported in 1816; Female Auxiliary, Raleigh, N. C., and Religious Tract Society at Savannah, in 1817; Young Men's at Troy, N. Y., and Female Juvenile in New York city, in 1818; and the Female Auxiliary, Lexington, Ky., in 1821.

THE NEW ENGLAND, NOW AMERICAN, TRACT SOCIETY AT BOSTON.

The origin of this Society may be traced to a little meeting of the professors of the Theological Seminary at Andover, with the Rev. Dr. Justin Edwards and two or three of their associates, accustomed to confer upon the interests of the Redeemer's kingdom, held about the beginning of the year 1814. The high price of a small religious book had suggested to one of them, the Rev. Dr. Ebenezer Porter, the thought that a few choice tracts, printed in large editions, might be afforded to benevolent individuals in the neighborhood at a much less expense than the little books which they were frequently purchasing for gratuitous distribution. The idea was suggested to his brethren, and excited so much interest as to be made the subject of serious consideration, which soon led to a proposition for forming a small Tract Society. In a few days the constitution, afterwards adopted by the New England Society, was agreed upon, defining its object to be "to promote the interests of vital godliness and good morals by the distribution of such tracts as shall be calculated to receive the approbation of serious Christians of all denominations;" and a subscription was opened, giving each member the privilege of receiving back three-fourths of the amount of his subscription in tracts at cost, for his own distribution. The plan was communicated to numerous friends in Boston, Salem, Newburyport, and adjacent towns, and the sum of $3,830 was in a short time contributed. The first tract, containing addresses recommending the distribution of religious tracts and testimonies to their usefulness, was issued; and such was the blessing of God on their efforts, that though bound together by scarcely any thing but Christian affection, in less than three months previous to the organization of the Society in Boston, May 23, 1814, fifty tracts were printed at Andover by Messrs. Flagg & Gould, making two bound volumes of three hundred pages each, amounting to 297,000 copies.

From October, 1819, the Rev. Louis Dwight labored one year as agent for this Society chiefly in obtaining funds, raising $400 in Andover, $1,200 in Boston, $600 in Salem and Newburyport; more than one hundred persons during his agency being constituted life members, of whom seventy-eight were ministers of the gospel. For the year 1821 the Society issued "The Christian Almanac," prepared by Rev. Dr. Rufus Anderson, then of the Andover Seminary, of which the present Illustrated Family Christian Almanac is a continuation. On the 26th of September, 1822, Rev. William A. Hallock, who had graduated at the seminary the previous day, commenced an agency for the Society, and has continued his services for the Tract cause till the present time. In June, 1823, the name of the Society was changed by the Legislature of Massachusetts from the "New England" to the "American" Tract Society. In the year ending May 1, 1824, the Society commenced stereotyping its tracts, inserting cuts in some of them, trimming the edges, and using an improved quality of paper, the style in which most tracts were then issued being greatly inferior to that of the present time. They also issued the "Proceedings of the First Ten Years of the Society," with a brief view of tract operations throughout the world; and in June, 1824, commenced the American Tract Magazine, which one year after was transferred to New York, and was continued till December, 1842, when it was merged in the American Messenger. In June, 1824, the Society had 205 auxiliaries, chiefly in New England, and 122 depositories, formed in the principal cities and towns of the United States, in which the publications were owned by the Society, and sold on commission, at a very heavy outlay and draft upon the Society's funds. The principal series of tracts comprised 172 numbers, besides twelve children's tracts. The sixth and seventh reports were written by Rev. Dr. Edwards, the eighth by Rev. Dr. Church, the ninth, tenth, and eleventh, by Rev. Mr. Hallock.

UNION IN THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY, FORMED AT NEW YORK, 1825.

The New York Religious Tract Society, located in the commercial emporium, and with men of enterprise and liberality among her managers, in the year 1824 was contemplating the speedy organization of a national or general Society, with impressions favorable to its location in that city.

The American Tract Society at Boston had already the name of such a Society, her issues were larger than those of all other publishing societies in the country united, and her 122 depositories were located in the principal towns throughout the Union, 26 being in the state of New York, and 43 farther south and west. At the same time her location in an inland town—twenty miles from Boston—occasioned embarrassment in her mechanical and mercantile operations; rendered transportation and communication with the different parts of the country difficult and expensive; and almost forbade the full union of evangelical Christian denominations, for which the spirit of her constitution provided. It was plain that, as a society for the whole country, her location must be in New York or Boston, and there were important considerations in favor of each of the two cities.

In this state of things, on December 1, 1824, the Board of the New York Religious Tract Society, through a committee consisting of Rev. Charles G. Sommers, Mr. Arthur Tappan, and Dr. James C. Bliss, addressed a letter to the Secretary at Andover, proposing a removal to New York. The subject awakened in the Committee, officers, and friends at Andover the most anxious solicitude; the Society held a special meeting on the subject in Boston, January 11, with no definite result, but referring the subject to their Executive Committee, who proposed to the Society in New York to become a branch of the then existing "American Tract Society." At length, early in February, it was agreed that their Assistant Secretary should visit New York, where he found the deepest interest existing in reference to the new organization. Almost daily meetings for consultation and prayer were held at the house of Dr. Bliss, then at the corner of Broad and Garden streets, in which Messrs. Arthur Tappan, Moses Allen, Richard T. Haines, and Marcus Wilbur largely participated, and interviews were held with other officers of the New York Society, and distinguished clergymen. The necessity of a house amply to accommodate the new Society was agreed upon, and Mr. Arthur Tappan offered $5,000 for that object, Mr. Allen $3,000, and Mr. Haines and Mr. W. W. Chester $1,000 each; in consultation with these gentlemen, Rev. Mr. Sommers, Rev. Dr. James Milnor, then just recovering from a most threatening sickness, Rev. Dr. Gardiner Spring, Mr. Sidney E. Morse, and others, a constitution was formed; and a public meeting was held in the City Hotel, March 11, 1825, as preliminary to the organization of a national Society; Col. Richard Varick presiding; Rev. William A. Hallock Secretary; statement of the negotiations with the Society at Boston, by Zechariah Lewis, Esq.; and resolutions offered by Rev. Dr. Thomas M'Auley, Rev. Dr. Spring, Rev. Mr. Sommers, Thomas Fessenden, Esq., and Mr. Arthur Tappan. The subscription for a house was at this meeting raised to $12,500, and soon afterwards increased to upwards of $20,000, and by a subsequent effort to $25,852 95.

Letters were immediately addressed to the principal Tract Societies of the United States, inviting delegates to a convention, which was held, May 10, in the Consistory Room, corner of Nassau and Ann streets, Rev. James Milnor, D. D., presiding; Rev. Dr. Howard Malcom, Secretary; when the proposed Constitution was amended and adopted. On the following day the Society was solemnly organized; S. V. S. Wilder, Esq., first President, in the chair, supported by Rev. Dr. Milnor, Col. Varick, and Gen. Stephen Van Rensselaer; prayer by Rev. Archibald Maclay, and addresses by Rev. Dr. Thomas De Witt of the Reformed Dutch church, Rev. Eustace Carey, missionary from Calcutta, Rev. Dr. Alexander Proudfit of the Scotch Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Howard Malcom of the Baptist church, and Rev. John Summerfield of the Methodist Episcopal. From the City Hotel the meeting proceeded to the site of the present building, where the corner-stone was laid by the President, with prayer by Rev. Jesse Fonda and Rev. Dr. Fay.

The six members of the Publishing Committee then elected, were appointed a delegation to attend the anniversary of the American Tract Society at Boston, on the 25th of the same month, and invite their coöperation. The Rev. Mr. Summerfield being confined by sickness, from which he never recovered, Rev. Dr. Knox otherwise detained, and Rev. Dr. Edwards a member both of the Publishing Committee and of the Committee at Boston, the three remaining members performed the duty assigned them, and presented, from the pen of Rev. Dr. Milnor, the following REPORT.

"The delegation appointed by the Executive Committee of the American Tract Society, to represent that body at the annual meeting of the Society of the same name at Boston, and to confer with them on the subject of a union, respectfully report:

"That two of their number, the Rev. Dr. Knox and the Rev. Mr. Summerfield, were prevented, the former by indispensable duties, and the latter by severe indisposition, from proceeding to Boston. The other members of the delegation arrived at that place on Tuesday evening, the 24th instant. On the following day, preparatory conferences were held with the members of the Executive Committee of the Boston Society. In the evening of the same day, the delegation attended a meeting of the Society itself, for the reading of the Annual Report, the delivery of addresses, etc., in the Old South church, and on the urgent request of the Committee of Arrangements, took part in the exercises. On the following day the Society's meeting of business was held, when the important question of its union with the national institution was fully discussed, and the delegation being privileged to sit with the Society, and share in its deliberations, communicated whatever information circumstances required in relation to the past proceedings of the Society in this place, the negotiations between the Executive Committee of the two Societies, and their own views of the most eligible prospective measures. The delegation are happy in bearing their testimony to the truly Christian temper with which a protracted and very interested discussion was conducted, and to the marked respect and kindness with which their own communications were received. It will not appear extraordinary, that some considerable variety of sentiment should for a time have obtained, and that several members of the Boston Society, to whom the subject of a union with the national institution was new, should hesitate in acceding to the propriety of the measure, or differ in opinion as to the time and manner in which it should be accomplished. But the result of a candid and free intercommunication of sentiment, and a full consideration of the reasons urged for a generous and prompt accession to the wishes of the Executive Committee of the Society, was such as might have been anticipated from the characters of the esteemed individuals to whom the decision of the question belonged. Without a dissenting vote the Boston Society agreed to become a branch of this, and authorized their Executive Committee to take the necessary steps for a consummation of the union. In the afternoon of the same day, the delegation attended by invitation the meetings of that committee, and after uniting in prayer for wisdom from above, the terms of union were adjusted in detail in so satisfactory a manner, as to induce the delegation to communicate a written expression of their approbation to the committee, and to lead them to expect that a formal document of the same kind, if desired, would be transmitted from their constituents. The delegation have great pleasure in stating that the esteemed President of this Society was their associate on all the occasions above mentioned, and that they derived great encouragement and advantage from his presence and advice. They have also great reason to express their gratitude to the brethren in Boston for their kind and affectionate reception and treatment, and to the Executive Committee in particular, for the promptness and facility with which they proceeded in carrying into effect a measure of such vital importance to the great object of both Societies as that which, under the blessing of God, was so soon and so harmoniously accomplished. It would be a criminal ingratitude to the great Being, who rules in the hearts and guides the affairs of men, if the delegation were to omit the declaration of their persuasion that the deliberations were conducted under the influence of his Spirit, and that to him belongs the honor of their propitious termination. Let us receive it as a pledge of his approbation of our work, and conduct all our future operations with a single eye to his glory.

 “GARDINER SPRING,
 “CHARLES G. SOMMERS.”

“NEW YORK, May 30, 1825.”

The Executive Committee of the American Tract Society at Boston about the same time presented to the Christian public their own view of the union thus happily consummated, in the following STATEMENT.

It is well known to the public that a correspondence was opened, during the last winter, between members of the Tract Society in New York and the Executive Committee of this Society, in reference to the establishment of a national institution in that city, and the more extensive diffusion of religious tracts through America. It would be wholly superfluous to give the friends of the Tract Society a particular account of that correspondence, or of the various subjects which it brought under consideration. It is sufficient to say, that our Committee did all in their power to obtain necessary information respecting the proposed union between our Society and that in New York, but did not deem it proper to enter into any engagements, choosing to refer the whole subject to the decision of the Society. The measures which have been adopted in New York, so honorable to the Christian zeal and liberality of gentlemen in that city, and so auspicious to the cause which the American Tract Society has long labored to promote, have been laid before the public. The national institution which has been established, and for which the sum of $20,000 has been contributed before the commencement of its operations, sent a delegation to the American Tract Society, which held its annual meeting in Boston on the day of our general election. The members of the Society, then assembled, were far more numerous than at any previous meeting. The Society attended to the communications of the delegation from New York, consisting of the Rev. Doctors Milnor and Spring and Rev. Mr. Sommers, and also of their Executive Committee; and after a full discussion of the subject before them, unanimously passed the following resolution: namely,

"That it is highly desirable for this Society to become a branch of the national Society established in New York; and that the Executive Committee be authorized to consummate this union upon such principles as will promote the great objects of both Societies."

After the meeting of the Society, the Executive Committee, in connection with the delegation from New York, proceeded, in conformity with the above resolution, and with perfect unanimity in respect to every measure proposed, to consummate the union of this Society with the Society at New York.

The principles of this union will be reported in detail to the Society at their next meeting. It is sufficient now to say, that according to the plan mutually agreed upon, the American Society at New York will adopt our present series of tracts as the basis of theirs, subject to such alterations only as will fit them for circulation among the friends of evangelical truth of different denominations; and will supply all the tracts we receive of them for our depositories at as low a rate as we can publish them in New England. They have also chosen the former Corresponding Secretary of our Society to be a member of their Publishing Committee, and have given him full power to act with the other members of that Committee as to the additional tracts which shall be published by the national Society. The terms agreed upon respecting the Tract Magazine, the Christian Almanac, and all other subjects, are such as must be entirely satisfactory to both Societies.

From this brief statement, it will be apparent what reason we have not only to be satisfied, but to rejoice in what has been done. The American Tract Society, which has been in successful operation for so many years, and has taken such strong hold on the affections of the Christian community, retains its distinct organization, its constitution, its members, its funds, its officers, and its auxiliaries; and will, it is hoped, make increasing efforts, and have increasing success in promoting its great object, the dissemination of the most useful religious tracts. There will be no loss, but it is believed, great gain, as to the economy with which the great business of publishing tracts in America will be carried forward. There will be great gain also as to the extent to which religious tracts will be spread. The establishment of the institution in New York, with which our Society and other societies are to coöperate, will, it is hoped, contribute ultimately to a tenfold increase of the tracts annually disseminated; while the plan of union adopted secures the inestimable advantage of having the same series of tracts—and that series the best which can be prepared by the united labors of all concerned—disseminated through all parts of our country, and among different denominations of Christians. Who can tell how much will, in this way, be accomplished towards removing hurtful prejudices, and uniting all the friends of Christ in their affections and prayers, and in their endeavors to advance the prosperity of Zion? Amid the dissensions of past ages, such a coöperation of Christians of different names might have been found impracticable. But, blessed be God, a new era has arrived, and things once impossible have now become easy.

The union of different societies in their efforts to disseminate religious tracts will be likely to give a far greater impulse to the public mind in favor of this mode of doing good; and we trust the result will be, that a vastly greater amount of useful tracts will be spread through America, than would be done by the efforts of different societies acting separately.

On the whole, we think it will become more and more evident in future time, that all the friends of evangelical truth ought to regard the events above recited, as a new reason for gratitude to the King of Zion. And while we commit this blessed cause to his almighty protection, and indulge the most cheering confidence in his infinite mercy, and while with pious emotion we exclaim, what hath God wrought! we find ourselves urged by a thousand motives to go forward, with increasing ardor, in our endeavors to do good to the souls of men.

In behalf of the Executive Committee,

May 31, 1825.

LEONARD WOODS.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY, INSTITUTED IN
NEW YORK, 1825.

A list of the present officers of this Society will be found on page 2, and a list of the original donors of $20 and upwards to the Society's house, in the list of life directors and members, page 162. The following officers and members of the Executive Committee, elected during the twenty-five years of the Society's existence, have ceased to act.

Of the present officers of this Society, Rev. Dr. Milledoler was elected president, and Rev. Dr. Broadhead a manager of the New York Religious Tract Society, at its first anniversary in 1813; Rev. Dr. Knox was elected its president in 1819; and Rev. Mr. Sommers a vice-president, Dr. Bliss corresponding secretary, Mr. Moses Allen treasurer, and Mr. R. T. Haines a manager, in 1824; Rev. Dr. Woods and Rev. Dr. Edwards were founders of the American Tract Society at Boston in 1814, and Rev. Mr. Hallock its agent and assistant secretary from 1822; and these names embrace the only persons now acting as secretaries or members of the Executive Committee of the American Tract Society at New York, who were among its founders in 1825. The Rev. Dr. Milnor was chairman of the Executive and Publishing Committees for twenty years till his death, when he was succeeded by Rev. Dr. Knox; Mr. Stokes was chairman of the Distributing Committee till his death in 1832, and was succeeded by Dr. Bliss; Mr. Tappan was chairman of the Finance Committee till 1836, and Dr. Stearns from that period till his death in 1847, when he was succeeded by Mr. Haines. The original address of the Executive Committee, constituting Tract No. 1, was written by Rev. Dr. Spring.

In the first year of the Society, October, 1825, Rev. O. Eastman entered into its labors as a general agent for raising funds, especially in the principal cities and towns; in 1832 he was elected Financial Secretary, and in 1839 Corresponding Secretary.

In its second year, 1827, the Society adopted principles for applying foreign pecuniary grants, as recommended by the late Jeremiah Evarts, Esq., Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, and the following year sanctioned their first foreign appropriation.

In the third year, 1828, having stereotyped about three hundred tracts, "Dodridge's Rise and Progress" was stereotyped and perpetuated by a donation of $800 from Hon. Stephen Van Rensselaer, Col. Varick, Col. Rutgers, and Nicholas Brown, Esq. Thus commenced what has been called the Society's "volume circulation."

In the fourth year, the Publishing Committee, in a paragraph written by Dr. Milnor, declined the further examination of manuscripts written for premiums, which have been frequently offered by benevolent individuals with no draft on the Society's funds, both on account of the amount of labor required, and the delicacy of adjudicating among competitors; donors of premiums having since referred the examination to committees of their own selection.

From the fourth to the eighth year, 1829 to 1833, the attention of the Society was specially directed to the systematic distribution of tracts to all the accessible population of our country, connected with prayerful personal effort for the souls of men. To extend these efforts at the West, $3,350 was subscribed at a meeting of gentlemen in the Tract House in 1832, of which Mr. Arthur Tappan gave $1,000 to aid in supplying "every family at the West with at least two tracts." In 1833, twenty agents were in commission for the prosecution of these labors in different portions of the country. In these efforts Harlan Page, the Society's depository, exerted a happy influence till his death in 1834, (when he was succeeded by Mr. Ackley,) his labors and those of others having been previously blessed in a signal work of grace among those employed in sewing and folding in the Society's house; and this system of effort being still continued, with a special blessing.

In the eighth year, 1833, the Society's attention was more vigorously directed to foreign and pagan lands, the foreign pecuniary appropriations of that year, $10,000, having been increased to $20,000 in 1834; $30,000 in 1835, and $35,000 each year in 1836 and 1837.

In the ninth year, 1834, especially by the agency of the Rev. Dr. Wm. S. Plumer, who elicited an extensive correspondence from gentlemen at the South in favor of the object, and personally presented it to the Committee and the Society, the circulation of the Society's volumes was entered upon with increased energy, by a resolution at the anniversary in 1834 as far as practicable to supply the accessible families of the South, and a resolution in 1835 to extend the circulation over the whole country. In 1834, Mr. Seely Wood commenced a systematic effort for circulating the Society's volumes, especially by calling the attention of congregations to their value, and enlisting voluntary coöperation in the sales; he has continued the work, and is now superintending the labors of about 100 colporteurs at the West. In 1835, eleven volumes of the "Evangelical Family Library" were issued; and in 1836 upwards of $36,000 were raised for providing a stock of books for the depository. In 1837, the payment of a given sum as copy-right on every volume circulated was discontinued, as the circulation depended much on the efficiency of the Society's agents.

In the thirteenth year, 1838, Rev. R. S. Cook entered into the labors of the Society, as general agent for the circulation of the Society's volumes, especially in the large cities and towns, with great success, and in 1839 was elected Corresponding Secretary for the volume circulation and tract visitation, and to aid in preparing documents and the Society's periodical, which labors, in connection with the important department of Colportage, are still continued. In 1840, the "Christian Library," of 45 volumes, was issued, and in 1843, the "Youth's Library" of 40 volumes.

In the sixteenth year, May, 1841, when about 180,000 volumes had been circulated, the fact became apparent that few volumes comparatively had reached the abodes of the most needy and hitherto neglected population, and the responsibility was deeply felt of attempting to reach those destitute masses: laborers were sought; large grants of books were authorized; and thus, by the blessing of God, commenced "the Colporteur System" in this country, the full influence of which eternity only will reveal. In this year the Society was incorporated by the legislature of the state of New York.

In the seventeenth year, October, 1842, the Board and friends of the Society held a "public deliberative meeting" of three days, in the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, when the importance of the several departments of the Society's labors, especially Colportage and efforts for the foreign and emigrant population, and the claims of our own country and the world, were ably discussed. Efficient general agents were soon appointed for the principal portions of the country, and the Society received a new impulse. The proceedings of this deliberative meeting, embodying eleven valuable documents on different departments of the Society, constitute a useful volume. Those proceedings were also published as the first number of the "American Messenger," January, 1843, which paper took the place of the American Tract Magazine, and now visits about 160,000 families monthly, besides an edition of 12,000 in German.

The first fourteen Annual Reports to 1839, and the publishing and foreign departments of the remaining eleven were written by Rev. Mr. Hallock, who has attended every meeting of the Publishing Committee since the formation of the Society, and examined all its publications in English. The departments of colportage, volume circulation, and tract visitation, in the last eleven Reports, were written by Rev. Mr. Cook. Every Report, until 1841, contains several pages of facts showing the divine blessing on tracts and volumes, after which those cheering testimonies were mainly omitted, not to swell the document to an unreasonable size. Mr. Kingsbury, to whose care and accuracy in the financial department the Society is much indebted, commenced his efforts in the depository in 1827, and since 1834 has acted as Assistant Secretary and Treasurer. The Society's paper has been chiefly purchased throughout the twenty-five years under the direction of Mr. Haines.

These statistics of the Society's total receipts and grants for 25 years, in connection with the total payments shown by the Treasurer's reports, and an estimate of the stock and materials on hand, may furnish data for judging whether, at the Society's prices, the total receipts for sales have equalled or exceeded the total expenditures on account of sales. The total receipts above include $7,689 81 received from rents, which added to the donations, makes the

Total receipts as above, $2,771,038 22

The total PAYMENTS in 25 years, as by the Treasurer's reports, divided into five classes, have been, for paper, printing, binding, machinery, stereotyping, engraving, copy-right, and other expenses for manufacturing books, including small payments for writing, revising, and purchasing, $1,693,827 31

Foreign grants in cash, as above, (rec'd for foreign dis. $239,626 39,) 343,794 00

Labor of secretaries and assistants, depository, and clerks in the Tract House, (25 years, average $5,846 90 a year,) $146,172 51—total of these two classes of labor, (being less than twelve per cent. of the total receipts,) . . 320,774 15

The grants of publications, including those delivered to directors and members, have amounted, in 25 years as above, to 415,680,511 pages ; value, if estimated at one-fourth discount, $207,840 26.

The stock of publications in the depository and in the hands of about 350 colpor-teurs and others on sale, (for procuring which stock $42,668 03 of the donations received were specially designated,) amounts, if estimated at one-third discount, to $165,164 36 ; machinery, at three-fourths of the cost, $33,006 78 ; stereotype plates, 69,950 pages, estimated present value, $20,950 87 ; wood and steel engravings, esti-mated, $16,747 35 ; type, binding tools and fixtures, and all other materials in pos-session,* estimated, $7,000—total stock and materials now in use in the Society’s operations, $242,869 36.

ESTIMATED DIVISION OF THE TOTAL EXPENDITURE,

As either on account of sales, or for gratuities and stock and materials on hand.

The Society’s work is wholly benevolent, and what pertains to sales, and to gra-tuities is, in various departments, especially in colportage and other labors, so inher-ently blended as to admit of no distinct line of separation. The division of some of the items below is made according to the judgment of those most familiar with the Society’s operations ; and it will be perceived that if any item should be so divided as to give a larger amount expended either on account of sales or gratuities, another item must be equally diminished, else the total expenditure will not be accounted for.

Manufacturing books and materials as above, $1,693,827 31, (exceeding the total receipts for sales by $101,763 32.) From this sum			Expended on ac- count of sales.	Gratuity, or not on account of sales.

Depository, etc., as above, $120,142 98, three-fourths estimated as expended on account of sales, and one fourth as gratuity, etc.,		90,107 24		30,035 74
Labor of agents, secretaries, assistants, etc., as above, $320,774 15, about 58 per cent. on account of sales, and 42 per cent. as gratuity, etc., . . .		185,714 12		135,060 03
Total expenditure, equalling the total receipts for sales and in donations, as above, . . .	$1,592,063 99			$1,178,974 23

If the above estimates of grants, stock, and materials, and of the proportion of payments made on account of sales are correct, the total foreign grants in cash, the total grants of publications, the total stock and materials on hand, three-fourths of the amount paid for colportage, one-fourth of the expense for the depository and items above connected with it, and about forty-two per cent. of the payments for labor of agents, secretaries, and in the Tract House, have been provided for by donations to the Society, and the Society’s means have not been essentially increased or diminished by the total receipts and expenditures on account of sales. Liberally has God inclined the hearts of his people to sustain the labors of this Society, and great is its responsi-bility to employ its present facilities in the wide extension of the gospel of Christ.

* The Society’s house was provided by donations for that object, and rents of parts of the building not yet occupied by the Society form a sinking fund to pay the sum of $57,331 26 now due. There was also due April 1, for printing-paper, partly on hand, $41,133 26, neither of which items are em-braced in the above statements. See pp. 54 and 152, and Twenty-fourth Report, pp. 34-40.

PUBLISHING DEPARTMENT.

Besides these, 103 publications, including 11 volumes, have been sanctioned at foreign stations; making the whole number now sanctioned for publication abroad, 2,490, of which 207 are volumes.

In the revision of the German series of tracts, noticed in the last Report, the first nine numbers above-named have been substituted for tracts of less sterling worth or adaptation to the German mind. The series of 20 Children's Tracts in German has also been revised, three of them dropped, and sixteen reissued in an attractive style, with new engravings. All the Society's tracts in Spanish, Portuguese, and Italian have likewise been recently examined by a Christian gentleman acquainted with those languages; and with slight corrections, they are found to be substantially what the evangelical Christian would desire, and free from the religious and doctrinal errors with which those languages lamentably abound.

The MEMOIR OF THE REV. DR. MILNOR having been issued, to the number of 5,000 copies, in an elegant octavo edition, the respected author, Rev. Dr. Stone, yielded to a call from great numbers to give it a cheaper form for general circulation. Sundry passages, referring to Dr. Milnor's political and ecclesiastical relations, and other parts of the memoir which were of interest to a more limited circle, are omitted; but all that pertained to what may be called Dr. Milnor's interior and spiritual life, is retained; and so discreetly and judiciously has the abridgment been made, that all the prominent facts remain; and the Christian community will accord to the sentiment which the author has privately expressed, that "for general circulation, it is a better memoir than the large edition." The notice of the original work in the last Report is therefore equally applicable to the abridged edition. "There is a sprightliness, a charm in every page, and yet an honesty and truthfulness, as if the writer felt that the eye of God was upon him, and he had nothing to do but to relate just what Dr. Milnor was, and just what, by the grace of God, he became, and was enabled to do. The lover of chaste and refined enjoyment may feast on the character of Milnor. The youth aiming at distinction in professional or political life, has here a bright example. The theologian is warned of the ruin of trust in self and in dead forms. They also who would be useful in the church and the world, who would enjoy the sweets of domestic and social life, who would learn how to live and how to die, and to bequeath a precious and unfading memory, have here a bright pattern." An able theologian has well said, "The work as now published deserves the widest circulation, and will no doubt endure for many generations, as the record of a life eminently and most usefully devoted to the service of God. We presume there are few who knew the subject of this Memoir during his life, who do not remember him with veneration, as an example which ought to be held up to view for imitation. Seldom has there lived a servant of the Most High who employed his talents so faithfully, or consecrated them with so little reserve to his Master's service. His life was one of cheerful labor for the glory of God and the good of man, knowing no end but with life itself."

"CHRIST KNOCKING AT THE DOOR of Sinners' Hearts, or a solemn Entreaty to receive the Saviour and his Gospel in this the day of Mercy," by Flavel, will be welcomed as a companion of his "Fountain of Life, or Christ in his essential and mediatorial glory," and his "Method of Grace, or the Holy Spirit's applying to the souls of men the eternal Redemption contrived by the Father, and accomplished by the Son," the "Knocking at the Door" being an overwhelming practical application of the whole subject. The successive discourses are founded on the successive words and phrases of the Saviour's appeal, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me:" the words furnishing themes to the author's powerful and fervid mind, endued as if with "an unction from the Holy One," for all of argument, entreaty, and motive necessary to melt the hardest heart and bring the most reluctant to accept the mercy offered. This admirable treatise appeared originally under the title of "England's Duty," and consisted of twelve sermons, preached, under the rich effusions of the Spirit, to the author's congregation in the years 1688-9, about two years before his death—on the restoration of religious freedom through the revolution that virtually annulled the Act of Uniformity, by which the author had been for twenty-five years restrained from the free and public exercise of his ministry. In this edition the treatise has been arranged in the form of chapters; and while considerable liberty has been taken with the language—in changing obscure phraseology, substituting modern for obsolete words, and omitting repetitious passages, the spirit of the writer and his views of Christian doctrine have been carefully preserved, and every scriptural quotation has been verified. A new title has likewise been adopted, more significant of the subject matter of the work. It is believed that in its present form it will be esteemed a worthy companion to those already named, and under the divine blessing add greatly to the usefulness of the estimable author.

BAXTER'S REFORMED PASTOR has been long known and cherished by ministers of the various evangelical denominations, as among the most inspiring, solemn, and glowing works ever written on the duties and responsibilities of their office. Many of them have found its perusal affecting their own souls and their ministrations, much as they might suppose the coal flaming from God's own altars did the lips of the prophet. And although more immediately addressed to pastors, the lessons of the volume may, in their measure, be applied to all Christians upon whom God has bestowed the opportunity and means of influencing others. This work has been chiefly circulated in various abridged editions, in reference to which Orme, in his Life and Times of Baxter, says, "A much improved revision and abridgment of the work by the Rev. Dr. Brown of Edinburgh, with an admirable introductory essay by the Rev. Daniel Wilson, (now bishop of Calcutta,) has been recently published by Collins of Glasgow. Both the abridgment and the essay are in all respects worthy of Baxter, and deserving of the widest diffusion." The present edition has been revised and somewhat abridged from that of Dr. Brown. Some passages which derived their meaning from the peculiar state of the church in which Baxter labored have been omitted, and some which were applicable only to Great Britain and the times when the author lived have been modified, while their spirit has been carefully preserved. Quotations in foreign languages have been translated, or where the sense allowed, altogether dropped; and where, as in two or three instances, there has been an omission of a few lines containing incidental allusions to points in controversy between evangelical denominations, the fact is indicated by asterisks which supply their place. It should be further stated, that an aged friend, who desires to withhold his name, has contributed the sum of five hundred dollars to stereotype and perpetuate this work.

The THREE TREATISES ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE, which are issued in one volume, and also separately, were called forth by a premium of $250, increased to $400, given by a benevolent gentleman who desires that the benefits he has derived from adopting what he considers as clearly the scriptural system, may be extended to all Christians, to the church, and to a world lying in sin.

The DIVINE LAW OF BENEFICENCE, by Rev. Mr. Cooke, is a discussion which comes home to the heart of every Christian. It first presents the believer's sanctification and growth in grace as the great design of God in requiring beneficence ; then the divine law of charity as inculcated in the Old Testament, in the New Testament, as exemplified by the first Christians, and more particularly as enjoined by the apostle on the Galatian and Corinthian churches, " Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him," with the reasons or motives for complying with the spirit of this law in determining beforehand on a proportion of income to be statedly set apart as God shall prosper us.

ZACCHEUS, OR THE SCRIPTURAL PLAN, by Rev. Mr. Harris, is an eloquent enforcement of the system, showing the plan prescribed in the Bible, the principles which should guide in reducing it to practice, and its relations to true piety ; the superior efficiency of the scriptural system in providing funds for benevolent objects ; its tendency to secure the divine blessing on business, and thus enlarge the means of giving ; its efficacy as an antidote to covetousness ; its necessity to the highest spiritual attainments ; and its influence in increasing the spiritual power of the church, and promoting the happiness of the donor.

THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH, by Rev. Mr. Lawrence, is a somewhat larger and fuller discussion than either of the preceding, viewing the subject in its wider relations and bearings. It considers the spirit or elementary principle of benevolence as intelligent, diffusive, self-denying, a spirit of grateful love, and of prayer ; then surveys the earth's desolations by sin, at home and abroad, finds in the gospel the only remedy, and in the church abundant resources ; and then draws from the sacred oracles the divine method and claims, and shows the advantages of system, and of stated contributions proportioned to income.

The subject of these treatises is one of great prominence in the word of God, and vitally connected with the spiritual welfare of individual Christians, of the church of Christ, and a perishing world. They are the result of a careful and prayerful study of the Scriptures, and happily of an extensive Christian experience. Every Christian, even the soundest divines, will probably find new light here thrown upon the subject, and bless God for these simple and practical exhibitions of his revealed will, and of the rich spiritual blessings he has connected with a faithful performance of it. The great principle involved is, determining beforehand on a proportion of income to be statedly set apart " as God shall prosper us : " not postponing our gifts till money is acquired, to harden the heart and " choke the word ; " but like Jacob at Bethel, consecrating beforehand a portion " of all that God shall give me," unto him. Thus all our labor is for God, the heart is kept warm, a blessing descends on ourselves and others, and incalculable good is the result. Appended to the volumes are four pages of illustrations of the system, as adopted by Christians in different conditions of life, accompanied by a recommendation of the following

PLEDGE, OR COVENANT.—Believing that system in alms-giving is needed by the church; that it accords with the teachings of Scripture, tends to growth in grace, and is pleasing to God; I engage that I will, either in writing or otherwise, determine on some proportion or percentage of the income God in his providence shall give me, which I will, on the first day of every week or month, or at such other stated periods as I shall designate, sacredly set apart as a fund for charity, either in money or other materials, or by entering it on a benevolent account, to be disbursed by me from time to time, according as the various objects of benevolence shall seem to require.

The MEMOIR OF CHARLES H. PORTER breathes eminently the spirit of James Brainerd Taylor and Harlan Page. Few illustrations have been afforded of so brilliant a Christian life in youth. He gave up his prospects of success as a merchant in New York for the ministry; and in all his course, in the academy, the college, the theological seminary, and in his vacations, his life was a stream of spiritual light. His labors to win souls to Christ were unceasing, arduous, well-directed; and very many will shine in the Redeemer's crown, who were brought there through his fidelity during his period of preparation for the ministry, which the sudden termination of his life while a member of the Seminary at New Haven, forbade him ever to enter. All the young, and more particularly those preparing for public life, have here a bright example.

FLETCHER'S LECTURES TO CHILDREN, in two volumes, are selected and revised from the London edition of three somewhat larger volumes, more than half of the discourses being founded on scripture narratives, and the work thus really embodying a valuable sketch of scripture history and biography. The author felt a deep interest in the religious instruction of children, to whom he preached for a long course of years, and they gathered around him in throngs, sometimes to the number of four thousand in one assembly; and the children of this country are now presented with the best of his discourses, rendered attractive by neat engravings. So much were the author's labors blessed to the young, that it is stated, that on his spending a night with the celebrated Dr. Chalmers in Scotland, the doctor told him he had a daughter who was serious, but that he found in himself a want of adaptation to the minds of the young, and he begged Mr. Fletcher to spend an hour in conversing with her, which hour he, her father, would employ in secret supplication to God for a blessing. The interview was held, and through the grace of a prayer-hearing God, the doctor ere long welcomed his daughter to the church as a humble believer in Christ.

The two little works on FAITH and REPENTANCE, by Rev. Dr. Walker, are happily adapted to explain these cardinal Christian graces to the understanding of the young. The style is simple, and the subjects are chiefly presented in the form of narrative, especially in those great scripture illustrations speaking to all men, the history of Abel, Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Moses, Daniel, David, Peter, and the Prodigal Son.

“BOGATZKY’S GOLDEN TREASURY for the Children of God whose Treasure is in Heaven, consisting of devotional and practical observations on select passages of Scripture for every day in the year,” is well known and loved by spiritual Christians. On the death of Mrs. Harriet L. Winslow, missionary in Ceylon, this daily assistant of her devotions was found marked with the birthdays of many whom she made the subject of her prayers. The present pocket edition was stereotyped by a literary author, who received it from a pious grandmother, and determined that “if he could not write such a book, he would print it from the profits of what he could write.”

THE EXPLANATION OF THE TEN COMMANDMENTS was originally published by Dr. Scott in a separate treatise, and somewhat improved in the notes in his Commentary, from which this work is taken. So rich and instructive an explanation of this summary of the divine law is perhaps nowhere else to be found in so small a compass.

BISHOP PORTEUS’ EVIDENCES, FOR THE YOUNG, are written with his well-known simplicity and clearness of thought and style, and conclusiveness of reasoning; establishing twelve foundation principles or facts, on which the structure of Christianity immovably rests.

D’AUBIGNE’S HISTORY IN GERMAN, volumes 1 and 2, is a rich boon to the Germans of our country, the present edition having the sanction of the esteemed author, and being stereotyped by the liberality of a Christian friend. With all the interest of Germans in their fatherland and in Luther, this great evangelical, spiritual work is adapted, beyond almost any other, to give them light as to the vitality of Christianity, so obscured by superstition, neology, and dead forms in the country from which they came. The Germans too are almost universally readers, and about forty-five colporteurs are now faithfully laboring among them, calling their attention to the Society’s volumes, and to the only way of salvation by faith in a crucified Redeemer.

DR. BARTH’S CHURCH HISTORY in German is a pleasing work, which has been widely circulated in Germany, and translated into English by the Religious Tract Society in London.

The MEMOIR OF MARTIN BOOS, abridged from a large Life by Gossner, who is one of the ablest evangelical writers now in Germany, is a remarkable illustration of the power of the simple religion of Christ in a pastor nominally in the church of Rome, in Upper Austria, who preached the gospel with power to thousands, till he was driven away by papal persecution. Very few works present so clearly what is the distinction between popery in its fairest pretensions, and that religion of the heart and renewing by the Holy Spirit which allies the soul to Christ in a living vital union. This Memoir has also been published in English by the Tract Society in London.

JOHN GEORGE KOCH was a humble man, converted from a life of sin to be a burning and shining light. Gossner's treatise on the SABBATH inculcates the true sanctification of the day; and his KNOCKING AT THE DOOR presents the Saviour's invitations to men, in whatever state of mind or stages of religious experience, to receive him into their hearts in his fulness. Willcox's CHOICE DROP OF HONEY is well known, and the same as the Society's tract No. 227, Christ is All. FABRICIUS was an able minister of Christ near Elberfeld, who boldly resisted the prevalent formalism, and died in 1670; and Franke's RULES OF LIFE inculcate self-examination, prayer, and searching the Scriptures, with other moral and religious duties.

The ILLUSTRATED FAMILY CHRISTIAN ALMANAC for 1850 was prepared by Rev. Tryon Edwards, D. D., of New London, Conn., comprising a condensation of statistical, useful, and evangelical matter, and illustrated with eleven historical and instructive engravings, prepared under the direction of the late accomplished artist, Mr. Robert Roberts, and the number of copies printed was increased to 320,000, comprising 20,480,000 pages. The beautiful illustrations of this Almanac, while they improve the taste of the young, give them a body of information worth far more than its cost. It contains nothing which the Christian parent would not wish to have daily in the hands of his children, and it is hoped that in future years it may reach a still larger number of families. "It is indeed a gem," says one of our journals, "both in beauty and value. Its elegant cuts would be an ornament to any work whatever; its statistics, prepared with great care, extend to almost every department, and its selections of reading matter are made with such admirable taste and judgment, that we are not surprised at the immense circulation the work has attained. We commend this excellent little work to every family in the land."

The AMERICAN MESSENGER, the Society's monthly newspaper, has reached a circulation of 160,000; the whole number of copies circulated during the year amounting to 1,797,000, every one of which has borne to the families it visits not only intelligence of the Society's labors, especially in supplying the destitute of our own country and the world, but solid religious instruction, adapted to all classes of readers, to warn the impenitent, to alarm the thoughtless, guide the inquiring to Christ, and encourage Christians in the faithful discharge of duty to their own souls, to their fellow-men, and to God. The total receipts for the Messenger during the year amounted to $17,657 29; and the total expenditures, exclusive of editorial labor and the labors of agents and colporteurs in circulating it, were $17,159 08, falling a little short of the amount received.

The American Messenger in German, Amerikanischer Botschafter, has a circulation of 12,000.

As an encouragement to writers for the Messenger, and in accordance with the decision of a committee to whom the matter was referred, four sets of the Society's publications have been recently awarded to the authors of the best authentic narrative suited to lead the impenitent to the cross; the best article on the duty of individual Christian effort for the salvation of souls; the best article on novel-reading; and the best religious anecdote.

The important facilities for issuing the Society's publications, with which the Society has been provided in its building, presses, and machinery, and the skill and fidelity of those who more immediately conduct its mechanical departments, are all devoted, the Committee trust, with a single eye to the glory of God, to the benefit of the great masses of men who may be reached through the Society's channels. As said in the last Report, "They wish every poor man, and every destitute child, throughout all our territories, to know that they have here an institution which cares for their temporal and eternal good. The thought that the poor laboring man, who comes in from his toils unpractised in perusing books, with dim lights and perhaps eyes dimmed with age, may find the book borne to his hands from the Society so clearly printed that he can read it with pleasure, and may learn in it the way of life; and the thought of the glistening eyes and throbbing hearts of millions of destitute children, especially in all our new territories, as they greet the Illustrated Tract Primer and other attractive books the Society has issued for the young, while their mother thanks God that strangers have done for her just what she wanted, but herself could not do, and hopes her children may thus be brought to meet her in heaven, makes us grateful for the privilege of laboring in so good a cause, and renders sweet every sacrifice and toil for such an end." A small number of volumes, as the larger edition of the Pilgrim's Progress, and the first edition of the Memoir of Milnor, are from time to time elegantly bound, to meet the wishes of wealthy friends who purchase them. The great mass of the Society's publications are issued in neat, but plain and durable binding.

The Publishing Committee also have continually sought to conform to the spirit of the request of the first President of the Society on the day of its organization, "that no tract should ever be issued from the depository which does not contain, should it find its way where the Bible was never seen, nor the gospel ever heard, enough of divine truth to guide the ignorant and the inquiring sinner into the path of eternal life." They "have sought, with ceaseless vigilance, that every work which goes forth from the Society, including the child's tract, the Almanac, and the American Messenger, may preach Christ, and win souls to him." In this view, they anxiously seek that all the narrative tracts and volumes issued may be strict records of the power of religion and the grace of God, as illustrated in the facts of his providence, and the renewing and sanctifying influences of his Spirit. The wide circulation of the Society's tracts and volumes noticed on the next page, furnishes a powerful motive to able evangelical writers to avail themselves of this channel. One efficient pastor has written eleven of the Society's tracts, five of which have had a circulation of 200,000 copies each, and one has reached 460,000.

A striking illustration, not only of the power of well-selected spiritual books to reach the heart, but of the facility with which they may be employed by Christians, even when languishing under disease, for winning their fellow-men to Christ, has recently occurred in this city in the case of the late Mr. CHARLES H. KELLOGG. One of the Secretaries of the Society being summoned to his dying bed in August last, says,

"For many months I had known that a gentleman in feeble health was frequently purchasing books, which he sent to such persons as he thought them adapted to benefit. Being suddenly summoned to his chamber, I found him very low, but enjoying a peace and confiding trust in his Redeemer, which made me almost envy the happy condition of this favored servant of Christ. After prayer and some conversation, on his part chiefly in a whisper, while he seemed to slumber I asked his wife in a low voice when his distribution of books commenced, and how far it had been extended; but soon again approaching his bedside, he drew my ear near his lips, and said, 'Twenty-five hundred books—twenty-five hundred books, or twenty-six hundred—bless the Lord—bless the Lord—bless the Lord. That little library that you see there is the Lord's.' The 'little library' to which he referred, consisted of about one hundred and fifty select volumes, which he was proceeding to send out to particular persons, as he thought best adapted to their spiritual state, when God called him to rest from his labors. He then referred to another 'precious little library,' which stood on the mantle in a neat case, and which embraced seven favorite works: Doddridge's Rise and Progress, Pilgrim's Progress, James B. Taylor, Harlan Page, Normand Smith,

Thomas Cranfield, and Harriet Newell—four copies of each work; forming a little library for his wife, for his only son, and for his two daughters, one four years old and the other an infant, to be kept as a legacy, indicating his wish that they might imbibe the spirit of those volumes. Besides his gifts to individuals, he had, with great care, selected and made up libraries, some of one hundred volumes, which he presented to destitute Sabbath-schools near home and in the distant West, of the usefulness of which he had received many testimonies. ‘Oh, I wish,’ said he, ‘that I had begun this work sooner. I’m sorry I begun it so late. You are doing a great work; O be faithful unto death, and the Lord will be with you.’

“In every one of the hundred and fifty volumes above referred to, selected for distribution, was found the annexed card :

“‘WHERE WILL YOU SPEND ETERNITY?

“‘And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. John 3 : 19.

“‘For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? Matthew 16 : 26.

“‘For God so loved the world, that he gave his only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. John 3 : 16.

“‘THE GIFT OF A FRIEND.

C. H. K.’”

The amount of grants, as recorded above, including 5,491,185 pages delivered to life members and life directors, has been 58,138,820 pages, which estimated at fifteen pages for a cent, is equal to $38,759 22, far exceeding the gratuitous issues of any preceding year. This single item absorbs about one-third of the benevolent income of the Society for the year. As laborers multiply, and other channels of distribution are opened on every side, it is obvious that the gratuitous issues must continue to increase, and that a consequent occasion will exist for enlarged benefactions to the treasury.

The data on which these grants have been severally made by the Distributing Committee are scattered through the correspondence of the year, and cannot be detailed in this document. Each application is carefully considered, and receives the sanction of the Committee in all cases where there is security of the faithful and prayerful distribution of the publications among the destitute. It will be seen that home and domestic missionaries in unusual numbers have been thus supplied, and the Committee take great pleasure in coöperating with these self-denying heralds of the cross. Their earnest appeals are never denied, and are often anticipated. The following extract from the letter of a missionary of the American Home Missionary Society, located at one of the ports on lake Michigan, will serve to illustrate the important relations that a Tract Society sustains to the missionary work, while it shows how ardently engaged in the cause of Christ are many of the frontier ministers of the gospel.

"The population, which formerly came regulated in some sort by the cart-load," he writes, "are now, in consequence of Indian treaties, new surveys, and projected improvements, pouring in behind us like an avalanche. The languages here spoken are French, Danish, Dutch, German, Welsh, and English. What shall I do? If the following draft is paid, I wish publications forwarded: if not, I will still beg and collect and buy and distribute as I can. My heart swells with the wish, that the waters of the Tract House could be made to flow more freely and adequately for the supply of the nations upon our prairies. I want Sabbath Manuals in English and German; I want little books for children; I want Flavel on Keeping the Heart, for Christians; I want—every thing!

“$25. Liberal disciple. For the love of Christ, pay to the American Tract Society twenty-five dollars for the benefit of the German, English, Dutch, French, and Welsh destitute readers in Sheboygan county, Wisconsin, and you shall in no wise lose your reward.

“H. L., a Missionary.”

It is hardly needful to say that, without waiting for the payment of the draft, the Committee granted the 37,500 pages of publications thus solicited; and $100 worth of books were subsequently sent on sale.

The gratuitous circulation through the Society's colporteurs has increased with the continued expansion of this system. During the past year it has reached the aggregate of thirty-five million pages, amounting to more than $23,000. It is believed that the publications thus placed in the hands of the poor and destitute and errorists, have been wisely bestowed. The instances are probably rare in which the individual patrons of the Society would not have cheerfully paid for the volume granted, if the circumstances had been fully known. Indeed, the colporteur is expected to apply this test in each case, and only bestows a book where he would make a personal gift, if within his power. The monthly or quarterly report of each is before the Committee, who can readily direct the contraction or expansion of the gratuitous issues, if their interposition seems necessary.

The continued emigration to California has called for frequent grants for the vessels bound to the Pacific. The amount thus distributed, as recorded in the list of grants, is 371,846 pages.

GRANTS TO CONGRESSIONAL AND LEGISLATIVE BODIES.—At the suggestion of the author, the members of the Senate and House of Representatives were supplied with copies of the Sabbath and Temperance Manuals. Copies of “Home Evangelization” were also sent to each member of Congress and the officers of the general government; and also to the several members of the legislatures of the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Ohio. A select library of the Society's publications was also forwarded for the library of Congress, and of the above-named states—the funds for meeting the grants of “Home Evangelization” and the libraries having been furnished by gentlemen in New York city, through Mr. Luther Jackson.

GRANTS TO COLLEGES, THEOLOGICAL SEMINARIES, ETC.—A benevolent gentleman in Baltimore having contributed the generous sum of $800 for the more general circulation of "Home Evangelization," the Committee authorized the distribution of 1,500 copies of the work to the professors and students of colleges, 1,000 copies to theological seminaries, 1,000 copies to domestic missionaries, 3,500 copies for distribution by colporteurs, 6,000 copies by general agents and superintendents of colportage, 1,000 copies to the Baltimore branch, 2,000 copies to the American Tract Society, Boston, and the balance of 20,000 copies through other channels.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

The donations for the year ending April 1, including $7,828 89 in legacies, have been $105,894 80, being an advance of $11,813 37 on the previous year. The receipts for sales have been $202,371 92; making the total receipts $308,266 72. Of the donations, $1,812 25 were specified for foreign distribution, and $35,413 84 for colportage. The balance in the treasury at the close of the previous year, was $157 06; making the total resources of the year $308,423 78; exceeding the amount of the previous year by $49,983 53.

The total expenditures have been $308,313 55, of which amount $172,275 25 has been paid for paper, printing, binding, engraving, revising, translating, preparing Family Christian Almanac, articles for the American Messenger, and copy-right; $7,070 for presses and machinery; $66,274 19 for colportage, exclusive of publications gratuitously distributed by colporteurs; and $15,000 remitted to foreign and pagan lands. Balance remaining in the treasury, $110 23.

While there has been an encouraging increase in the receipts of the Society, it will be seen that they have not been sufficient to meet the increasing demands on the institution, as there was due, April 1, for printing paper, payable within six months, $41,133 26; being $11,405 50 more than was due April 1, 1849, with no increase of the stock of paper on hand.

The American Tract Society, Boston, occupying Maine, New Hampshire, Eastern Vermont, and Massachusetts, has remitted in donations $13,045 82, and for publications $27,073 76.

From Rhode Island, the donations, including a legacy of $250, amount to $3,516 31, of which $2,763 36 has been received from the Baptist, Congregational, and Episcopal churches in Providence.

From Connecticut, the donations, including $2,550 in legacies, amount to $14,440 55; of the donations, $2,585 02 are from Hartford, $1,341 77 from New Haven, $661 67 from New London, $501 88 from Norwich. Other towns and villages have contributed with equal liberality.

From New York city, legacies, $1,443 60; donations, including $707 31 from the Female branch of the New York City Tract Society, $10,924 24: total, $12,367 84; being an increase of more than $3,500 over the previous year.

From the state of New York, exclusive of the city, the total donations, including $754 63 in legacies, have amounted to $19,695 24; of which $932 50 have been received from Albany, $200 from Astoria, $1,895 08 from Brooklyn, $689 69 from Buffalo, $2,513 93 from Rochester, $565 29 from Poughkeepsie, $366 37 from Troy, $264 07 from Utica.

From New Jersey, the donations have been $2,229 18; including $256 17 from Elizabethtown, $181 94 from New Brunswick, $200 from two individuals, Perth Amboy, and $150 from Somerville.

From Pennsylvania, the donations have been $4,119 24, including $328 in legacies; and $244 85 have been received in donations from Wilmington, Delaware.

The donations from Maryland have been $2,191 25; and $5,199 31 has been received from the Baltimore branch for publications. From the District of Columbia, the donations amount to $495 50.

From Virginia, the donations have amounted to $2,637 53, including a legacy of $200. From North Carolina, $80 25. South Carolina, $3,378 95; including $2,551 70 from Charleston, $345 from Columbia, and $275 from Camden. From Georgia, $2,176 80, including $848 from Savannah.

From Alabama, $4,726; including $3,493 20 from Mobile, $340 40 from Montgomery, $165 from Marion, and $150 from Selma.

From Mississippi, $382 56. Louisiana, $928 65. Tennessee, $2,379 49; including $265 50 from Columbia, $288 25 from Nashville, and a legacy of $189 69. Arkansas, $161 60. Kentucky, $1,221 66, including a legacy of $800.

From Ohio, $5,457 52; including from Cincinnati $912 66, Columbus $248 50, Cleveland $240 29, Steubenville $377, and legacies amounting to $94. Indiana, $2,047 96. Illinois, $375 82. Missouri, $996 87; including $962 77 from St. Louis. Michigan, $492 94. Wisconsin, $360 19. Iowa, $38. Minnesota, $50.

From the Choctaw Nation, $45 19 donation, and $48 62 for publications. Brazil, $35. Sandwich Islands, $10. India, $143 32. Turkey, $8 80.

Numerous colporteur associations and individuals have continued their efficient coöperation by paying $150 each towards the support of a colporteur.

The debt on the Society's house, as by certificate of the auditors, April 22, was $59,203 78; and the cash on hand received for rents was $1,872 52. Balance, $57,331 26.

TRACT VISITATION AND GENERAL DISTRIBUTION.

The system of tract visitation, or voluntary colportage monthly, continues to prosper, under the blessing of God. Its obvious adaptation to the crowded and unevangelized masses of our great cities and larger villages, has given it a strong hold on the affections of pious men, who are considerate of both the temporal and spiritual welfare of these centres of influence. And tens of thousands of Christians thus find employment for their zeal in the service of Christ. We could wish that the sanctified talent which lies dormant in so many communities were more generally drawn out in this and kindred labors. It would greatly bless the laborers themselves, while it would secure us from the reproach of leaving so many thousands of our population unblessed by the gospel.

The New York City Tract Society has extended its labors with the growth of the city, and during the past year has had the coöperation of 1,160 visitors and twenty missionaries, including two for immigrants, one for resident Germans, and one for seamen. As the result of their labors, 1,252,123 tracts were distributed, 71,116 of which were in the German language; 4,327 Bibles and Testaments supplied to the destitute, on behalf of the New York Bible Society; 7,735 volumes lent; 1,979 children gathered into Sabbath, and 457 into public schools; 3,047 persons induced to attend church; 1,710 temperance pledges obtained; 1,398 district prayer-meetings held; 37 backsliders reclaimed; 168 persons hopefully converted, and 117 converts united with evangelical churches. The receipts and expenditures amount to $12,752.

The Brooklyn City Tract Society report 186,022 pages of tracts circulated, of which 27,753 were among the shipping, and 12,577 in prisons, hospitals, and the navy-yard. 418 Bibles and 411 New Testaments were distributed in behalf of the American Bible Society; 416 scholars were gathered into Sabbath-schools, 61 into public-schools, and 149 persons induced to attend church; 5,000 signatures were secured to the temperance pledge, and 37 conversions reported through the agency of the society.

The Philadelphia Tract Society report 46,000 families supplied monthly with tracts by between 700 and 800 visitors, who also visit the shipping, the prisons, hospitals, asylums, etc. Not far from one hundred conversions are reported in connection with this enterprise. We cannot forbear quoting one striking thought from the speech of Dr. Parker at the anniversary.

Among other encouragements to tract visitors, he remarked, that "even if they were doing nothing directly to check the current of human depravity, they were incidentally doing much to prepare the church for doing great things in a coming day. Go to Egypt and Nineveh and dig up remains there, and what have you? Mummies, slabs of marble, with images of beasts upon them and hieroglyphics. Suppose this age were embalmed—that some future generation struck upon the Tract Society with his crowbar—what has he found? Not sculptured marbles, not loathsome bodies in their cerements, but the embalmed spirit of Hall, of Edwards, and of Payson. Their thoughts, multiplied in the pages of the tract, were written as with the point of a diamond on the rock for ever. Inscriptions on the heart of the church were imperishable. Weapons would be struck upon—stilettoes, bowie-knives, revolvers—but they would be worthless, they would hurt no one. But weapons from the armory of the Tract association would come to light just as fresh and keen as ever, and great weapons would they be in the hands of the church. Even though the weapons provided by the Tract Society do not their full execution now, its literature is preparing and will prepare minds to use these arms of the church."

The annual report of the Tract Society, Alleghany, Pa., shows that they have distributed over 21,000 tracts: 18,000 English, and nearly 4,000 German. Nearly 6,000 copies of the "American Messenger," in English and German, have also been circulated. The report says, these publications have been received by persons and in places where they would have been rejected, had they been denominational.

Other cities are extensively sharing the blessings of kindred labors. In some cases tract missionaries superintend the work, and in others it is prosecuted voluntarily by individual Christians or associations. Among others, the system is carried forward with greater or less efficiency in Hartford, New Haven, Albany, Troy, Buffalo, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, Mobile, Louisville, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, and in hundreds of smaller places.

GENERAL AGENTS.

The general agent holds a position of great responsibility and usefulness. Ordinarily occupying a district as large as a state, and having an intimate relation to the destitutions to be explored and supplied, and to the churches from which the means are to be derived for effecting the supply, few stations demand more varied talent, or more incessant toil. The gathering of contributions from the benevolent, however important to the prosperity of a Christian institution, and to the spiritual well-being of the churches, is far from being the only work of a general agent of this Society. He is expected to ascertain the condition and plan for the cultivation of all parts of his field ; to secure the services of valuable colporteurs ; to confer personally with candidates ; to encourage those in the field ; to communicate intelligence for the public journals, and to perform much other labor for the promotion of the general interests of the cause committed to his hands. The results of experience demonstrate the necessity of such a class of laborers, if efficiency is to be given to the operations in this department. And the Committee believe that such a conviction is growing in the public mind, together with the impression that the annual visit of such ministers of the gospel as most of those now devoted to this work for the Society, is a blessing to the people.

The Rev. F. Y. VAIL continued his labors in the southern states during the early part of the year, with untiring assiduity and the most gratifying success. The contributions in Charleston, Columbia, and other places in South Carolina, and in Savannah and other towns in Georgia, were generous and cordial. In the summer he transferred his labors to New York and vicinity, where his efforts were highly successful. Towards the close of the year, he visited Philadelphia in connection with Rev. Mr. Ridgely, and a revived interest in tract operations in some congregations, as well as generous individual donations, encourage the expectation of increased support from that city. The aggregate results of his labors, exclusive of pledges yet unpaid, exceed $8,500 ; while it is hoped that the extensive circulation of documents, and the earnest personal appeals which have accompanied his efforts, will result in an elevated standard of benevolence, and in permanent coöperation with this institution. His mode of prosecuting his agency also demonstrates the utility and necessity of something more than a mere public advocacy of a Christian enterprise.

The Rev. G. W. RIDGELY devoted the first half of the year to the Episcopal churches in Massachusetts and Rhode Island ; the autumn and early winter to prominent churches of the same denomination in New York and Brooklyn, and the latter part of the year to Philadelphia and its vicinity. He has been received with great cordiality by the bishops, clergy, and people, and with a degree of liberality highly encouraging. In many churches, his public presentation of the objects of the Society has been the first ever made ; and the response has shown, that nothing but a knowledge of the facts is needful to elicit the most generous and cheerful coöperation. Many thousand dollars have made their way into the treasury during the year in connection with the highly acceptable and important agency of Rev. Mr. Ridgely.

The Rev. AMOS SAVAGE has continued his efforts during the year in Connecticut, with general acceptance and success. He has delivered 144 sermons and addresses, besides attendance on ecclesiastical meetings, and the circulation of documents. The results in donations are greater than in previous years, and he notes the growing interest in the Society's work among the churches. He assures the Committee that the colporteurs are "followed daily by the prayers of the most evangelical, self-denying Christians in the country." For himself, he says, "I have never labored for the cause with deeper interest. I love to contemplate this great Christian enterprise, planted on the firm basis of fundamental truth, breaking away from the narrow fold of sectarianism, and with an eye single to the glory of God, aiming only to accomplish the greatest amount of good, and to secure the salvation of the largest number of souls. Let the laborers of this Society, and its friends and patrons, cherish the spirit of the gospel and keep near the throne of grace, and God will not withhold his richest blessings."

The Rev. CALVIN FOOTE has performed another year's laborious service in Eastern New York, and besides seventy-five sermons or public lectures delivered, has visited 1,800 families for the promotion of his agency, distributed documents and other publications extensively, introduced the Messenger into 1,600 families, and collected $2,320. While Rev. Mr. Foote acknowledges with gratitude the coöperation he has received from pastors, he expresses his regret that so few of them bring forward the claims of benevolence, unless stimulated by the agent's visit. In one instance, where a pastor stated publicly that for six years his congregation had not given $10 to the Tract Society, one of the elders assigned as the obvious reason, that the people in all that time "had not been asked to give." Mr. Foote urges the importance of systematic benevolence, as vital to the success of this and every good enterprise.

The Rev. N. W. GOERTNER has continued his acceptable and useful labors in Western New York, though interrupted for a season by dangerous illness. Notwithstanding this providential interference with his plans, his efforts have resulted in the gathering of contributions to the amount of $5,292, besides the sums sent from his field directly to the treasury, and the amount remitted by Mr. Bayliss; making an aggregate of more than $8,000. Rev. Mr. Goertner alludes particularly to the liberal coöperation of the ladies in Buffalo, Rochester, and Lockport. The Ladies'

Colporteur Association in the First Presbyterian church in Buffalo contributed $250 ; and similar associations in the Brick church, the First Presbyterian church, Rochester, and the First Presbyterian church, Lockport, have each paid $150 for the salary of a colporteur. Some of these organizations have persevered for years in this good work, with increasing interest and satisfaction.

Mr. SAMUEL BAYLISS has been associated with Rev. Mr. Goertner in Western New York, as heretofore, and has now completed the sixth year of his agency. During the past year he has visited more than 100 churches and 55 Sabbath-schools, delivered 184 addresses, and procured more than 300 subscribers for the Messenger. Many of the churches have never before been visited by an agent of the Society. "The churches and individuals I have visited," he writes, "have contributed about $2,000. I have travelled about 6,000 miles. I have been kindly received everywhere, especially by pastors. Our cause is growing in favor in Western New York, and many ministers have spoken of the blessing to their people of colporteur labors." It is expected that Mr. Bayliss will occupy portions of Central and Northern New York hereafter.

The Rev. C. EVANS has been recently commissioned, with special reference to the Baptist churches in the vicinity of New York.

The Rev. J. M. JOHNSON performed a brief agency in New Jersey. His impaired health, and other interruptions, prevented him from accomplishing all that he had hoped, and made it necessary for him to retire from the work.

The Rev. R. WEISER has continued his agency during the year in Eastern and Central Pennsylvania, with industry and fidelity. He has preached 153 times in English, and 26 in German ; introduced the Messenger into nearly 2,000 families ; circulated more than 40,000 pages of tracts ; travelled 2,200 miles, and collected nearly $1,400. His field is largely German, and he says of it, that for the present "it must be worked upon, rather than worked with."

The Rev. S. T. WELLS has prosecuted his agency in Western Pennsylvania and a part of Western Virginia during the year. The amount of benevolent funds realized from his field has been about the same as in previous years ; but is far less than the sum expended for colportage there. His report is connected with that of the superintendent of colportage, and an extract is inserted subsequently.

Mr. JONATHAN CROSS has performed nearly all the duties of a general agent in Virginia, while engrossed with his labors in the superintendence of colportage. The amount of donations forwarded to the treasury as the results of his efforts, is about $1,800. It would seem desirable to have this field occupied permanently by an additional agent, whose principal aim should be the development of benevolent feeling and action.

The Rev. JOHN W. RAY entered on his agency in Alabama early in November, and has labored acceptably to the people and to the Committee. He remitted donations previous to March 1, amounting to $1,412; and is encouraged by the prospect of cheerful and generous coöperation.

The Rev. SYLVESTER WOODBRIDGE has performed a brief agency in Louisiana and Mississippi.

The Rev. J. M. STEVENSON continued his labors in Southern Ohio until the early autumn, when he accepted the call of the First Presbyterian church, New Albany, and retired from the service. His energy of character, pulpit talents, and ardent love for the cause, rendered his agency peculiarly acceptable and successful; and the Committee accepted his resignation with great reluctance. The important field thus vacated has not yet been fully supplied. Negotiations are in progress for the early introduction of a competent agent into this important field.

The Rev. HENRY PAYNE performed a six months' agency, mostly in connection with the Episcopal churches in the diocese of Ohio.

The Rev. SHEPARD WELLS has visited portions of Middle and Western Tennessee, Southern Kentucky, and Northern Alabama. He reports between sixty and seventy churches addressed, and in reaching them and ecclesiastical bodies he has travelled nearly 9,000 miles. He has conferred with and recommended fourteen colporteurs for commission, most of whom are now in the service. The collections through his agency amount to nearly $2,500. Among the encouragements he alludes to the manifest usefulness of the colporteurs on his field; the cordiality of some churches previously indifferent; the increase of regular and liberal contributors; and the facility with which laborers are found for the most destitute districts. Among the discouragements he mentions the fact, that to the mass of Christians on his field the system of colportage is yet new; the lack of principled and systematic benevolence; the great extent of territory, and the difficulty of reaching the churches at certain seasons of the year; and the newness of the country, and the feebleness of the churches. He regards all dependence on other than personal efforts of the agent for raising funds as of little worth; and considers the usefulness of his agency as in a good degree prospective, and having other relations than that of securing present donations.

The Rev. JOHN BELL, formerly engaged in the colporteur service, has spent a part of the year in East Tennessee, and has visited many of the feeble churches.

The Rev. EDWARD H. CUMMING was commissioned in the autumn for Kentucky, and with special reference to the Episcopal churches in the south-western states. He has performed an acceptable agency of about three months, chiefly in Kentucky. The more full results of his labors will be presented in a succeeding report.

The Rev. S. WARREN has devoted nine months of the year to Indiana, with great fidelity and universal acceptance. His reports have always been full and interesting. In his annual report he says, "I have travelled on the Society's account over 5,000 miles; preached about 90 times, and the amount of my cash receipts is $1,802, of which $74 was for the Messenger. Including sums forwarded to the treasury through other hands, the donations from Indiana this year will exceed $2,000. This will be an advance of 100 per cent. upon last year. At least four-fifths of my time has been bestowed on places that had not previously contributed any thing."

Rev. Mr. Warren presents a graphic picture of the intellectual and moral condition of Indiana, with a population now estimated at 1,125,000; and urges the most powerful motives for the speedy application of colportage to all its destitute districts. While there are indications of rapid improvement in morals and education, and the physical resources of the state are developing with almost unexampled energy, the inadequacy of ministerial instruction and other means of grace render the speedy extension of other agencies of evangelization indispensable. In this connection he quotes the remark of an intelligent and laborious Methodist circuit-rider: "We need in addition to our itinerancy an army of colporteurs. Take my own circuit. Myself and colleague do almost all the preaching in these two counties. Preaching three times on the Sabbath and nearly every day in the week at distant points, it is impossible for us to perform much pastoral labor, or to reach those that will not come to the house of God. And this class is very large. Those who need preaching most are not reached; and with the present number of ministers, I see not how they are to be reached except by colporteurs."

"A careful examination," continues Rev. Mr. Warren, "would only confirm a previous statement, that at least one half the entire population is unreached by the public or private labors of evangelical ministers. This state of things is acknowledged and mourned over by very many excellent Christians and ministers, who are looking to the Tract Society as one of God's chosen instrumentalities for carrying the blessings of true religion to the destitute and perishing. Your publications are almost universally approved and sought after by Christians of every name—though here and there an individual complains that they are 'too Calvinistic,' and another that they are 'not sufficiently Calvinistic.'"

The Rev. CHAUNCEY EDDY has labored during the year in Northern Ohio, with general and increasing acceptance. Besides funds to the amount of $1,665 remitted as the results of his agency, he has devoted much attention to the cultivation of the several counties of his field by colporteurs, and has introduced many valuable laborers into this work. He has preached in behalf of the Society in 93 congregations, and travelled 3,749 miles in his own conveyance. His long experience in the agency service, enables him to overcome many of the unreasonable prejudices against agents ; while the success of his labors, compared with the meagre results when left to voluntary action, demonstrate the indispensableness of such services, if the cause is to be sustained. His report presents an intelligent and interesting view of the spiritual condition and characteristics of his field, but is too extended for insertion here.

The Rev. A. L. PAYSON was commissioned early in the winter for Michigan, but the scarcity of money, and the want of systematic arrangements for securing a fixed period for the presentation of the Society's claims, have prevented the accomplishment of very satisfactory results. It is hoped that recent revivals of religion in that state will prepare the way for more efficient benevolent arrangements than have heretofore existed ; and that in due time a portion of the many thousands of dollars expended there in labors among the destitute, will come back in charities for less cultivated districts.

The REV. CHARLES PEABODY has blended the labors of general agent and superintendent of colportage, having the supervision of the Society's affairs in Missouri, Illinois, and Iowa. His annual report alludes to the dreadful scourge of last summer, by which "one-eighth of the whole population of St. Louis were swept into eternity, business was prostrated, and benevolent plans deranged." "God also sent the devouring fire. More than $3,000,000 of property was burned in a single night—including nearly 12,000 volumes of the Society—the loss being mostly covered by insurance. A large and valuable shipment was subsequently burned at New Orleans. Then the California excitement has drawn at least 12,000 of the people from my field. If each took capital amounting to $500, then $6,000,000 of active capital has been taken from these states. This spring the emigration is vastly larger. It seriously affects the sales of colporteurs, while the excitement is extremely adverse to the consideration of eternal things. Owing to these causes the donations have fallen off. I was compelled to desist from travelling at the only season when this vast country can be visited profitably."

Rev. Mr. Peabody urges the importance of increased efforts in colportage, especially for the emigrant population and the frontier settlements—the former class pouring into the West like a cataract—the latter extending onwards every year towards the Rocky mountains and the Canadas, and forming a broad belt of country for the introduction of a pure, catholic, Christian literature. For farther extracts from his report, see subsequent part of this report, under colportage.

COLPORTAGE.

The brief history and present condition of the colportage system cannot be reviewed without awakening the grateful acknowledgment, “Hitherto hath the Lord helped us,” and calling forth the adoring exclamation, “What hath God wrought!” His hand laid its foundations in compassion for the perishing, and in the providential necessities of our country and times. His providence has guided to open fields for evangelization, and created new ones stretching across the continent; has raised up and made provision for numerous laborers for their cultivation; and his grace has caused the seed to spring up in a thousand wastes, and bear abundant fruit to the glory of the great Lord of the harvest. The Committee would bring their sheaves and lay them at His feet; while they would gird themselves in his strength, and again “go forth weeping,” to “sow beside all waters.”

Colportage cannot longer be regarded as an experiment. The demonstration of its necessity, safety, efficiency, and economy, is clear and unquestionable; and it is believed to be almost unquestioned. The vastness of our territory and the sparseness of the population; the enormous increase of foreign emigration; the inadequacy of ministerial instruction and other means of grace; the meagre supply of religious reading; the prevalence of vicious books; the neglect of Christian duty in visiting the abodes of the destitute; the existence of error in numberless forms, all demand the employment of a system combining catholicity, itinerancy, directness, and permanence. The sanctified press and the consecrated tongue, addressing men at the fireside, through the eye and the ear, on the one subject of Christ and him crucified, are indispensable to the complete evangelization of our country; and they may be employed on a vast scale as auxiliary to other important agencies, so as to add strength and efficiency to them all.

Under suitable regulations, colportage has all the safeguards that surround any human instrumentality. The most careful scrutiny as to the character and qualifications of colporteurs; watchful supervision of their labors; systematic reporting of proceedings and results, and the very nature and condition of the work, almost necessitate an adherence to rules which, by the divine blessing, have hitherto secured the enterprise from all collision with the ministry, and with other institutions, and have preserved it from any serious drawbacks to its direct usefulness. The Committee regard it as an occasion of thankfulness, that in the employment of more than a thousand different laborers, speaking different languages, and with various degrees of fitness for the work, scarcely a complaint has reached them of the imprudence or unfaithfulness of the colporteurs in the service of the Society. Such a fact reflects honor on the fidelity and discrimination of the ministry under whose training these men have been reared, and by whose agency, in a great degree, they have been brought to the notice of the Committee; and on the ministers and missionaries who have cheerfully counselled and coöperated with them in their work. And it may suggest the feasibility and expediency of giving more full employment in this and other relations to the slumbering talent and rusting piety of the members of the churches of Christ in our land.

The efficiency of the system of colportage, through His grace which alone is life, is increasingly apparent. It explores unfrequented wastes. It presents the gospel on the crowded thoroughfare. It meets the emigrant on the wharf, and tracks him to his forest home. It penetrates the ranks and invades the dominions of Popery. It doubles the Cape, and makes its influence felt in the region of gold. All the states and territories of the Union, and the provinces that border it, have found a new leaven cast into the elements forming their society. And it is a working leaven. It stimulates Christian zeal. It unfolds to the eye of Christian compassion such moral desolations as were not supposed to exist. It helps to fill the sanctuary. It contributes to form and foster Sabbath-schools. It multiplies common-schools. It aids in rescuing the holy Sabbath from profanation. It strives to make men temperate in all things. It presses home the claims of God, and unfolds the riches of Christ, in ten times ten thousand abodes; and in every habitation it leaves some message from God, in a permanent form, for young and old. By the tongue and the tract, by books and Bibles, by example and precept, by prayers and tears, it warns, invites, entreats, with all long-suffering and patience, making personal religion a personal concern with all the millions it reaches in its mission of love. Nor is such labor lost. The Holy Spirit has placed his seal on the truth thus communicated, and has made many a heart glad, and many a cabin resound with notes of praise. The pathway of colportage might be traced over the land by the light shining from family altars newly erected, and spiritual affections quickened, and by the glad songs of new-born souls. A reference to the subsequent pages of this document, and to the current numbers of the American Messenger, will introduce the reader to some of the data on which these remarks are based, and will furnish the best illustrations of the efficiency for good, under God, of this enterprise.

The economy of the system is demonstrated by the facts of the year. The salaries of very nearly seven-eighths of the colporteurs have been $150 per annum. Including the whole cost of supervision, the average payment for each year of colporteur service, exclusive of travelling expenses, has been less than $200. And the entire average expense of visiting each family has been about fifteen cents. The only perquisites of the colporteur are the trials and rewards of his work. He circulates no other than the Society's publications, except the Bible, and for these he must accurately account, without discount or commission. His salary is his sole pecuniary remuneration for his services. It has never been intimated that it was too large. The Committee having the utmost desire to employ the charities of the people of God with a wise economy, see not how any retrenchment can be made in this department without diminishing the numbers or oppressing the families of their fellow-laborers.

In reviewing the operations of the past year, the Committee would notice the hand of God in the afflictive scourge with which the nation was visited during the summer of 1849. Several laborers in commission, and especially students for their vacations, were prevented from entering the work, and some of the agents and colporteurs were prostrated by disease, or interrupted in their labors by the prevalence of the epidemic. But it is worthy of grateful remembrance, that of the several hundreds in the Society's service, not one is known to have become the victim of the cholera, though five excellent laborers—Westerlund of Louisiana, M'Neely of North Carolina, Duvall of South Carolina, Smith of Ohio, and Dresel of New York—have since been called to their eternal reward.

Another circumstance has tended to hinder the progress of colportage, especially at the West, namely, the unprecedented emigration to California. Almost every western county has furnished its quota for the gold mines. And in many instances the ready capital of the community had been diverted to this channel. The means of purchasing publications had been diminished, at the same time that the disposition to provide for the spiritual wants of the household had been weakened by the visions of gold that possessed the mind and hardened the heart.

But with these and other drawbacks, the operations in this department have been prospered of God in an unprecedented degree.

More than ever, the efforts of the Committee have been directed to the newly settled and destitute districts. While nearly all the states have shared in the increase of laborers and the distribution of publications, the frontier states have been specially cared for, and now Missouri and Wisconsin are among the most efficiently manned and thoroughly cultivated. Texas, Iowa, Minnesota, and California are receiving increased attention; and Canada and Mexico are not forgotten. It would be far easier and less expensive to hover around the communities now enjoying some of the means of grace, and where a ready circulation of books could be effected; but the Committee cannot disregard the more pressing wants of the border population, and they believe that the friends of the Society will cheerfully sustain them in the effort to convey the gospel to the "poor," whether they are found in the wilds of Nebraska, or among the gold-heaps of California.

Next to our native destitutions, the German population have had the most care, in the arrangements of the year. Their vast and rapidly increasing numbers entitle them to it; while their impressible character and reading, reflective habits invite it. It is probable that, taken as a class, the German colporteurs are at least as intelligent, devoted, and useful, as those speaking our own tongue. They are more persevering—many of them having continued for years in the service. As the list of valuable German books increases, the extent of circulation is greater, with the same amount of labor, and in due time may equal that effected by the same number of American colporteurs. The Committee regard the German field with increasing interest, and desire to bring the influence of the Society to bear on every part of it without delay. The great centres of the German interest, such as New York, Albany, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, Evansville, Cincinnati, and Pittsburg, are indeed supplied with colporteurs, one or two in each city, containing thousands or tens of thousands of Germans; and the German agricultural districts in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Missouri are partly furnished; but if the number were ten-fold, it would not meet the present and prospective demand.

The operations among the Germans in Canada, numbering about 40,000, have been persevered in with gratifying results. And Providence seems to be preparing the way for the application of colportage to the Canadian provinces generally.

The French population, especially in Louisiana, have been more generally visited than during previous years; and there have been indications of good in this quarter. The spirit of inquiry has been awakened to some extent, and a desire for the Scriptures manifested in spite of priestly remonstrance.

The Irish population is receiving increased attention, and there are hopeful appearances of amendment in the spiritual condition of many of this warm-hearted and much-abused race. More publications have been placed in their hands than during any previous year, and a greater disposition to read than heretofore has sprung up. The difficulty of procuring suitable laborers for this class is the most serious obstacle to the evangelization of the Irish.

The Norwegian population, located chiefly in Illinois and Wisconsin, continues to receive the attention of the Committee. The colporteur who began the labors among his countrymen has now become the pastor of the first evangelical church for Norwegians in this country, and is richly blessed in his labors. His successor in the colporteur service continues his work with some encouragement.

The Committee continue their efforts in Mexico. A colporteur has braved all dangers, and continued his labors during most of the year in the states of Tamaulipas and New Leon, with considerable success—notwithstanding the attempts of the priesthood in the city of Mexico to arrest his progress. Another colporteur, who left Mexico in the early part of the year, and completed his medical education in New York, has been commissioned to return, with the expectation of establishing himself permanently in the heart of the republic, and laying out his strength for the diffusion of the gospel there.

Early in the year, it was apparent that California presented one of the most important fields for the application of the colporteur system. A colporteur who had been employed for some months at the East, with a view to ultimate labors on the Pacific coast, sailed in August in the “Mechanic’s Own,” for San Francisco. His passage was generously tendered to the Society, with the expectation that he would exert his influence on shipboard for the spiritual good of passengers and crew. He reached his field January 25, and has entered vigorously on his labors. One of the early fruits of his mission, in connection with the efforts of a few tried friends of the Society, is the organization in San Francisco of “The Pacific Tract Society,” with the purpose of prosecuting the colporteur enterprise efficiently in that important field. Although advices are not late enough to develope other results of his labors, it is obvious that no spot on the globe more imperiously demands the general employment of colporteurs than California. The peculiar character of the population, and the nature of the occupation of most of the emigrants, renders it indispensable to apply an itinerant, book-bearing system to the evangelization of the people. And the accumulation of adventurers speaking a great diversity of languages, would also point to the many-tongued press as an agent for spreading the gospel there. Orders have already been received for publications in the Spanish, German, French, Danish, and other European languages, and even for Hawaiian and Chinese tracts, to be sent across the isthmus!

The Committee hope for vigorous coöperation from the newly-formed auxiliary; and meanwhile will endeavor to procure competent men to meet this providential demand. And they confidently rely on their patrons to sustain the heavy expenditures necessarily involved in operations so distant, and attended with so much expense. The proceedings at the organization of the Pacific Tract Society will be noticed in another part of this document.

The Committee have been encouraged to continue the efforts in this department on thoroughfares, and have come to regard this as an important application of the system. Besides counteracting some of the mischiefs of a vicious press, and directing the thoughts of the traveller to the things of eternity, it is an effective method of sending religious truth to distant homes. The neat and attractive form of the Society's publications facilitates the sales to those who are able to purchase, while the colporteur meets multitudes of needy emigrants, who must be supplied gratuitously. The circulation on steam-boats and rail-cars, at New York, Buffalo, Cleveland, Sandusky, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Pittsburg, has been very encouraging. One of these colporteurs has made no less than 2,265 visits to steam-boats. The Committee would gladly afford facilities for reaching all the prominent thoroughfares of the country, so that every traveller for business or pleasure should be made to feel that his spiritual interests are cared for, and that the claims of God meet him at every turn of the road of his pilgrimage.

Theological students have performed much valuable service, as heretofore, during their vacations. Who can estimate the amount of good, to themselves and others, of the active employment in the great work which is to engross their energies for life, of one hundred and thirty-one students, connected with ten evangelical denominations, and associated with twenty-nine different collegiate and theological institutions, as follows: Dartmouth College, New Hampshire; Yale College, and Theological Seminary, Connecticut; New York University, Union Theological Seminary, Hamilton College, Madison University, and Auburn Theological Seminary, New York; Princeton Theological Seminary, and Rutgers College, New Jersey; Washington College, Gettysburgh Seminary, Marshall College, Lewisburg College, Jefferson College, and Associate Reformed and Western Theological Seminaries, Pennsylvania; Delaware Seminary, Delaware; Oglethorpe University, Mercer University, and Emory College, Georgia; Columbia Theological Seminary, South Carolina; Centre College, Kentucky; Lane Seminary, Salem Institute, Miami University, and Western Reserve College, Ohio; and Wabash College, and New Albany Theological Seminary, Indiana.

The statistical results of colportage by students are as follows: number of months' service, 251; families visited, 49,501; conversed or prayed with, 24,400; volumes sold, 49,827; volumes granted, 13,086; prayer-meetings held, etc., 850; families neglecting evangelical preaching, 6,577; Roman-catholics, 2,764; families destitute of religious books, 4,591; and of Bibles, 1,944.

STATISTICAL RESULTS OF COLPORTAGE.

The accompanying tables furnish a gratifying record of the fidelity of the laborers, while they present such proofs of the destitution of religious instruction as cannot but command the attention of thoughtful men. They are believed to be accurate and reliable. Their impressiveness would be enhanced, if there were room to insert the narrative statements presented quarterly by each colporteur, in connection with his statistical report. But as this would be impracticable, and is in part rendered unnecessary by the extracts published in the Messenger, the naked figures must be left to tell their simple story of destitution and supply.

It will be seen from the first table, that including fifty-seven colporteurs for the German, French, Irish, Spanish, Welsh, and Norwegian population, and exclusive of students in their vacations, the number of colporteurs in the Society's service for the whole or a part of the year has been 377. In addition to these, fifty colporteurs have performed more or less labor during the year, whose statistics are not embraced in the tabular list, and thirty-seven colporteurs were commissioned previous to April 1, whose terms of service date subsequent to that period, and the results of whose labors will be reported the next year. The number of colporteurs in commission April 1, was 324. The second tabular list shows that 131 students have been employed for their vacations; making, with 377 above, 508 colporteurs who have labored for a longer or shorter period of the year, and whose services have been distributed as follows: Vermont, 4; Rhode Island, 2; Connecticut, 6; New York, 80; New Jersey, 8; Pennsylvania, 65; Delaware, 1; Maryland, 18; Virginia, 49; North Carolina, 12; South Carolina, 9; Georgia, 24; Florida, 1; Alabama, 11 ; Louisiana, 10 ; Texas, 5 ; Mississippi, 4 ; Arkansas, 2 ; Tennessee, 21 ; Kentucky, 13 ; Ohio, 56 ; Indiana, 33 ; Illinois, 21 ; Missouri, 16 ; Iowa, 4 ; Wisconsin, 10 ; Michigan, 13 ; Minnesota, 1 ; Canada, 2 ; Mexico, 3 ; California, 1.

The whole amount of time devoted to colportage during the year, notwithstanding the large proportion of brief agencies of students for their vacations, is more than equal to the labors of one man for two hundred and thirteen years. The statistical tables only present the periods of actual service reported. The colporteurs of the American Tract Society, Boston, are not included above.

The aggregate number of families visited by colporteurs during the year, has been four hundred and twenty-eight thousand three hundred ; embracing more than two millions of our population, and exceeding the previous year by more than eighty thousand families.

Religious conversation or prayer has been held with more than two hundred and seventeen thousand of these households. The degree of skill and fidelity with which this duty is performed, will be as varied as the characteristics of the laborers and the circumstances of the visit. And in all cases it is an incidental part of the duties of a colporteur—his primary work as an agent of a publishing institution, being the circulation of printed truth. But the evidences are abundant, that the interviews between the Christian visitor and the impenitent household are often seasons of liveliest interest, and they are referred to in numberless cases as the turning-point in the destiny of souls. It is not clear that the entire expenditure of effort and money in the colporteur enterprise might not be demanded, if there were no other relation than the direct, oral communication of religious instruction by the firesides of the careless and neglected. But this is not the only relation.

The number of volumes sold by colporteurs during the year, estimating the average price of the books at 25 cents, has been 417,939, exceeding the sales of the previous year by 40,681, while the total circulation of volumes from the depository is 939,602, and of tracts 6,958,190. The number of books thus placed in the hands of the people in a single year, is believed to be greater than the aggregate of volumes in all the public libraries in this country. That they are generally read and valued is placed beyond doubt by the statements in the Society's correspondence, and by the manifold evidences of their usefulness.

The number of books granted to destitute families, estimating them at one-sixth of a dollar each, is equal to one hundred and thirteen thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, which, with the tracts circulated by colporteurs, makes an aggregate of more than thirty-five million pages of gospel truth, of the pecuniary value of more than $23,000, gratuitously placed in the hands of the people in a single year. Thus, through one channel of circulation, more than half a million of religious books of the most sterling excellence, in a great variety of languages, have been deposited in the abodes of men of every shade of opinion, and in every condition of life.

In connection with this broadcast sowing of the seed of the word, besides the stated concert of prayer each Sabbath morning, colporteurs have held prayer-meetings in destitute neighborhoods, or addressed public meetings to the number of twelve thousand two hundred; or an average of two hundred and thirty-four each week.

The statistical tables do not exhibit the number of Sabbath-schools organized. But the correspondence of the year shows a gratifying zeal in this incidental work, especially in those wastes where no previous attention had been given to this useful instrumentality, and where there was no present prospect of any other agency for promoting it. In one state, no less than 283 Sabbath-schools have already been formed and partially supplied with libraries; and hundreds of schools have sprung into being in various parts of the country, in connection with the self-denying exertions of the colporteurs. A demand for juvenile reading, and for the appliances for Sabbath-school instruction, has thus been created, and supplied, in a good degree, by other institutions. While the Committee expect their fellow-laborers to adhere to the prominent work before them, the supply of families with religious reading for parents and children, they cannot and would not repress their zeal in the promotion of popular education; but would rather encourage and incite them to befriend and foster every good work legitimately within their scope—especially in remote and neglected districts, where there are few intelligent friends of religious institutions, and no authorized agents of kindred charities.

Those tabular columns which present the data as to the spiritual condition of the population visited, furnish the motive power of the whole enterprise, and deserve profound attention. They contain a volume of instruction and incitement to effort. They are not crude estimates—the generalization of some traveller from imperfect data—but the result of detailed inquiry and investigation, family by family, extending to one-tenth part of our whole population. And what are the facts thus revealed?

Eighty thousand and thirty families habitually neglect attendance at the sanctuary where soul-saving truth is preached! Families, not individuals; habitually, not casually. And this statement does not include the tens of thousands of families who hear the gospel at long intervals, perhaps of months. Nor does it embrace families any member of which is a regular attendant at the house of God. The fact that four hundred thousand souls have been found in a single year in America, who habitually absent themselves from the place of prayer, is at once an evidence of the most appalling destitution, and an illustration of the indispensableness of more aggressive efforts in our plans for evangelization. In the light of such a fact, is there any room for doubt of the necessity of colportage?

Forty-four thousand eight hundred of the families visited during the year were Roman-catholics. By whom else have they been visited? How else have they been shown the better way of salvation by grace? Do they enter our sanctuaries? Are they taught the truths of the Bible? Can we do less than seek them at their homes, and by oral and printed truth strive to save them from the errors of their faith, and deliver them from the oppressions of their priesthood?

Fifty-five thousand two hundred families were found destitute of all religious books except the Bible. This record does not include the numberless families possessing one or two old volumes, which may have been a family heir-loom, or a book or two distributed previously by colporteurs or others. But it brings before us a population nearly equal to that of Connecticut, utterly destitute of spiritual authors, and as little profited by the cheap press of our day, as if the art of printing were an unknown invention. The truth is, that the agricultural masses of our population are generally remote from bookstores and other means of supply, and not one family in ten is possessed of any thing like an adequate stock of religious reading. And but for some scheme that shall bring religious books to their doors and urge them on their attention, the great majority will remain unblessed by the writings of the great and the good for successive generations. The duty of sending the bread of life to those hungering souls, is as imperative as is the supply of the famine-stricken and the dying with bodily sustenance.

The destitution of the Scriptures has been less carefully investigated than other points, inasmuch as comparatively few of the colporteurs have been able to supply the destitution when found. Nevertheless, twenty-seven thousand four hundred families are reported as destitute of the Bible; and the colporteurs have supplied twelve thousand seven hundred families with Bibles or Testaments. Were they generally furnished with the word of God, it is believed their usefulness would be much increased, and that thousands of families would hear the voice of God who will never otherwise have the message.

In the following review of colportage in the several states and territories, the statistics embrace the results of labor by the regular colporteurs, and by students for their vacations. Reference to the tabular statement will show the amount of time devoted by each colporteur, and the proportion of labor performed by each class. The enumeration only embraces those whose statistics are reported in the preceding tables.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY, BOSTON.

This important institution has prospered in its work, under the continued smiles of Providence, in an unusual degree. Its cordial and efficient coöperation with this Society, in the wide circulation of its publications, and in the extension of its labors to the more destitute parts of the land and world, has been a constant source of encouragement.

During the year ending May 1, 1849, its total receipts were $48,771, including $19,335 for publications sold. And its expenditures were for publications, $18,715 ; for colportage in New England, $3,880 ; for colportage in the West, $11,996 ; for foreign lands, $500 ; agencies, $5,635 ; clerks in store, $1,925 ; rent, taxes, insurance, freight, printing, postage, paper, and all other expenses, $2,323 ; gratuitous distributions, $5,640.

Fifteen colporteurs have been employed under the direction of this Society in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, and Massachusetts. These fifteen colporteurs have circulated 31,326 books, of which 6,274 were grants to the destitute, and 135,622 pages of tracts ; visited 24,647 families ; had religious conversation and prayer with 13,000, and found 1,885 families had no religious book except the Bible ; held 947 meetings for prayer and conference ; found 1,884 families who habitually neglected public worship on the Sabbath. The whole number of books circulated during the year, 70,355.

Such facts as the following from a New England colporteur, will show that this system is not needless, even in the land of the Puritans.

"The proportion of destitute families in some parts of the towns I have visited is very great, and a large proportion of the families not reported as destitute, had no religious books adapted to their capacities and the wants of their children, or calculated to stir up parents to the great work of preparing to meet God.

"In one neighborhood I found nine families in ten destitute of all religious books except the Bible. In another, eighteen families out of twenty-three were destitute of all other religious books, and three had not the Bible. I found many other parts of towns nearly as destitute. In one small neighborhood, I found seven families, all Protestant, destitute of the Bible. In another, four families within a few rods of each other, were without the word of God.

"I have found the members of evangelical churches in my field almost entirely ignorant of the destitution in their own immediate neighborhoods. A deacon in the church told me that he thought his neighbors were well supplied with books ; he was quite sure that none were destitute of the Bible, and was not aware that any were without religious books. Upon examination, I found that about one-half of his neighbors were destitute of religious books, and among them two of the deacon's brothers, both heads of families, and four families had not the Bible. Most of the destitute were poor, and unable to buy; consequently I have been obliged to give a larger proportion of books than usual."

VERMONT.

Four colporteurs have visited nearly four thousand families, and circulated about that number of volumes, by sale or gift. Much destitution was found to exist, especially on the northern frontier.

RHODE ISLAND.

Two colporteurs have labored most of the year, and have visited thirty-eight hundred families, with twenty-three hundred of whom they have had religious conversation or prayer. The circulation has exceeded an average of a volume to a family. An efficient system of tract distribution is kept up in a considerable portion of the state.

CONNECTICUT.

Six colporteurs have visited more than six thousand families, and have put in circulation between six and seven thousand books, by sale or gift. More than one fourth of the families were habitual neglecters of the sanctuary. A thorough exploration of the state would probably reveal the fact that at least this proportion would be found general, notwithstanding the compact population and the multiplicity of churches.

NEW YORK.

The number of students from the various colleges and seminaries in this state has been unusually large, and their labors have been very efficient. Including forty-eight colporteurs of this class, there have been eighty employed in this large state, who visited upwards of seventy-two thousand families, with nearly forty-three thousand of whom they have had religious conversation or prayer. The number of books sold has been nearly fifty thousand, and the number granted more than fourteen thousand. Nearly eighteen thousand of these families, or one fourth of the whole, habitually neglected attendance on evangelical preaching, of which about one half were Romanists. One seventh of the whole number were destitute of all religious reading except the Bible, and about 4,500 families were without the Scriptures. For more full statistics see the tables.

The operations among the emigrant population, German and Irish, at New York, Albany, and Buffalo, have been carried forward with increasing efficiency, notwithstanding the hinderances of the pestilence. Indeed, the cholera has been the occasion of opening new channels of access and confidence among many suffering families, who found the colporteur almost their only earthly friend in the time of danger and distress. And it is believed that the poor and degraded are coming more and more under the influence of the gospel, commended to them by men whose self-denial is apparent, and who have learned to adapt themselves to the illiterate outcasts who crowd our cellars and garrets. Dozens of rag-pickers throng the night-school of two of the New York colporteurs, with no school-book but the Bible.

LABORS DURING THE CHOLERA SEASON.—A faithful German colporteur, laboring in one of the cities visited by the scourge, writes, "I can truly say that this has been a blessed time for me, for I never before had so many opportunities to fulfil our Lord's command; and I have reason to believe that the Lord has not left my poor endeavors without his blessing. Several who have recovered their health, cannot find words to express their gratitude; they begin to seek the Lord and attend our prayer-meetings. Others who were called hence after only a few hours of suffering, caught hold of me with their ice-cold hands, and stammered their thanks, saying, 'May God reward you.' I hope that several embraced Christ in their dying hours as their only Saviour, and heard, like the thief on the cross, those consolatory words, 'To-day thou shalt be with me in paradise.' But it is to be feared that a great many have gone into eternity without repenting of their sins. I spent two months almost entirely with the sick and the suffering, which I considered to be my principal duty.

"Our prayer-meetings were well attended during the cholera. The room was often too small to hold all, so that many were obliged to stand outside. It is certain that the cholera has induced many to leave the seat of the scorner, and to seek the Lord. Whether they will be constant, time will show. God grant that they may not be satisfied with the mere good resolution, but that they may make progress, 'lest a worse thing come upon them.'"

JOY ON THE MOUNTAIN.—A colporteur in Western New York writes, "As I was crossing one of the wild and towering hills with which my field abounds, I called upon some families living upon its summit, whom I had previously visited and supplied gratuitously with books and tracts, for they were not able to buy. They seemed rejoiced to see me. They had been very anxious to see me again, as, since I was there, a great change had been wrought among them. The Lord had been there by his converting grace, and sixteen or seventeen had been hopefully renewed. No one had been there to preach to them, but the Lord had touched the hearts of some backsliders among them, and they began to pray. One after another of the impenitent were soon hopefully renewed. They joined the little praying circle, until that circle included almost every individual on the mountain. They still meet for prayer and religious conversation almost daily. 'O,' said one, 'how happy we are here.' My first visit among them with books and tracts and religious conversation, was, I trust, the means, in the hands of God, in some measure, of promoting this work."

NEW JERSEY.

Eight colporteurs, mostly students, have performed brief agencies in this state, visiting seven thousand four hundred families, and putting in circulation about four thousand volumes, by sale or gift.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Few of the states more need the application of colportage than this, and but few have shared more largely the attention of the Committee, notwithstanding the limited support rendered by the churches. No less than sixty-five colporteurs, including thirty-two students from various institutions, have been employed an aggregate period of two hundred and sixty months; have visited forty-six thousand families, a large portion of them Germans, with more than half of whom they have held religious conversation or prayer; have sold nearly forty thousand volumes, and granted to the destitute nearly eleven thousand; have held or addressed more than one thousand public or prayer meetings; and distributed more than one thousand copies of the Scriptures. Seven thousand seven hundred of these families were neglecters of the sanctuary; four thousand six hundred of them were Roman-catholics, and four thousand were destitute of all religious books.

The Rev. E. M. Long has had the superintendence of colportage in Eastern Pennsylvania, and has contributed to the efficiency of the work in that important field.

Mr. H. N. Thissell, formerly connected with the Missouri agency, entered on the work of supervision in Western Pennsylvania early in the year, in place of Mr. J. D. Clarke, whose ill health compelled him to retire. Notwithstanding the previous circulation of hundreds of thousands of volumes on this field, the demand for labor and the distribution of publications are undiminished, and the evidences of good continue to increase. Among the 15,000 Romanists in a single county, there exists a considerable spirit of inquiry; and in several instances they have taken sittings in evangelical churches. The most efficient of the German colporteurs in Pittsburg, himself formerly a Roman-catholic, often returns from his visits laden with images, crosses, and other proofs that the people are yielding up their idolatry. When asked if they were willing to sell these things, the colporteur replied in his broken English, "Not for tousan dollar; but get dem convert, den give em up for nottin."

FRUITS OF GERMAN COLPORTAGE IN PITTSBURG.—The superintendent states that the steamers at Pittsburg are visited daily, and gives the following cheering facts respecting the progress of labors among the Germans in Pittsburg and its vicinity.

"In general, scarcely a week passes without one or more embracing the gospel and Jesus as the Saviour of sinners, through the labors of the Society's colporteurs, and the blessing of God upon the reading of its publications. An old copy of the German Messenger was given to a man who promised that he would read it. The reading of the first article that caught his eye, under God, was the means of his conversion. He went from house to house to read it to his neighbors, and soon procured a dozen subscribers for the paper. He is now an active, laboring Christian, and a regular donor to the funds of the Society to the extent of his means.

"A tract was given to a little boy, with the request that he would take it to his mother, who lived a few miles in the country. He did so, and the result was the conversion of both father and mother. When the colporteur visited them, they could not cease expressing their gratitude for what the Lord had done for them, through the means of the Society. After supplying themselves with suitable books, the mother produced the tract which had been sent to her, desiring that it should be given to some one else, to whom she prayed that it might be as great a blessing as it had been to her.

"A man had not been to the house of God for twelve years, and told the colporteur that he did not want any of his books, as he did not believe in religion. After some kind conversation, he was induced to accept of Pilgrim's Progress, as a loan. At the next visit he was persuaded to read the Bible, and even felt alarmed about his condition. His wife became much enraged against the colporteur, and declared that he should not enter the house again. Her husband replied, 'When you feel as I do, you will not do so. I feel that I am a great sinner.' She replied, 'You will become crazy. The colporteur shall not come into the house again.' But the Spirit of the Lord reached her heart through what her husband read from the Bible; and when the colporteur returned they gave him a hearty welcome, as the one whom God had made instrumental in leading them from darkness to light. In proof of their gratitude, they made a donation for the cause of colportage. A young man connected with this family has also embraced Christ as his Saviour.

"All the families without exception, who have professed a change of heart, have established the family altar. Some ten others have been brought to repentance through the blessing of God on the labors of a colporteur who has just commenced. We are truly cheered with the progress of the work in a direction where many good men have thought it almost impossible for the work to go. In view of what God has done for the Germans, we feel that there is hope even for the hopeless Irish."

SYNODICAL TESTIMONIAL.—The Alleghany Evangelical Lutheran Synod

"Resolved, That we consider the influence of the American Tract Society of immense value in promoting vital piety in our German churches, and in supplying them with practical religious reading in their own language.

"Resolved, That as our church is increasing so rapidly by foreign immigration, and the number of the clergy is not keeping pace with this increase, we see in the publications of this Society an important auxiliary in fortifying our people against the snares of popery, and the errors of infidelity.

"Resolved, That we regard it to be our duty to pray, labor, and urge our people to contribute of their substance to promote the tract cause."

DELAWARE.

A single colporteur has been employed in this state, whose statistics are contained in the tabular statement.

MARYLAND.

The Maryland branch, Baltimore, have prosecuted the work of colportage with considerable efficiency, and report the employment of eighteen colporteurs, chiefly students, who have visited twenty-five thousand seven hundred families, and circulated about twenty thousand volumes, by sale or gift. The steady coöperation of this branch is a source of encouragement to the Committee, as is the spontaneous liberality of several donors in Baltimore to the parent Society.

VIRGINIA.

Perhaps no state in the Union furnishes a clearer demonstration of the utility of colportage than this; and during the past year especially, the Holy Spirit has placed his seal upon it in a remarkable degree. The energetic superintendent, while prosecuting the triple labors of a colporteur, superintendent, and general agent, has been allowed to share the joys and labors of an almost uninterrupted revival of religion, and has rejoiced over hundreds of souls turning unto the Lord. Many of the colporteurs have been similarly blessed.

Forty-nine colporteurs have performed two hundred and thirty-seven months' service; have visited more than twenty thousand families, with two thirds of whom they had religious conversation or prayer; sold thirty-five thousand volumes, and granted nearly twelve thousand, besides the circulation of a thousand Bibles and Testaments. One sixth of the families were destitute of all religious books.

The readers of the American Messenger have been apprized of the progress of the work of grace in Virginia, and we only insert extracts from the annual report of the superintendent, omitting the numerous instances cited of the blessing of God on various publications.

In reviewing the labors of the year, Mr. Cross writes, "Having colporteurs at work from the borders of Kentucky and Tennessee on the south, to the Pennsylvania line on the north, and from the Eastern shore to the Ohio river, I have heard from most of the revivals in the state during the past year. According to all the accounts received, nearly four thousand persons have been added to the church in the course of this year, in the different denominations. With the exception of a few places, these outpourings of the Spirit were in places where our colporteurs had been within the last two years scattering the Society's publications. How far these may have been blessed, as an auxiliary to the preached word, eternity alone will disclose. But one thing is certain, such ingatherings have not been for many years. During every month except one, it has been my privilege to take an active part in one or more revivals of religion. Among the people at these meetings, 470 copies of James' Anxious Inquirer have been circulated, and 68 persons have assured me that the reading of this little book either induced them to seek religion, or enabled them, when impressed with its importance, to apprehend Christ by faith. I might fill sheets with facts that have come under my own observation, illustrating the good accomplished by particular publications; but the light of eternity alone can reveal the good that has been effected in this region through the instrumentality of books and tracts."

A SCENE OF ABSORBING INTEREST.—In the midst of the recent outpouring of the Spirit in Western Virginia, Mr. Cross relates, that he retired from one of the meetings to spend the night in a pious family, in which a daughter had been recently awakened by reading a religious volume. A theological student who had been assisting at the meeting, was with them, and being about to leave the family, the little circle united in prayer. “At the close of the prayer,” says Mr. Cross, “there was such a sense of the divine presence as I never witnessed. We talked a few minutes of the joys of heaven, and prayed again. The young lady soon exclaimed, ‘Mother, I have found the Saviour.’ The mother broke out in ecstasies of joy. In a few minutes another lady, wife of an elder in the church, broke forth in joyful strains, ‘I have found peace.’ Her attention was first arrested by reading the tract, ‘Have Me Excused.’ In a few minutes more a daughter-in-law exclaimed, ‘I have got peace to my soul.’ The father of the family, who had been absent, returned at that moment. His daughter met him before the door, and caught him round the neck, and exclaimed, ‘Father, I have found Jesus.’ Tears of joy flowed down the cheeks of the pious father, but his soul was too full to utter a word for some time. An old mother in Israel, a relation, walked to and fro through the parlor and exclaimed, ‘Mr. C——, is this heaven?’ She had a large number of servants. She asked us to speak to them. A room was soon filled with them, and the young brother and myself each addressed them. One of them soon praised God in ecstasies of joy, and many of them were deeply concerned. The scene had some faint resemblance to the day of Pentecost. The joy of that pious family none but the real child of God, and angels, could imagine.”

SUBSTANCE OF A LETTER FROM AN ELDER OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—The substantial facts in the following letter are confirmed by letters from a clergyman, and by official reports.

“The Holy Spirit is moving upon the hearts of the people in this whole region of country, and truly in a marked manner. The cry has come up, and is still coming up from many a mountain-side cabin, and has been uttered in the deep, densely-shaded gorge, where none but the ear of God could hear, ‘What shall I do to be saved?’

“The work began in the Presbyterian church in this place in March last, and in a small congregation about three miles south of us. About fifty-two or fifty-four were added to the churches at the two places. They were principally young persons. One young man, who gives most unequivocal evidence of a change of heart, dates his first serious impressions to your colporteur-meeting in this place last fall. There, as he says, he saw an exhibition of religion which induced him to seek the Saviour and his righteousness. Several made a public profession of faith who had been long halting.

“The next place where God manifested his presence by the influences of his Holy Spirit, was about eighteen miles south. Rev. S. R. H—— has been for several years faithfully ministering to that people, and was active in the distribution of books before there were any colporteurs in this region. Mr. C—— was invited to assist Mr. H—— at a communion. God was there—seen—felt: they labored ten or twelve days in succession. God gave them as evidences of their labor, about fifty souls, some forty in the village, many of whom date their first impressions, under God, from reading the Society’s publications.

“The labors of Rev. Mr. H——, with Mr. C——’s help, were then transferred to a congregation of his, about six or seven miles north. God most signally blessed their efforts; crowds flocked to the house of prayer, which, though quite large, would scarcely hold the females on the Sabbath. While the Rev. Mr. H——addressed those in the house and around the door on the outside, a large number retired to a grove hard by, and were addressed by Mr. C. Upwards of sixty were added to that church, a large number of whom dated their first serious impressions to some publication of the Tract Society distributed by your colporteurs, followed by the faithful labors of their pastor.

“Almost in sight is a Seceder church: their minister and some of their members requested the labors of Mr. C——. There too, God wrung the cry from some sixty hardened sinners, ‘Sirs, what must we do to be saved?’ Some came to the house of God under deep impressions of their guilt as sinners, who had not heard a sermon for six or twelve months, but had been visited by the colporteur, and had read the books of the Society left by him.

“A Baptist minister told me, that in that whole region of country God’s Spirit was at work moving upon the hearts of the people; that in the case of some who had not heard a sermon for perhaps a whole year, when the worth of their souls was alluded to, the tear would start and the most intense interest be manifested. Some twenty were added to the church.

“Thus, in four neighboring churches, the extremes of which are within seven miles, God has, by the efforts of his ministers and your Society through your publications and colporteurs, taken from Satan’s ranks, yea, from everlasting burnings, some two hundred precious souls. In this county, thirty-two persons said that they were blessed by reading James’ Anxious Inquirer. You know something of our sparsely populated country, and can have a better idea how great a work it has been, and what great things God has done for us. Thus you see how God is blessing us, and your labors among us and on our behalf.

“Oh, dear sir, are these souls not worth all the labors ever put forth, and all the money ever expended, even had nothing more ever been accomplished? Will those souls recognize, around God’s throne, the officers and benevolent supporters of the American Tract Society, and your faithful laborers here, and point to them as the means, under God, the instruments of their conversion? Oh, who does not desire to belong to such a Society, to aid by their labors, their prayers, their means, in so great and glorious a work?

“Will not your prayers, and the prayers of Christian friends around you, continue to ascend to God on behalf of this portion of our land? for amid these mountain-tops and valleys and gorges, years, many years must elapse before there will be a population sufficiently dense to form congregations for the stated ministry of the word. Your publications alone can supply the place of the living minister. God has blessed, and will bless these efforts.”

NORTH CAROLINA.

There has been a growing interest in this state, and the number of laborers has increased to twelve, including those in the mountainous districts bordering on Tennessee, who have visited nearly eleven thousand scattered families, with more than five thousand of whom they have conversed or prayed, and among whom they have circulated nearly nineteen thousand volumes, by sale or gift. Nearly one third of the families were destitute of all religious books, and about one sixth were without the Scriptures. While the upper parts of the state are well supplied with the means of grace, the pine regions along the coast, and the mountain regions on the west, are as destitute as almost any portion of the country, and demand increased attention.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The generous interest in the evangelization of the destitute districts shown by the people of Charleston and other places in the early part of the year, has stimulated the efforts of the Committee, and the number of colporteurs has been increased three-fold. Nine laborers in all have been in the service, who have effected a circulation in thirty-six hundred widely scattered families, of nearly nine thousand volumes, by sale or gift. It is the purpose of the Committee to perform the full amount of labor which the donors in this state have been led to anticipate.

SCHOOLS WITHOUT A MASTER.—Abundant matter for reflection is contained in the annexed extract from a South Carolina colporteur. We commend it to the consideration of the thoughtful. "The necessity for colportage here is very apparent, and the good effects of it are already seen in the moral improvement of isolated families, hitherto almost, if not entirely neglected. Many are now reading books and tracts and going to church. Though many cannot read, they are anxious for good books, and get their visitors to read for them. A woman more than thirty years of age was induced to learn to read; she can now read, although a twelvemonth ago she scarcely knew the letters in the alphabet. When books are sent to me again, I wish a large supply of the Tract Primer and books for the young, as they are the most needed here. The youth are much taken with these publications, and many of them will be turned from fiction by them."

GEORGIA.

Under the supervision of the Rev. H. Safford, the operations in this state have been prosecuted with increased energy. Including ten students from various institutions, twenty-four colporteurs have been in commission, who have visited ten thousand five hundred families, circulated more than fifteen thousand volumes by sale, and nearly five thousand gratuitously.

PICTURES FROM A COLPORTEUR'S SKETCH-BOOK.—A colporteur in Georgia records in a simple manner a few facts, each of which would afford a fit subject for a painter.

"I sold a large copy of Pilgrim's Progress to a man who could not read. He was much interested in the book, and said that he would first get his wife to read it to him, while he at the same time would watch the pictures, and after that he could look at the pictures, and thus associate them with the narrative, and in that way he would read the book at his pleasure.

"After visiting several days in a neighborhood, I proposed to preach to the people before leaving them. As there was no regular place of worship, a retailer offered to open his grocery, move back the decanters, and make room for the congregation. The invitation was accepted, a large congregation assembled, and I preached to them.

"I visited a family containing several children. The parents were absent; the house and furniture were in a wretched condition. I talked to the little girls, gave them much advice, and presented them with the Temperance Manual. They told me that they had a Bible. In about an hour I returned that way. When I had passed the house one of the little girls came running after me, and asked me to stop. I imagined that the family felt insulted at my leaving the Manual, but to my surprise the little girl wanted another for her aunt, who lived near. She also said that her mother wanted a Bible, for she was mistaken when she said that they had one. I sent for the two women to come to my wagon; they came, and with tears thanked me for the advice I had given the children, and asked for another Manual. They said that each of their husbands was a drunkard, and that they hoped that these little books would be instrumental in reclaiming them. I gave the second Manual and a Bible, and there in the road preached to them Christ, and he came and blessed us. They went away saying to each other, 'We will remember that man.' I then felt glad that I had engaged in the circulation of books, and thought it was good to be a colporteur."

A L A B A M A .

Rev. Alexander M'Glashan continues to superintend the labors of colporteurs in this state, besides the care of Bethel operations. One of his expedients for doing good has been the establishment of free schools in Mobile, at which over four hundred scholars have been taught. He anticipates a movement by which all responsibility for the support of these schools will be assumed by the city. Including the circulation by Rev. Mr. M'Glashan's labors among seamen, nearly fourteen thousand volumes have been distributed, and eleven colporteurs have been in the service. Among the fruits of their labors, the superintendent alludes to "the improvement of Sabbath observance, the temperance cause advanced, many Sabbath-schools established, and revivals promoted." "It is truly gratifying," he writes, "to witness the growing estimation in which colporteurs are held. Good men are pleading to have particular colporteurs remain permanently in the counties they occupy, and visit the families over and over again from year to year. In some instances, the wealthy offer to contribute liberally for their support; and the poor plead with tears to have them remain. But more than one hundred counties are to be supplied."

PALPABLE RESULTS OF COLPORTAGE.—Many hearts will rejoice in such changes as those described by an Alabama colporteur. "I have recently revisited a neighborhood where, on my first visit, I found some five or six persons that had formerly belonged to some church. They then had nothing that could be called preaching, no church, nor any house of worship. Now, there is a church of some eighteen or twenty members in a prosperous condition. They have built a house of worship, have an evangelical minister, and have been blessed with revivals since I left them. I also went to another place where, on my first visit, the church had not had regular preaching for two or three years, and nothing like a revival for eight or ten years. They seldom met, and many had but little friendship, much less love for their neighbors. They then numbered thirty-one members. A revival commenced with my labors among them, and now they number about seventy.

“In one of my first reports, I mentioned a neighborhood where the church was without a pastor, without regular meetings, without a Sabbath-school, without prayer-meetings, and I think without one family altar. There was also so little brotherly feeling, that some of the members would scarcely speak to one another, and in addition one of the members of the church kept a grog-shop, and many others were his customers. I labored among them publicly, and from house to house, for a long period. The first work they did was to call a pastor. Soon after, the grog-shop was turned into a lumber-house. The church then numbered about forty; it has now about one hundred and twenty members. Several of them take religious newspapers that before took none. Their house of worship, that before was almost entirely neglected, is now too small to contain the congregation; and they now speak of building a new and more commodious house. He that then kept the grog-shop is now considered one of the most active and most useful members of the church.”

LOUISIANA.

Mr. HEMAN PACKARD has continued the superintendence of colportage in Louisiana, Texas, and Mexico, with manifest tokens of good. The usual dangers and difficulties of his position have been increased the past year by flood and pestilence. His reports came at one season from an almost submerged city; at another, the cholera was sweeping away its thousands. One of his fellow-laborers wrote his report from the top of his house, where he was protected by an awning, while all around was a watery desolation. In a few days his wife is in the grave; and in a few more, the intelligence reaches us that the colporteur himself has ceased from earthly toils and exposures.

As a whole, however, it has been a year of merciful prosperity. Ten colporteurs have performed eight and a half years' service; have visited twenty-four thousand two hundred families—one half of them French or German—with ten thousand five hundred of whom they have conversed or prayed, and among whom they sold twelve thousand six hundred books and granted four thousand seven hundred. Twelve thousand eight hundred of these families were Roman-catholics, and one half of the entire number visited were habitual neglecters of the evangelical sanctuary.

The superintendent writes, “The operations of the Spirit in the conversion of sinners, have been manifest in some parts of this field as in no previous year. Many souls have been gathered into the fold of Christ. And the effect of colporteur labors in places where there has been no special revival, cannot be better represented than by the Saviour's parable of the leaven, awakening personal Christian effort, leading to the establishment of Sabbath-schools, and to new and unwonted efforts to obtain a preached gospel; by a spirit of inquiry among Romanists, and in some instances by an assertion of their 'American rights,' 'liberty to read and think for themselves,' a few of them give evidence of a change of heart."

WORKING OF THE LEAVEN.—"The leaven of divine truth which has been working silently, shows its effects with increasing power in almost every part of our state. Hard by the old minister mentioned in a former report, who had grown gray in his Master's service without having received enough for preaching to buy himself a pair of shoes, are now to be found individuals who pay $300, $500, and even $1,000 a year, that their families, servants, and neighbors may hear the gospel preached. Colporteurs here are only pioneers for the living ministry. There are many in this state who bless God for the circulation of the Society's publications. But books are not enough. The people only call the more earnestly for the living ministry on account of reading the books."

LABORS AMONG THE FRENCH.—"One of our colporteurs who has recently visited one of the most forbidding portions of the state, writes, that on one occasion a priest denounced him and his books, and ordered his people not to read or even touch them. After this, some persons came to him by night, and wanted to see the Bible and books the priest had spoken about. Being pleased with them, they took supplies for themselves and their friends. One woman, who would not disobey the priest by touching the books, could not repress her curiosity to know their contents: she therefore spread her apron over her hands, and thus opened and read the books. The priest thus baffled, stated that the books published in New York were of an incendiary character. This plan succeeded better. The colporteur left the place, and some of his friends thought it would not be safe for him to return; but he has been there twice since, and no harm was done to him.

"One woman abruptly refused to receive any book from him. As he turned to leave, he tossed the 'Death of the Eldest Son,' a French book by Malan, into a tub near her. His good-natured air induced her to take the book. When he returned, the woman was glad to see him, and wanted more books, especially a Bible. Two of her friends came to see her, who wanted each a Bible; so that he sold three French Bibles and several other books in consequence of the book tossed into the tub. He also gave a Temperance Manual to an intemperate man, who reformed and read religious books. The result is, he and his wife and daughter are now professors of religion.

"There is much interest among the Germans in a portion of this city on the subject of religion. Hopeful conversions are of almost daily occurrence. One of our colporteurs is much among them, and his labors are valued by them. The Welsh are awaking to inquire after religious truth, and meet on the Sabbath for the study of the Bible. They are asking for every thing in their language on religious subjects."

TEXAS.

Five colporteurs have been employed in this state, who have visited nearly two thousand scattered families, and circulated more than five thousand volumes, one third gratuitously.

MISSISSIPPI.

Four colporteurs have visited four thousand six hundred families, sold nearly ten thousand volumes, and granted one thousand five hundred to destitute families. A considerable increase of laborers is specially desirable in this field.

ARKANSAS.

Two colporteurs report the sale of four thousand two hundred volumes, and the gratuitous distribution of nearly one thousand volumes, among the eleven hundred families visited. The Committee regret the necessity of parting with the Rev. John Buchanan, whose labors have been highly efficient and acceptable, occasioned by the demands of his family. Additional laborers are greatly needed for this and other south-western states.

TENNESSEE.

Twenty-one colporteurs have traversed a considerable portion of the destitute districts of this state; have visited nearly fourteen thousand families, with eight thousand of whom they conversed or prayed; sold twenty-four thousand six hundred volumes; distributed four thousand five hundred gratuitously, and held nearly seven hundred public or prayer meetings. Nearly one-fourth of the families were destitute of all religious books except the Bible, and more than eleven hundred were destitute of the Scriptures.

DESTITUTION.—After describing the sad deficiency of ministerial instruction in two counties composing his field, a colporteur proceeds to sketch its moral condition in other respects as follows:

“Religious books are very rarely to be met with, a large portion being not only destitute of religious books, but also of the Bible. Indeed, many of the people cannot read at all. Several intelligent citizens estimate that not more than one-fifth can read. Some who could read, refused with scorn the books when offered to them. A man who owns a large farm, and has surplus money in bank, refused to buy any books; and when I offered to grant some to him for the sake of his children, still refused, saying that he did not wish his children to have books, as they would learn bad habits from them. When I urged the importance of education, he said that he would educate his children in the corn-field; that he wanted them to be honest, and that by learning to read they would learn bad habits.

“There is not one Sabbath-school in the two counties. The agent of the Sabbath-school Union established one in one of the county-towns, but after one or two Sabbaths it was abandoned, under the influence of opposition and the refusal of parents to send their children. In neither of the county-towns is there a church edifice or school-house. The court-houses are open for all denominations.

“Education is not much attended to. There are some school-houses, but as the most part of the country is exceedingly hilly and mountainous, the inhabitants are sparsely settled, which renders it difficult to sustain schools, and consequently the largest portion of the children are growing up without the opportunities of education. There is not a single temperance society in these counties, and intemperance reigns.”

A SCENE IN THE MOUNTAINS.—“In this community,” says the writer, “education is not advanced enough to beget a taste for reading, and I succeed best by spending some time in families, reading the simplest stories, exhibiting pictures, and repeating hymns. In this way I have sometimes sold one or two dollars' worth of books where it was with difficulty any person could read. I was about passing a house one day, as I had seen the man at a neighbor's, and he had refused to buy. I however went in, and found a very large family of boys and girls, some of them of adult age. They were soon much interested, and when their father came in, I remarked that he would have to get some books for his young folks; the mother, who was a professor of religion, joined me. He at once replied, that he thought he must get a volume or two, and accordingly picked them out and paid for them. The mother now insisted that each child should have a book. Taking up one of the books for children, I opened at the story of the 'Christian Drummer,' remarking that the story was worth double the price of the book. The mother asked me to read it. When I commenced all clustered around me; and when the drummer's conversion, interest in the Bible, and great efforts to learn to read were described, the mother, doubtless thinking of her unconverted husband and uneducated family, burst into tears, and the scene became deeply affecting. They now selected other volumes, including the Drummér of course, and soon every child had a book, whose influence in this uncultivated, but as yet uncontaminated family, can scarcely be estimated. We all then bowed in prayer, and thus closed the interview. I thought, could the Secretaries have looked in upon us, they would have rejoiced to see the system working; could the Committee have witnessed that scene, they would have felt paid for all their labors; could the patrons of the Society have been present, they would not have repented their benevolence."

THE COLPORTEUR-BOAT "BETHEL."—Two years ago, a colporteur-boat was set afloat upon the Mississippi, manned by two experienced colporteurs, and supplied with books and Bibles, for the purpose of visiting the places on the banks of the river, and the boats that navigate these Western waters.

Another boat, manned by one of the same colporteurs, who is a minister, aided by his three sons, one of whom is but twelve years old, was set afloat November 1, 1849. At the first place they visited they remained several days, preaching and distributing books, and in connection with their efforts about fifteen persons made a profession of religion. While there, a young man visited the Bethel, and taking a much-worn copy of Baxter's Call from his pocket, told the colporteur that he had given that book to him two years ago, and that he hoped it had been blessed to his salvation, and that of his mother and sister.

"We next visited," says the colporteur, "a place where we had staid fifteen days on our previous visit, when the town was new, but noted for its dissipation. There were then seven 'doggeries' in the place, but before we left them we procured a number of signatures to the temperance pledge. An old gentleman who had been furious in his opposition on our former visit, was now the first to welcome us, and told us that there had been a great reformation; that now there was but one place where whiskey was sold, and that they had a flourishing temperance society, numbering 100 members, and what was far better, a church of 80 members, with regular preaching. He further told us, that he was then an infidel, and that we had given him a tract, which he put in his pocket intending to burn it. As he took it out to do so, he concluded that he would not be a coward, but would read it first. It was Dr. Mason's 'Conversation with a Young Traveller.' The argument was too strong for him, and rendered him uneasy. He concluded to read Nelson's Cause and Cure, of which he had heard much said, which made him more miserable. He continued to read and pray, until the Lord, for Christ's sake, pardoned his sins.

"We found a wonderful change for the better at all the places we had previously visited. A Sabbath-school that we had organized in one place was in successful operation; they had also had a revival of religion, had organized a small church and had regular preaching, and spoke of the Society's publications as the instrumental cause of the reformation. We also found that an influence for good had extended down the river from this place some twenty miles. They had also enjoyed a revival of religion, and had organized a church with near 60 members. We preached there several times, and sent appointments down the river before us. The people would go with us from place to place for ten miles down the river, so anxious were they to have preaching. Many grown persons attended who had never heard a sermon before.

"We revisited a place which, up to the time of our first visit, had been under Roman-catholic influence. At that time we met much opposition from the priest and his friends; but we remained there ten days, preaching and circulating the precious truth. On landing at this time we learned, that soon after we left before, the people refused to attend mass, at which the priest became offended, and left them. Some Protestant ministers commenced preaching there, a revival followed, and about 40 persons professed religion. They now have a Presbyterian church of about 50 members, and no priest. A lawyer, who on our first visit was a professed infidel, and who was then prevailed upon to take D'Aubigné's History, now welcomed us to the place, and told us that he wanted another set of the History, as those he had were worn out. 'But,' said he, 'they have done a great work in our town; they have run off the priest, and converted all the infidels, and me with the rest, who was worse than all.'

"We again launched our boat, meeting with cheering news all the way to Memphis. There were perhaps 200 flat-boats at that place, all of which we supplied with books. In this city I met a young man with a basket of novels, and inquired if he sold many. He replied that he had not sold many in Memphis, but that he had sold a great many in New Orleans. I told him our books were much better and cheaper, and induced him to examine them, when he seemed to be astonished at their cheapness. He acknowledged that it was wrong to circulate the trash he was carrying. He went to the Bethel, and as the result, was prevailed upon to give up his novels and to sell the Society's works. He purchased about $20 worth of books, and went to work declaring that he had sold his last novel. There were two others in the city selling novels. This late novel-vender met with them, told them what he was doing, urged them to lay aside their novels and circulate the truth. He prevailed, and soon they were at the Bethel with empty baskets, which I filled with our publications. On the 12th of January we left Memphis, and no one to sell novels.

"I made it a point, as soon as I boarded a boat, to open a package of tracts, and scatter them around. This I always found to be a favorable introduction. I found less dissipation on the steam-boats than formerly. A lad, who kept bar on one boat, remarked to a friend of mine, that he 'should be glad when that man with the tracts left the boat, for he could sell no whiskey while he stayed.' "

KENTUCKY.

Sixteen colporteurs in this state have sought out more than eight thousand families, circulated among them fourteen thousand five hundred volumes by sale, and more than four thousand gratuitously, besides other important results as recorded in the statistical table.

LITERAL "VALLEY OF THE SHADOW OF DEATH."—A colporteur writes, "In one neighborhood, in visiting ten families, I found six without the Bible. In one, the husband had been a professor of religion eight years, and his wife four. Both could read and were able to buy, and yet they were living without the word of life.

“In a valley in the southeastern part of this county, I am confident that not three families in twenty have any religious books except the Bible, and some, even professors, think it a sin to read any other book, however valuable it may be. Many of them are engaged in making, selling, and drinking ardent spirits. In this narrow valley, a mile in width and eight miles in length, I found eight distilleries, several of which are owned by members of the church. The people live, as might be expected, in the most degraded condition, in the entire neglect of every thing calculated to elevate and dignify human nature. Could the patrons of the Society take a tour with us through such a valley as this, and see for themselves the condition of society, the neglect of mental and moral culture, they would find great reason to be thankful that their means had been appropriated to the noble purpose of driving back these dark clouds of ignorance and superstition from the minds of their countrymen, that the glorious light of truth may shine upon the depraved heart and darkened intellect.”

COLPORTAGE APPRECIATED BY A CIVILIAN.—A gentleman in one of the southwestern states, who has recently been canvassing his county as a candidate for political office, gives the following testimony relative to the benefits of colportage on that field. “The publications of your Society are read with avidity; I find them wherever I go. In more than one instance have I found light springing up in dark places, and I have seen the tear gather in the humble Christian’s eye, as he invoked God’s blessing on your institution. In my wanderings through our country, I have met the larger portion of our citizens, and in many instances I find that the visit of the colporteur is quite an era in their history. The books which they have obtained are carefully read. Christians are awaking from their lethargy, and the missionary spirit is steadily increasing.”

OHIO.

An unprecedented amount of labor in this department has been performed in Ohio. Forty-nine regular colporteurs and seven students have labored two hundred and seventy-two months; have visited more than forty-five thousand families, conversing on religious themes or praying with more than twenty thousand, and have effected a circulation by sale of more than fifty-two thousand volumes, and more than twelve thousand gratuitously. They also held or addressed more than nine hundred public or prayer meetings. Of the families visited, six thousand nine hundred were habitual neglecters of the sanctuary, and about four thousand were Roman-catholics.

Mr. SEELY WOOD continues his useful labors as superintendent of colportage. His report shows that 125 colporteurs, including 19 students devoting only their vacations to the work, have been in commission the whole or part of the year, for the field assigned to his supervision.

“Of these colporteurs, 40 have been located in Ohio, (six others report to the Pittsburg agency,) 33 in Indiana, 16 in Kentucky, 21 in Tennessee, 4 in the western counties of North Carolina, 2 in North Alabama, 3 in Mississippi, (one in East Mississippi reports to the Mobile agency,) 2 in Arkansas, 3 in the eastern part of Illinois, and 1 on the Mississippi river.

“The statistical report of these colporteurs shows that 623 months and 5 days colporteur labor have been performed by them, 93,873 families visited, of whom 5,987 were Roman-catholics, 13,546 were destitute of all religious books except the Bible, 6,656 without a copy of the Bible, and 15,753 who habitually neglect evangelical preaching.

“Of the families visited, 45,205 have been conversed with on personal religion or prayed with, 2,779 have been furnished with a Bible or Testament by the colporteur, $42,683 81 worth of the Society's publications have been circulated, of which $5,667 56 worth have been distributed gratuitously.

“Though the prevalence of the cholera deterred many students and others from entering upon the work, and prevented this agency making that advance the past year which was hoped, the circulation of publications exceeds that of the preceding year $2,100 63.

“The practicability of colportage on the wharves and steam-boats of our principal thoroughfares, is fully settled by the results of the efforts made by colporteurs commissioned for this work. One is now located at Cleveland, one at Cincinnati, another at Louisville, and I would recommend that another be located at Memphis, as soon as a suitable person for the field can be obtained. These colporteurs have all been subjected to great opposition from the venders of trash, and been called to exercise great patience and forbearance under the combined insults and petty persecutions of the most unprincipled hawkers of books which can be found in the land; but in every case have succeeded in maintaining their ground, and exhausting the force of such opposition. Much evil has been prevented and great good accomplished by these efforts on our wharves.”

INCIDENTS OF COLPORTAGE ON STEAM-BOATS.—A colporteur engaged upon steam-boats in Cincinnati writes, “I have succeeded in furnishing many a traveller with a good book, who otherwise would have got a novel. A man came to me on the steam-boat and said, ‘Nothing has ever done me so much good as the tract you gave me some time ago.’ He is now rejoicing in God his Saviour. Another inquired if I was the man who gave him a tract last fall. When I told him that I probably was, he said, ‘I never read any thing like it.’ He wished to select some books, but time did not allow it. He had become a Christian. One Saturday a Christian bought Baxter's Call and gave it to a woman who was indifferent on the subject of religion. As the boat did not leave that day, I met the lady on Monday, and was rejoiced to find that she had hopefully been brought to repentance by reading the book. A lady said to me, ‘I never made a better use of fifteen cents than when I bought Henry on Meekness of you last fall. I read it on the boat, and when I got home I lent it, and it has been read by almost every family in my neighborhood. Every one has been pleased with it, and doubtless it has done good.’

"I showed D'Aubigné's History to a captain of a boat who thought my books too religious for him. As it was so cheap, he determined to buy it for his family. When I met him again, he told me that having had some leisure for examining the work, he became so much interested that he could not stop until he had read the whole. He then turned to three gentlemen who stood by, and said, 'I never read a novel that interested me so much.' Each of these gentlemen then took a set."

BOOKS IN THE RIGHT PLACE.—"In visiting a secluded neighborhood," writes a colporteur in Ohio, "I had to pass on foot three quarters of a mile through a trackless swamp, where the snow was ten inches deep and the mud some six inches deep under it, through which I had to wade, carrying my books. I soon became fatigued, and knelt down in the snow to pray and think whether I ought not to turn back; but knowing that these people had no sanctuary privileges, I pressed on, and after many such pauses finally succeeded in crossing the swamp.

"On entering the first house, the man and his wife sat by the fire in a pensive mood. Sir, said I, I have brought you some good books; would you like to get some? You have come to a poor place with your books, he replied, for we have no money. Then, said I, I have certainly come to the right place, for I have good religious books to give to those who have no money. But, sir, said he, you have come to a poor place for that too; religious books will do me no good now, for I am a lost sinner. Ah, said I, then I am in the right place again, for my books tell of Him who came to seek and to save those who are lost. I then went on to speak to him and his wife, who was also deeply serious, of the Saviour, and the riches of his grace. Indeed, said he, I never saw it in that way before. I will trust him for salvation. As we were about to engage in prayer, a stranger opened the door and came in. Fearing that he might introduce some secular subject, I rose and asked him abruptly, Sir, can you pray? Bursting into tears, he exclaimed, Yes, I can, and for this man too, for he is my brother. We all then knelt down, and wept and prayed together, and surely it was the gate of heaven. The young man afterwards told me that he came across the swamp to see his brother, as he had been in such a state of mind for several days that he feared he would destroy himself. I found interest in all the families of this neighborhood. The man of whom I have spoken has since moved out of the swamp that he may enjoy religious privileges, and with his wife has united with the church."

ANXIETY FOR GOOD BOOKS.—A colporteur in Ohio writes, "There appears to be an increasing anxiety among the people to procure the Society's books, even by some who were not friendly at my first visit. They now exerted themselves to borrow money from others, fearing that they might not have another opportunity for providing themselves with good books. One had laid by five dollars in gold, which he had kept ten or twelve months, waiting for my visit. Fearing that he should not be at home when I called, he came about four miles to the place where I deposited my books, and bought six dollars' worth. Calling at his house a few days after, I sold several more books to his family. Another travelled eight miles to my book depository, and bought several books, leaving word for me to call at his house as soon as I could. I did so, and sold four dollars' worth of books, and received one dollar as a donation to the Society. He insisted upon my visiting him again."

MICHIGAN.

Thirteen colporteurs have bestowed ninety months' labor on this state; have visited nearly seventeen thousand five hundred families, with more than fourteen thousand of whom they have held personal religious conversation or prayed. The sales have been limited on account of the scarcity of money, and amount to but eleven thousand volumes. Volumes granted, four thousand three hundred. More than three thousand two hundred families were habitual neglecters of the sanctuary, and a still larger number were destitute of all religious books except the Bible. Earnest appeals have been made for additional laborers, and the Committee desire to reach without delay the scattered and neglected families of the entire state.

FRUITS IN MICHIGAN.—A clerical colporteur in Michigan is permitted to take a cheering retrospect of his labors. "I have heard pleasing reports," says he, "of the good effects of the publications I have distributed. The tracts I gave in one neighborhood occasioned a good deal of discussion on the subject of religion, and every one exchanged tracts with his neighbor, so as to read them all. An abandoned drunkard who had received 'The Fool's Pence,' told my informant that the grog-shops had got the last of his fool's pence. He had then kept his resolution to drink no more for some time. 'Universalism not of God' completely cured a Universalist of his error. Another Universalist came for a book which I could not find. He however bought 'Pike's Persuasives' for his wife; she told me that he was reading it himself with great attention, and frequently wept over it. One Saturday in March, I sold James' Anxious Inquirer to a family, and gave them tracts. Returning that way the next Wednesday, I found the eldest son, seventeen years of age, a hopeful convert from reading that book and the tracts. I have seen him again recently. He says he finds much comfort in religious exercises. He was strongly inclined to prepare for the ministry, and I suppose has commenced his studies."

SHALL SUCH INFLUENCES BE MULTIPLIED?—We have seldom a more vivid and graphic report than the following, from the pen of a clerical colporteur in Michigan.

"The southern part of this county is thinly settled, heavily timbered, and most of the year the roads are very bad. The moral aspect of the field is appalling. One town has one sermon once a month. Another once in two weeks, in the evening. In the six towns I have visited, the whole amount of preaching will equal the stated labors of one man. The people are mostly poor, and many families are but little in advance of heathenism. In two neighborhoods the blessing of the Spirit has followed the labors of the volume enterprise.

"I visited a German family where the man spoke broken English. They had Doddridge's Rise and Progress and Bunyan's Pilgrim, which had been furnished them by the Society. Though poor, they were rich in faith. They had one neighbor, and both were deprived of all sanctuary privileges. Their neighbor was not a professor. I called on him. He had not attended a meeting in two years. I offered my books, but they had no money. He appeared thoughtful. 'Stranger,' said he, 'I want some books. There is not a day but I think on the claims of God. I want some books. Stranger, will you take some deer-skins?' I told him I would, and supplied him with two dollars' worth. I had been advised not to visit those families; but to me the visit was of precious interest.

"A Catholic received me kindly, purchased Nelson and Doddridge, and is apparently willing to embrace God's truth. A mother in Israel and her daughter burst into tears as I told them my business. I prayed with them. They were poor, and I gave them a book. Tears of joy flowed from the thought that others cared for their souls.

"I sent an appointment to an infidel neighborhood. I was advised not to go, as I should certainly be abused. They had in former years driven some ministers away who had attempted to preach, and had covered the benches of the school-house with dirt. I put my trust in God, and went tremblingly. They all came out to hear, and I was kindly treated. I gave Nelson on Infidelity to the leader, who promised to read it and circulate it. A few purchased books.

"One Sabbath, after preaching in the morning, I went by invitation to a stranger's house. The man was moral, the wife religious. She began to read a book before dinner. After getting dinner for us, she left the table to read, remarking, 'I had rather read than eat.' It was then three o'clock, and she had taken no food since breakfast. The book was Baxter's Call. Tears flowed as she read. They were out of money. The next day the husband went ten miles with produce to sell, in order to buy books, but he could get no money. I gave them Baxter's Call.

"And now, O my soul, bless the Lord. I thank God for the privilege of laboring in this cause. In the present state of this part of my field, colportage is indispensable. If the patrons of the Society could spend a little time in viewing the desolations of the land, they would redouble their energies. My heart is in the work. Faith looks forward to the period when these precious truths shall prove the power of God unto the salvation of thousands."

INDIANA.

Including nine students, no less than thirty-three colporteurs have been employed in this large and important state, who have devoted one hundred and seventy-six months to colportage. They have visited more than thirty thousand families, with more than half of whom they have conversed or prayed, holding more than nine hundred meetings, and effecting the sale of twenty-eight thousand five hundred volumes, besides seven thousand four hundred distributed gratuitously. About one-sixth of the families were habitual neglecters of the sanctuary, and nearly four thousand had no religious books. The Committee rejoice in the prosperity of the enterprise in this immense and needy state, and trust the present arrangements for the still wider prosecution of the work will be favored of God.

NEED OF INSTRUCTION.—An agent in Indiana writes, "The need of a more thorough and extensive application of colportage to this great and rapidly increasing state, is every day becoming more apparent. There are very few bookstores where evangelical books are kept at all. I do not know of any where the Society's publications or any similar book can be bought without paying nearly double the prices asked by the Society. There are forty or fifty thousand adults in this state that cannot read. Some of the preachers cannot read. A colporteur in whom I have all confidence stated to me, that near his own residence is a minister who preaches regularly, but is not able to read a word. He is friendly to the Society, and encourages the distribution of the books among his people. When the colporteur urged him to learn to read, he replied, that he had too much to do on the farm. A pastor assured me that in a recent exploration, the family of a regular preacher was found destitute of the Bible.

"I inquired of an old man at work by the road-side if they had any church in his neighborhood. 'No,' he replied; 'but we have a heap of preaching in the schoolhouse yonder.' When I inquired what kind of preaching, he replied, 'We have all kinds, Methodist, Baptist, Reformers, New Lights, United Brethren, Universalist, and Presbyterian; but most of us belong to the big church. I don't think much of churches and preaching. It's all a mixed-up mess to me.' There are many such men. When there is 'preaching in the school-house,' they go. No matter what the creed may be, they are all ear, and hearing all kinds without comparing any with the word of God, and perhaps having no good books to teach them true religion, they become perplexed and disgusted with the various contradictions they hear, until at last they settle down in infidelity, though they may still go to hear preaching. Multitudes do not go to any nominally evangelical preaching; but many that attend are really perishing for lack of spiritual instruction. Within the last eight months, a colporteur in a county where there is a flourishing college, in visiting 1,000 families, found 216 destitute of the Bible, and 300 destitute of all other good books. Another, in visiting 1,374 families, found 1,007 destitute of all good books except the Bible, and 832 that habitually neglected all evangelical worship."

A TRACT ANECDOTE.—The following striking fact, related by one of the general agents of the Society, illustrates impressively the fact that the Holy Spirit often employs very feeble means in bringing about his blessed results. "Last week," says he, "among other donations, I received that of the little four-page tract, 'My Spirit shall not always Strive,' from a highly esteemed minister in Indiana, who said it was the means of his conversion. In 1837, while an officer of a brig lying in New York harbor, a tract distributor came aboard and handed him a tract. He received it very ungraciously, cursing the man to his face, asking him what wages he received, and telling him he might be in better business. The distributor mildly expostulated with him, and besought him to put the tract in his pocket, and when he should be at leisure to give it a careful reading. Impressed by his earnest manner and tearful eye, he put it in his pocket. While at sea, some time after, he discovered the tract in his pocket, and read it. Its solemn and awakening truths went like an arrow to his heart. During the remainder of the voyage, he was in great agony lest the Holy Spirit might leave him before his peace was made with God. 'O, brother,' said he, 'could I then have had your other tract, "What is it to believe in Christ?" I should have found peace many months sooner than I did.' After his conversion he became very active as a Christian. His efforts were blessed to the conversion of many sailors. In the course of a year or two he abandoned the sea, and for several years has been laboring with no ordinary degree of success as a preacher of the gospel, having been the means of organizing several churches and of converting many souls. When I look on this little tract, and think what trains of blessing and salvation never to end have been started by its feeble instrumentality, I find in it a moving argument for increased faithfulness in sowing such seed myself, and in stirring up others to sow it more bountifully. O that Christians understood and realized how God's Spirit is hovering over dark, ignorant, sin-ruined minds, waiting to have such seed sown there, that He may cause it to spring up and bear fruit to the glory of God."

ILLINOIS.

Twenty-one colporteurs have devoted one hundred and forty-one months' time to this state; have visited twenty-three thousand four hundred families, with eleven thousand of whom they have held religious conversation or prayer; have sold twenty-two thousand volumes, and granted nearly five thousand.

DESTITUTION.—This simple statement of facts is made by a colporteur in Southern Illinois, relative to a large district of that state which he has recently traversed, where there are but two settled pastors, and where moral desolation reigns. "On my taking leave of a lady in M—— county, she requested me to raise for them the Macedonian cry. As you travel to the east, a moral waste surrounds you on every side. Seldom does the voice of him who proclaimeth good tidings of great joy break the dreary solitude. Small is the amount of religious influence which brings its life-giving waters to fertilize this dreary region. In one county-seat containing more than three hundred inhabitants, only four male persons have made any profession of religion.

"A man told me that he had lived more than three years on a creek, and that he never heard of such a thing as preaching. He was once told of a person that was to preach five miles from the place where he lived, but he 'guessed he never came back.' I inquired how they spent their Sabbaths. He replied, at shooting-matches, or in drinking and gambling, the old people being the leaders. The truth of this sad picture was corroborated by two Methodist preachers who travelled over that section of country. The morals of the people are low. Many are unable to read. Religion is not attended to or cared for. Their worldly condition is uncomfortable. Brethren, can any thing be done for that section of country? There is but little prospect of selling books. I leave the question with you, knowing that it will be properly disposed of."

SPIRITUAL HARVEST.—A clerical colporteur in Illinois, at the close of a year's labors, writes,

"God, who giveth the increase, has greatly blessed my labors and the Society's publications the last year. In one place that I visited last spring, I organized a Sabbath-school and supplied them with books and tracts. At that time there was but one family altar in the settlement; now there is but one family that has not a family altar. It is thought that there have been fifty conversions in this place. I organized another Sabbath-school in another place about the same time, under similar circumstances, and supplied them with books and tracts. The result is still more encouraging. Many have been converted, two churches have been formed, and a meeting-house built.

"In another place which I recently visited, I left a book or tract either by sale or grant in every house. I held evening meetings, and left an appointment to spend the Sabbath with them in about four weeks. The Sabbath came, and the school-house was filled with attentive hearers. Two men were firing guns all day within a few rods of our place of worship. I met them again the next Friday evening. The congregation increased in numbers and interest. On the Sabbath no guns were heard, but the cries of those who were convicted of sin were heard in all parts of the house. I have since heard that the work of grace is still advancing.

"I have just received a letter from a clergyman stating that in a settlement where I visited and scattered books and tracts, a revival of religion occurred since I left, and as many as fifty are anxiously inquiring what they must do to be saved. There are now twelve revivals of religion on my field, seven of which are in back settlements."

A MISSIONARY'S TESTIMONY.—There are doubtless many colporteurs to whom such a tribute as the following, volunteered by a home missionary in Illinois, could with equal justice be given.

"During a season of revival in which I have been laboring for some weeks, I have had opportunity to see and know his manner of operation in his chosen sphere of labor, and I can truly say that he comes nearer my idea of a colporteur than any one I have seen. True, he cannot preach a sermon, but he can make a most thrilling exhortation. He cannot write a good article for the Messenger, nor perhaps make a good report, but he can go into every cabin and hut all over these woods and prairies, where no minister ever goes, and tell them of Jesus Christ, and pray with them, and sell them the precious volumes of your excellent Society. He is always ready to engage in an evening meeting with people of any religious denomination, and can always commend himself as a Christian and a faithful laborer in the field of the Society. He is so entirely disengaged from all worldly plans and schemes, that I see no reason why he may not continue in your service for years, if you shall see fit to reappoint him."

MISSOURI.

Unusual efficiency has been given to colportage in this state during the latter part of the year, and there is some promise of the speedy cultivation of the entire field. Sixteen colporteurs have been employed, who have hunted out twelve thousand families, widely dispersed, and have circulated more than fourteen thousand seven hundred volumes, by sale or gift.

The Rev. CHARLES PEABODY has continued his highly acceptable labors as the superintendent of colportage in Missouri, Illinois, and Iowa, in conjunction with his duties as general agent. Among other interesting features of colportage, his annual report notices its application to the thoroughfares. "Notwithstanding the interruption for four months of the pestilence," he writes, "books to the value of $1,290 have been sold on steam-boats and the levee. This is 'casting bread upon the waters,' which according to the divine promise shall be found after many days. The publications sold here are borne by travellers and emigrants to all parts of the great West. In my trip last fall to Iowa, I found some of them in the hands of a settler, who informed me that he 'bought them of a man on a steam-boat at St. Louis.' You may form some idea of the importance of this work from the statement of the harbor-master for 1849, that the number of steam-boat arrivals was 2,975—about eight daily. Each boat on an average brings 200 passengers. Consequently the number of people who arrived during the year, was 595,000. Nearly as many have departed; making say a million of people who pass through the city annually. Travellers sometimes remain a day or two; always an hour or more upon the boats. This affords an opportunity of getting our publications into their hands."

A German colporteur convention was held at St. Louis in July, attended by the laborers in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Wisconsin. Rev. Mr. Rauschenbusch and Rev. Mr. Peabody were present, and participated in the exercises, an account of which was published in the Messenger. Among the resolutions passed at the meeting was the following:

Resolved, That in our opinion the number of German colporteurs in the states of Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, and Wisconsin, should be fourfold as large as at present, in order to visit and to supply with evangelical books and tracts all the German families scattered over such wide districts of country; and that therefore we shall most cordially welcome every new brother entering upon the same work with us.

I O W A .

Four colporteurs have traversed some of the destitute parts of this new state; have visited five thousand five hundred families, with three thousand eight hundred of whom they have conversed or prayed, and among whom they have circulated six thousand two hundred volumes, by sale or gratuitously.

W I S C O N S I N .

The operations in Wisconsin have kept pace, in some degree, with the rapid increase of an enterprising and intelligent population. Perhaps no state, in proportion to the number of inhabitants, is better supplied with efficient laborers than this. Ten colporteurs have visited nearly twelve thousand families, nearly one-third of whom were habitual neglecters of the sanctuary, partly perhaps from their frontier position, and about one-sixth of whom had no religious books. Among these households, thirteen thousand five hundred volumes have been circulated, by sale or gratuitously. To a great extent, the population need to be supplied with religious reading at their doors, or they must remain an indefinite period without such instruction. Distance from market, poverty, or indifference forbid the hope of the general introduction of good books, without the employment of agencies like colportage.

"It is of vast moment," writes a colporteur, "that a religious influence be cast upon this whole field, and the present is the most favorable time. I am satisfied, from personal observation and from facts that I have gathered, that not over one-twentieth part of the people attend any kind of religious meeting on the Sabbath. There are about 20,000 children in the northern part of this state, who should be in the Sabbath-school, but only about 3,000 have been gathered in. There are none at the present time who are looking after these children, except it be the colporteurs of this Society. Intemperance is a growing evil. We want temperance books to scatter among the people. Infidelity of every kind abounds. The stated preaching upon the Sabbath seems to be but a slight check upon the heavy tide of scepticism that is setting strongly here. Scarcely a tithe of the people is reached in this way. I feel that we must have more books, and more laborers, both in and out of the pulpit, or infidelity will become the scourge of this land."

FRONTIER LABORS.—A colporteur in Wisconsin, after speaking of the almost incredible advance in the population and settlement of that new state, says, "American pioneers have literally taken possession of the whole land. Nor is the tide of emigration settling upon any boundary. It continues to roll onward and onward. I am weary, and almost discouraged in attempting to keep pace with it, in scattering the truth on the frontier of our settlements. One year removes the boundary many miles in an unknown, unexplored region. I feel it important to man the outposts, to carry light along the frontier, to endeavor to pay the frontmost pioneer an early visit with precious gospel truths. I often forgot that there is any labor or self-denial in the blessed work of the colporteur, while visiting families lost to the world beyond the line of settlement. I love to go there and speak of Christ, and supply the famishing with the bread of life. It often does my heart good to witness the eager longing for some religious instruction, and to receive the hearty thanks of the poor and destitute for some precious volume sent to them by Christians. I love the colporteur work, because it is throwing light upon the dark corners of the land. I feel encouraged to hope that my labor is not in vain in the Lord. The influence of the reading sent into destitute settlements in the northern part of this state, is exerting a very salutary influence in restraining immorality, and deepening the work of the gospel.

"To preach the gospel in Northern Wisconsin, it is necessary to use seven different languages, for so many are living languages among the people. You sent me a box containing books in six languages. In one week I was able to supply those who could read five of them, and those who read the sixth will soon be supplied. In this view, the Society are doing a great work in sending the gospel of Christ to those who otherwise must remain in ignorance of it. No one can fail to observe the happy adaptation of the colporteur work to a field where so many languages are spoken. The foreign population is fast increasing. There are already 7,000 Germans in Milwaukee, and 15,000 Norwegians within the bounds of the state, and a host of foreign emigrants are flocking in from different countries. My mind turns to the Society as an agency to scatter light amid the darkness that prevails."

MINNESOTA.

With the sanction of the Committee, a colporteur made an excursion from Wisconsin to this new territory, partly for the sake of exploring the ground. He visited eleven hundred families, and put in circulation about one thousand volumes. As the population increases, the Committee hope to have a suitable number of permanent laborers on this outpost of civilization.

INCIDENT IN MINNESOTA.—A colporteur in Minnesota, while laboring in a village in that territory, found two men playing cards in a gambling-saloon. As they would not buy any books, he exchanged a Sabbath Manual and another book for their cards. He also gave Baxter's Call to a lady whom he exhorted to seek the salvation of her soul. On revisiting the village three weeks after, he learned that the man with whom he had exchanged the books had closed his saloon on the Sabbath, had attended church, and was regarded as an anxious inquirer after salvation. He gave him another book on repentance, with some tracts on intemperance. The woman to whom he gave Baxter's Call had professed faith in Christ, and there was a good deal of religious interest in the village.

CANADA.

Two German colporteurs have devoted the entire year to the most self-denying labor among their forty thousand countrymen in Canada West. They have visited more than five thousand families, and have circulated over three thousand books, chiefly by sale. They report nearly two hundred prayer-meetings held, or public meetings addressed. More than one-fifth of the families were previously destitute of all religious books except the Bible. The success of these labors seems to have been quite proportioned to those within the United States, and would encourage the extension of the system of colportage generally to the neighboring provinces. And the spiritual blessing manifestly bestowed may be regarded, perhaps, as the earnest of better days for the people dwelling on our northern frontier.

MEXICO.

Early in the year, one of the colporteurs in Mexico left the service of the Society. Another came to the North to complete his medical education, with a view to his greater usefulness in a country where a physician is regarded with a respect next to that rendered to the priesthood. He is now in commission, and expects to return to the scene of his former labors as soon as circumstances shall allow. The third has persevered during the year; at one period on the Rio Grande, at another far in the interior; favored by the people, opposed by the priests, but hitherto protected by Providence, and prospered in all his work. The number of families visited has exceeded five thousand, mostly Spanish, nearly all of whom were previously destitute of religious books and other means of evangelical instruction. About two thousand books, and several thousand tracts in the Spanish tongue, have been put in circulation.

The superintendent of colportage at New Orleans writes, "Our colporteur in Mexico circulates nearly every thing we have in Spanish, but Kirwan's Letters, and the 'Virgin Mary.' The desire of the people for Bibles, especially for the New Testament, and other religious books, the removal in part or whole of the duties thereon, the weakening influence of the priesthood as religious knowledge increases, all give reason to hope that the barrier raised by popery against the introduction of a pure gospel will, ere long, fall, and the word and work of God have free course and be glorified in Mexico."

A COLPORTEUR LASSED IN MEXICO.—The superintendent of colportage at New Orleans also states, that as a colporteur was returning from Parras, a Mexican threw a lasso which missed him, knocking off his hat. A second throw was successful, and his body was enclosed in the noose. The Mexican's horse started off at full speed, the lasso was drawn out its length, and the colporteur expected to be hurled from his horse, and drawn away to death. But the hand that took off Pharaoh's chariot-wheels in the Red sea, loosened the rope from the robber's saddle, and the colporteur was undisturbed upon his horse. He gathered up the instrument of death safely in his own hands, while his intended murderer rode hastily out of sight.

ALMS WITHOUT ARMS.—"I have often heard the remark," says one of the colporteurs in Mexico, "'You ought to have been here while the army was here.' I once thought so; now I think differently. I was afraid that as the army withdrew the door would close. It remains open. God can disseminate truth and restrain the power of Satan without the presence of the bayonet or an army. Had we been circulating books and Bibles in the presence of our army, men, and perhaps even Christians, would have been ready to ascribe in some measure to our country's arms that which belongs to the Almighty alone. Now is the time to act. Let us do our duty. Send them the truth, and men to circulate it, and although we may not live to see it, Mexico will be free. She will be in reality what she is now but in name, a free, happy, Christian nation."

CALIFORNIA.

Thomas J. Nevins, Esq., having performed acceptable service in Bridgeport, Conn., and vicinity, with a view to familiar practical acquaintance with the colporteur system, sailed in August in the "Mechanic's Own," for California. About the first of February he landed at San Francisco, and immediately entered upon his labors. He was received with great kindness by the resident ministers and by active friends of the Society who were apprized of his coming. Immediate measures were taken for the organization of an auxiliary society. On the 24th of February a large public meeting was held in the Baptist church, San Francisco, for this purpose, and "The Pacific Tract Society" was formed. Letters pledging cordial coöperation were read from the presbytery of California at Benicia; Rev. Mr. Cauders, Napa Valley; Rev. Mr. Woodbridge, Benicia; Rev. Mr. Woods, Stockton; Rev. Mr. Douglas, San José; and Rev. Mr. Blakesley, Pueblo. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Wheeler of the Baptist church, Rev. Mr. Taylor of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Rev. Mr. Hunt of the Congregational church. The officers of the Society are as follows: Rev. O. C. Wheeler, of San Francisco, President; Dr. H. Cobb, San José, Mr. J. L. L. F. Warren, Sacramento City, and Col. Silas Casey, Benicia, Vice-presidents; Thomas J. Nevins, Corresponding Secretary and Depositary; Willard Leonard, Recording Secretary, and David L. Ross, Treasurer, with a board of directors embracing many of the prominent friends of truth in different parts of the state. At the close of the meeting a collection and subscription was taken up, amounting to $1,000, and arrangements were proposed for procuring a lot and erecting a depository.

The despatches by the Cherokee, containing an interesting report of the addresses, etc., were published in an edition of the American Messenger for California, large numbers of which were sent out by the steamers. We hail this movement with great satisfaction, and would gladly insert the proceedings in this document, but for lack of space.

OREGON.

The new auxiliary at Oregon City has made considerable remittances for publications, and additional supplies have been shipped in charge of the Hon. E. S. Hamilton, the recently appointed secretary of the territory. A grant of 15,000 pages was also made for the personal distribution of the secretary. The officers of the auxiliary have requested the employment of one or more colporteurs for the territory, and it is hoped that an early supply of laborers may be raised up. The Rev. Mr. Spalding, one of the survivors of the cruel massacre of missionaries on the Willamette, has ordered forty copies of the Messenger, and the Committee have made him a grant of publications.

APPEAL FOR A COLPORTEUR AT PANAMA.—A Christian merchant on his way to California, urges strongly that an efficient agent be sent to Panama with a supply of tract publications and Bibles, and adds, “Independent of the good which might thus be done to the native population by a faithful laborer resident here with a supply of Spanish Bibles and publications, a most blessed influence would also be exerted on our own countrymen, from 500 to 700 of whom are passing through this place each month, and who stay here on an average not less than two weeks. They have no regular place of religious worship to go to, or religious restraints thrown around them, but in too many instances, I am sorry to say, are led into temptations and sins from which they would have recoiled with horror before leaving their homes. Here is a field for doing good to our needy and suffering countrymen which I fear has been too much overlooked. While such numbers are passing here, there will continue to be many in want, in suffering, in affliction, in the pains of sickness, and the agonies of death. And while ministering to the temporal and bodily necessities of such, what an opportunity will be afforded for the faithful servant of Christ to minister to those perishing in their sins, the bread of life.” He closes by urging that speedy measures be employed to establish the gospel at Panama, and to set in operation influences for good at that point on the Pacific coast, which shall be felt to the latest generations.

We have also received repeated applications from the seaman’s chaplain at Valparaiso, South America, for a colporteur to be sent there. The field is extensive, and the prospects of usefulness, particularly at the present time, are inviting. If the lovers of religious liberty and gospel truth could now be induced to enter that field, good may be accomplished. Will not some self-denying Christian respond to the affecting appeal of the chaplain, “Can I not say any thing that will induce you to send a colporteur? Is this poor field to have no man’s attention? Are not the souls of men in this nation valuable? I wonder that I have been left so single-handed. Surely one man might be found who would come to bear the gospel to the doors of even the ignorant Chilians.”

“THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY,” LONDON.

This parent Tract Society in May, 1849, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary or jubilee. The friends of the institution contributed £8,659, or about $41,500, as a jubilee fund; and at 6 o'clock on the morning of May 9, a large meeting assembled in the London Tavern for prayer and praise, and to recount the way in which the Society had been led, on which occasion deeply interesting historical facts were communicated, though not one of the original founders survived to join in these exercises.

The origin of the Society was traced to the issuing of the tract “The Good Old Way,” by Rev. George Burder, which was sent to every family in the town of Lancaster, where he then preached, and to the issuing of the Cheap Repository Tracts, by Hannah More, about the years 1793 to 1797. Mr. Burder was anxious that tracts more strictly religious than those of the Cheap Repository should be issued. He conferred with Rev. Samuel Greatheed on the subject, and they published six Village Tracts at their own expense, employing a man to sell them at one penny each. But that man became a bankrupt, which led Mr. Burder to feel the importance of having a Society for printing and distributing cheap tracts. On the morning of May 8, 1799, just before the annual missionary sermon in Surrey chapel, where Rev. Rowland Hill so long preached, Mr. Burder obtained Mr. Hill’s consent, at the close of the sermon, to request a meeting in the school-room to consider the importance of forming such a society. This was done. After consultation at this little meeting, it was agreed that it was necessary to appoint “some other time” for considering the subject; when Mr. Burder promptly said, “I will appoint to-morrow morning, at 7 o’clock.”

At 7 o’clock, May 9, 1799, about thirty godly men assembled, and the society was formed. Rev. Rowland Hill asked if there was not a little cant in the term Religious in the title, and if Christian would not be better; but the title, “THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY,” was agreed on. Among others who early engaged in it were the excellent Joseph Reyner, the first treasurer; Rev. Joseph Hughes, the first secretary; Rev. John Townsend, Rev. John Campbell, Rev. Dr. W. Newman; Rev. Legh Richmond, the first clerical secretary; and Messrs. Hardcastle, Tarn, Robert Steven, J. B. Wilson, and others.

In the first year, 34 tracts were printed, the receipts were £467, and the circulation 200,000 copies. In the second year, 27 new tracts were added; in the third year but one, and in the fourth year not one; but the circulation continued to increase, and in the tenth year, 1809, it rose to 1,549,000 copies, and the receipts to £2,619.

In 1816, Mr. William Lloyd joined the Society, whose life has been since identified with every step of its progress. In 1818 Mr. George Stokes, an intelligent and pious young merchant of London, also devoted his labors to this object, and became one of the Society's main-springs. Before he died, in 1847, aged 56, he had written 200 volumes and tracts now on the Society's catalogue, of which he lived to see 14,000,000 copies put into circulation.

In 1819, at the suggestion of Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Stokes, the issuing of children's books was commenced, there being now on the children's list about 1,700 publications, mostly small, and many of them beautifully illustrated, the circulation of which is about 4,000,000 copies annually.

About the year 1822 the Society issued Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, which was followed by other evangelical volumes, several of them stereotyped at the expense of benevolent individuals, the number of which has now been increased to not far from 500 volumes.

In 1829 the receipts rose to £22,600, the circulation to 10,000,000, and the new publications to 182; and in 1839 the amounts nearly equalled those reported May, 1849, which were, new publications, 223; receipts, nearly £60,000; circulation, 18,223,900 publications; making, in fifty years, nearly 500,000,000 tracts and books circulated, in 110 languages and dialects. The whole number of tracts and books, large and small, which have been placed on the Society's list in fifty years, is 4,925; and the Society's total receipts in that period in donations, were about £145,000; receipts from all sources about £1,200,000, or $5,760,000; the Society's gratuitous operations amounting to about £151,000, or $724,800.

It is an interesting fact, that the minutes of the Religious Tract Society for December 5, 1802, show that "Mr. Charles, of Bala, having introduced the subject, which had been previously mentioned by Mr. Tarn, of dispersing Bibles in Wales, the committee resolved, That it would be highly desirable to stir up the public mind to the dispersion of Bibles generally;" and that the records of the Tract Society contain, in the language of Mr. Jones, Secretary, "the first minute which relates to the formation of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and all the subsequent minutes connected with that noble Society, till the very day preceding its formation, when the excellent Granville Sharpe took the chair."

In June last the Rev. Dr. Knox, chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Tract Society, delegated to visit the Society in London, was cordially welcomed by their committee, and mingled in their counsels, with mutual congratulations, gratitude, and joy in what it has pleased God graciously to accomplish through the two institutions, to make known the Redeemer's name throughout the earth.

FOREIGN AND PAGAN LANDS.

The providence of God, and the dispensations of the Spirit, seem evidently to concur with prophecy in indicating the approach of the world's redemption. Though there are some reflux waves, and the elements rage, as of late on continental Europe, the majestic tide is still rising, and He who "weighs the mountains in scales," and holds "the waters in the hollow of his hand," is moving forward his own designs. Commerce in its ramifications penetrating every habitable corner of the earth; the intercommunication of the nations; the rapid diffusion of intelligence by the press, itself propelled and its issues spread by agencies of which man a few years since had not dreamed; and the Spirit of God accompanying his truth, are waking a slumbering world, and "preparing the way of the Lord." On every Christian, every minister, every missionary, and every benevolent institution are devolved new and high responsibilities. This Society has been attempting in some degree to meet these responsibilities: thankful for what God has enabled her to do; sorrowing that she has done no more, and with an eye no more single to the glory of the Redeemer.

In this work the Society's relations to all kindred institutions, missions, and laborers abroad, and to all our highly respected Foreign Missionary Boards connected with the several Christian denominations, are cordial and fraternal—the Society wishing, in its sphere, as far as possible to occupy providential openings; and the Missionary Boards and missionaries cheerfully employing their efficient agency in applying the Society's appropriations, and diffusing the truths issued as far as God gives them access to perishing men. This kind Christian coöperation, so essential to the usefulness of the Society abroad, the Committee would notice with especial gratitude to esteemed beloved brethren and to God.

In view of all the light communicated during the year, from foreign stations and missionary institutions at home, and amid claims of unparalleled extent and interest from our own country, the Committee rejoice that they have been enabled to pay over for foreign lands the total sum of $15,000, which has been carefully distributed, as it appeared to be the most urgently needed for immediate use; though they are compelled to state, that recent communications show that at several important mission stations the sums given will not meet the demands of the year; it having become distinctly evident, that while the foreign press is in its present state of efficiency, no sum less than $20,000 will supply the annual want in this department of the Society's labors. The sums granted have been distributed as follows : namely,

For Toulouse, $300 ; Paris Tract Society, $500 ; Strasbourg, $100 ; Baptist Mission in France, $300 ; Belgium, $200 ; Italy, through the Italian Society at Geneva, $500 ; Hungary, $200 ; Barmen, for Baxter's Call or Pilgrim's Progress, $100 ; Hamburg, American Baptist Mission $700, Lower Saxony Tract Society $200 ; Denmark, $100 ; Sweden, $100 ; Russia, $500 ; Greece, Protestant Episcopal Mission $200, Mission of Board of Commissioners $300 ; Armenians, $1,000 ; Syria, $500 ; Nestorians, $600 ; Bombay, $500 ; Madras, $1,200 ; Ceylon, $900 ; Telogoos, Lutheran Mission $100, Baptist Mission $300 ; Orissa, $200 ; North India Missions, $2,000 ; Assam, $200 ; Siam, Baptist Mission $300, General Assembly's Board $400 ; China, Canton, Board of Commissioners $800, Southern Baptist Board $100 ; Hong Kong, $300 ; Ningpo, General Assembly's Mission $300, Baptist Mission $100 ; Shanghai, Southern Baptist Mission, $200 ; Sandwich Islands, $700 : total, $15,000.

The whole number of publications now approved for circulation abroad, and to which the Society's grants may be applied, is 2,490, including 207 volumes ; and the Society and the institutions it aids have issued publications in the following one hundred and eleven languages and dialects : namely,

Seneca, Mohawk, Delaware, Ojibwa, Otoe, or Iowa, Wea, Putawatomie, Shawanoe, Kansas, Osage, Ottawa, Abernauquis, Sioux, or Dakota, Pawnee, Creek, Choctaw, Cherokee, Nez Perces, Creole, or Negro-German, Negro-English, English, Welsh, French, Low Breton, Flemish, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, Dutch, German, Romanese, Lithuanian, Bohemian, Hungarian, Slavonian, Upper Wendish, Nether Wendish, Vandalian, Servian, Wallachian, Danish, Icelandic, Greenlandish, Esquimaux, Swedish, Norwegian, Polish, Judeo-Polish, Finnish, Lappish, Russ, Rival-Estonian, Dorpat-Estonian, Mongolian, Lettish, Tartar-Turkish, Thibetan, Bulgarian, Armenian, Armeno-Turkish, Hebrew, Hebrew-German, Hebrew-Spanish, Modern Greek, Greco-Turkish, Arabic, Syriac, Nestorian, Persian, Grebo, Gaboon, Basá, Caffer, Zulu, Sessuto, Wanika, Timneh, Mahratta, Goojuratce, Latin, Tamul, Telogoo, Oriya, Bengali, Canarese, Tulu, Hindui, or Dev Nagare, Hindoostani, or Urdu, Panjabi, or Gurmukhi, Cashmire, Burman, Peguan, Salong, Sgau Karen, Sho Karen, Kemmee, Siamese, Asamese, Tai, or Khamti, Singpho, Nága, Chinese, Japanese, Malay, Bugis, Javanese, Lettinese, Dyak, Hawaiian, Marquesas. Total, 111.

Several of these languages are printed in two characters, as the Mahratta in Balbud and Mord, the Urdu in native and Roman, the Hindui in Nagare and Kaithi, the Tai in Tai and Burman. The compound languages consist chiefly of the words of one in the letters of the other ; thus the Armeno-Turkish consists of common or familiar Turkish, with a few Armenian terms, printed in Armenian type.

At foreign mission stations this Society does not attempt to supply all the funds required for publishing tracts and books, as each mission may be expected to issue publications adapted to its particular circumstances and wants, which do not come within the principles and objects of this Society. Nor does this Society interpose any direction, or even counsel, as to what publications any mission shall issue: all it attempts is to furnish means, so far as desired, for issuing so many publications as accord with the Society's principles, and are so reported for the sanction of the Publishing Committee. The Society own no presses abroad, and leave the management of printing establishments at mission stations, and the character and amount of labor to be devoted to the distribution, exclusively to the respective missions and their Boards.

PRINCIPLES ON WHICH THE SOCIETY'S PECUNIARY GRANTS ARE APPLIED.

"The Society's pecuniary grants may be discreetly employed in whatever way is necessary for the translation, printing, and circulation of,

"1. This Society's publications; or,

"2. Faithful translations of the same;

"3. Faithful translations of portions of Scripture, as the ten commandments and other plain passages; or,

"4. Original tracts in foreign languages, faithful translations of which into English shall have been approved by the publishing Committee."

"The above rules are not considered as presenting any obstacle to putting to press at a foreign station original tracts, not bearing the Society's imprint, as soon as prepared; and placing the expense of so many of such tracts as shall be sanctioned by the Publishing Committee, to the account of funds from this Society."

When members of an examining committee are located together, it is gratifying to have a joint report of their proceedings. If resident at different stations, each member may usefully approve all the issues at his own station which he judges to accord with this Society's principles, and transmit them to other members, each member reporting to the Publishing Committee his own proceedings.

It will be seen in the list of the Society's grants of publications in another part of this Report, that upwards of 800,000 pages have been granted to foreign missions; 586,127 to shipping for foreign ports; 821,476 to seamen's chaplains; and that the total foreign grants of publications for the year have amounted to 3,532,069 pages, in addition to the above grants in money. The Society's colporteur labors are also now extended both to Canada and Mexico, as above reported; and something has been done, though far less than could have been desired, for Panama, New Grenada, Chili, and other parts of South America.

In answer to a cheering letter from Rev. C. H. O. Côte of the Grand Ligne mission, who have established a new station at Fort George, 67,500 pages, chiefly in French, have been granted for their use. Among other encouragements, Dr. Côte one day discovering a new face in the mission chapel, and asking the individual if he had seen him before, received the animating reply, "Yes, it was I who aided in the burning of Bibles at Champlain, and my heart has never ceased to reproach me. If I had known the value of that book, I should never have participated in that horrible act. I have found another copy, and I have prayed God for Christ's sake to forgive me my sin." The man and his wife have since become members of the mission church.

Our aborigines have received a measure of attention. The Baptist mission have printed for the Cherokees a number of excellent tracts, amounting in all to no less than 816,000 pages.

For the destitute Roman-catholic districts of Ireland, 300,000 pages of books and tracts were committed to the Rev. Dr. Dill and Rev. Mr. Simpson, who visited this country to solicit aid; 45,000 pages were granted to Rev. Mr. Stranchon, military chaplain at Gibraltar; 75,000 to Pastor Duer, Algiers; and 262,500 to Liberia.

FRANCE — BELGIUM.

The TOULOUSE TRACT AND BOOK SOCIETY, by Mr. Louis Courtois, Secretary, say, "We are deeply affected by the interest of American Christians in France. Our times are serious, very serious, and all things around call for redoubled energy and prayer. We now feel the direful influence of Popery, almost uniting in one superstition and infidelity. We want in France men of piety and principle, to exert a salutary influence upon the nation; but the number of such men is small. Political events absorb the attention of almost all. Never was the importance of the press more strongly evidenced, and yet even our pious men and women in France do not so feel this as to give their full and active coöperation. The Lord is blessing our efforts in the conversion of some, and the moral and religious improvement of many. Our earnest desire is, to go on with redoubled energy in these days of trial. We hope soon to put to press the History of the French Protestants, by Professor de Félice. We expect much good from the circulation of that work. There is a portion of our population, among whom the circulation of such works as this and Monastier's History of the Vaudois Church, is most important."

The PARIS RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY, through Mr. Edmund de Pressensé, Secretary, report the increased activity of their operations. Their Christian Almanac, of which they circulated 130,000 last year, has directed the attention of many to the Bible, and increased the demand for the sacred volume. Their total circulation for the year, was 604,966 copies; and at its close the treasury was deficient 3,000 francs. They have adopted the plan of covering the larger tracts, and issuing volumes of tracts in which the didactic and the narrative are mingled.

Mr. de Pressensé wrote in June last, "All circumstances are now favorable to our operations. Formerly there were obstacles: the fear of being singular prevented many from distributing tracts; now, that fear need prevent no one. All kinds of publications are freely circulated, and ours are readily received. There is no limit to our distribution but the want of means; and the duty is plain to enlarge our operations, till they shall meet the necessities of our country. Still, the commercial embarrassments, and the necessity of relieving many of the unfortunate, diminish the receipts from our French subscribers, and compel us to look to our American friends for assistance." It is understood that a license-law more recently enacted, has an indirect tendency to embarrass the labors of colporteurs.

The AMERICAN BAPTIST MISSION in France have five colporteurs employed under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Willard at Douay, at an annual expense of about $1,000, a part of whose labors are devoted to tract distribution; and five colporteurs have also been recently employed in Paris and the vicinity, under the care of Dr. Devan, who has now commenced labors in the south of France. They will look for continued aid in that part of their colporteur and missionary labors appropriate to this Society.

From STRASBOURG, Mr. F. A. Hausmeister writes, January 1, that unhappy influences had for some time retarded their evangelical operations; but they had been revived under favorable auspices, and the last year 41,617 tracts were circulated, by some very active ladies in manufacturing districts and prisons, by colporteurs and other agencies, their expenses having exceeded their means.

From BELGIUM, where religious liberty and papal superstition are strangely blended, an able and interesting appeal is received from Rev. Leonard Anet, Brussels, for liberal support in their tract operations. "To great numbers, who are ill-disposed, prejudiced, and decidedly hostile, religious books," he says, "are often the only means of access. They are not afraid of the influence of small tracts, and read them, that they may have some knowledge of this new religion which they hear more or less talked of around them. Hence it is, that tracts or New Testaments have gone into a great number of Catholic families, and often pass from house to house. The reading of these is not without fruit. The colporteurs, on their rounds, frequently meet those whose minds have been prepared by tracts for a favorable reception of the announcement of salvation by grace, and justification by faith in Christ."

Thus the leaven is diffusing in Belgium. "Many isolated Protestants, who have no pastors or public means of grace, are greatly strengthened by religious books; and many timid Catholics, who dare not openly break with Rome, gain additional knowledge of the truth."

The bitter hostility of the priests is the best evidence that tracts and Bibles are gaining a hold upon the minds of the people. A colporteur, whose labors were blessed in six or seven families, appointed a religious meeting in one of them, in which a child was soon after taken with convulsions. The priest was sent for, and made the woman believe that the sickness was a punishment for her receiving the colporteur; and discovering the Bible, he took off the lid of the stove, threw in the Bible, covered it with large coals, replaced the lid, and the book was consumed.

SWITZERLAND—ITALY—HUNGARY.

Dr. MARRIOTT, at Basle, in full communications, June 20 and March 2, has reported his efficient operations in various parts of Switzerland, Austria, and Germany, wherever opportunity has been offered to throw light upon the gloom of papal night in which millions are shrouded. In the city of Vienna, in the months of August and September, just before the revolution broke out, he distributed no less than 45,000 tracts, which were welcomed by multitudes. He also visited, with the deepest interest, the former field of labor, in Upper Austria, of the celebrated Martin Boos, whose life is published by the Society in German, both he and the converts he left there having been subjected to long and bitter persecution. The ardent love and intimate knowledge of the Scriptures, which had been wrested from them by arbitrary power, evinced by many of these converts, were most animating. More recently Dr. Marriott has extended his labors into Germany, opposing by all practicable means the inroads of Popery, Irvingism, Socialism, and other ruinous errors; and spreading far and wide the best publications in behalf of the sanctification of the Sabbath. Five tracts on this subject, including "Heaven's Antidote to the Curse of Labor," and two other premium tracts by working men in England, were printed by Dr. Marriott in January and February last. He has circulated the last year 209,774 publications, with many evidences of the blessing of God attending them; receiving very little pecuniary aid except from the London and American Tract Societies. "The present progress of ungodliness," amid the frowns of monarchical and hierarchal power upon every form of truth, he represents as agonizing to the Christian heart.

The Rev. Dr. MALAN, at Geneva, acknowledging the Society's small grant, states that his gratuitous distributions for emigrants and otherwise for the United States, amount to not far from $280.

Capt. PACKENHAM wrote from Florence, June 8, a full and animating letter, reporting that he had sent to this country a copy of all the Italian publications there issued; and specially appealing in behalf of the primitive church in the valleys of Piedmont, four of whose pastors had visited Florence, and a volume of evangelical hymns been printed under their care for the Piedmontese, whose language is a compound of Italian and French.

At the date of Capt. Packenham's letter, the Tuscan authorities had already seized the New Testaments which had been printed, and the governmental opposition has been continued till the whole operations of the evangelical press are stopped, and he has been required to leave Tuscany.

ITALIAN SOCIETY AT GENEVA.

The distinguished friends of evangelical truth in Geneva more than a year since united in a society for the diffusion of the gospel in Italy, and through Col. TRONCHIN, their president, they addressed the American Tract Society, March 15 and October 10, 1849, bespeaking its support. The object of the Italian Society, "most of whose members are descendants of Italians proscribed for their fidelity to our Redeemer," says Col. Tronchin, "is to unite the forces of Christians interested in Italy, and to give a constant and judicious impulse to the work of disseminating the sacred Scriptures and religious books, as well as evangelization by means of preaching.

"It seems to us important," he adds, "to send into Italy works adapted to show the infinite value of God's word, and also books of history relating to our illustrious Reformation. We have therefore printed two thousand five hundred copies of the first two volumes of the Italian translation of the work of our coadjutor, Dr. Merle D'Aubigné, who also takes part in the Italian society. We would gladly publish the two subsequent volumes, but are at present prevented by the want of funds. There are moreover several biographies of Italian martyrs whose names are famous in Italy, Carraccioli among others, and some portions of the writings of Savanarola. But especially we should print small books, which may be within the reach of the people, and tracts of various kinds, adapted to present the doctrines in divers forms, and of which the French and English languages furnish so rich a store."

"It is now a long time," says Col. Tronchin, Oct. 10, "since the contest commenced between the Pope and the word of God. Formerly, you remember, the Christians of the valleys of Piedmont, the Albigenses, the English, the Hussites, the Germans, the French, and the Swiss, were particularly exposed to violence, and to become fuel for the fires of the Inquisition. Every country, indeed, where Rome could exercise some influence, had its martyrs. But now, you observe, the contest has been carried on to other ground. It is at Rome itself that the Pope and Popery are attacked. The intellectual, political, and religious movement which now manifests itself in the Italian peninsula, is probably without example in history. Let Christians everywhere seriously reflect upon it. The finger of God now points out to all who have eyes to see, exactly what Popery is: it shows us to what a nation, intelligent and courageous as it may be, will be reduced when deprived of the word of God, and compelled for any length of time to vegetate under the influence of the Romish clergy. And yet, what has been wanting to this clergy? Have they not for ages had the monopoly of instruction, of the press, of wealth and power? Are not the keys of the dungeons and tortures of the Holy Office deposited in their hands?"

"But a little more than a year ago he who calls himself the most Holy Father, ALTER DEUS IN TERRA, (another God on earth,) summoned young Italy to arms. What burning words were then uttered in the Vatican, in favor of the new crusade against established governments! Scarcely six months had passed, and lo, this most Holy Father and his cardinals were calling upon these very same governments to aid them by a hundred thousand bayonets—French, Austrian, Spanish, and Neapolitan—that the cardinals might enter Rome, passing over heaps of slain!"

"When the dungeons of the Inquisition were reöpened, who was their first victim? A man guilty only of having published and distributed the word of God! Mark also, that what is now passing at Rome is a quarrel in the bosom of the Roman-catholic family. We Christians have nothing to do with politics; our business is simply to circulate the word of God: a book severe indeed for him 'who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he, as God, sitteth in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God.' 2 Thess. 2:4. Our business is to teach the Italians, that before the Pope there is Christ the Prince of peace, meek and lowly of heart, who walked not escorted by bayonets, nor made conquests by means of grape-shot. Our business is to publish the good news, that our blessed Saviour—far from shedding the blood of man—poured out his own blood for sinners, that they who believe in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. What a glorious mission has the church of Christ to accomplish at this moment: to march to the succor of bleeding Italy, with the olive-branch in one hand, and the treasures of the grace which is in Christ in the other.

"We call then upon Christians in America to unite with us; and wherever there are children of God, let them send up prayers to the throne of grace for the conversion of the poor Italians. Unite with us to cause the voice of the gospel to be heard in Italy, and be well assured that the most effectual means of combating Popery, is to spread the Bible in the city of the Seven Hills. The light of the gospel alone can disperse the darkness of this world; and what we do at Rome, will make its influence felt to distant isles."

The Committee, on receiving the first of the letters from Col. Tronchin, resolved to send $1,000 for the Italian Society at Geneva as soon as contributions should be received for this object, one half of which amount has now been remitted, and the remainder, it is hoped, will be sent in the Society's current year.

Among the evangelical works recently issued in Italian, and for the circulation of which we trust the Lord will yet open the way, is "The Benefit of Christ's Death, or the Glorious Riches of God's free Grace which every true Believer receives by Jesus Christ." It was written in Italian by Anio Paleario, three centuries since, in 1543; and in the opinion of many there was scarcely a book in that language "so sweet, so pious, so simple, and so well fitted to instruct the ignorant and weak, especially in the doctrine of justification." But the author was bitterly persecuted, and at length taken to Rome, where, after three years' imprisonment, he was burned, July, 1570. The book also was condemned, and it is supposed every copy in Italian was destroyed. A translation, however, had been made into French, and from the French into English; and from these translations the celebrated Dr. Achilli, who has recently himself so wonderfully escaped the dungeons of the Inquisition at Rome, rendered it back into Italian, and it has been reprinted at Pisa.

From oppressed, bleeding HUNGARY, the Committee have had the sad pleasure of welcoming the Rev. George A. Wimmer, the Society's late correspondent at Obershutzen, by whom publications for Hungary were issued at the Society's expense. His heart and efforts were enlisted in behalf of the freedom of Hungary, and he has now sought a refuge from the vengeance of Austria in our happy land. The Committee gladly presented him a set of the Society's publications in German, and hope much from his efforts for the millions of Germans and Hungarians who open so inviting a field for evangelical operations among us.

Rev. Mr. Wimmer states, that there are in Hungary 4,000,000 Protestants, many of whom are truly pious; but having been in past times deprived by persecution of their evangelical pastors, when that restriction was removed, unworthy men, chiefly Neologists, assumed their places, so that the number of evangelical preachers is now very small, and those chiefly in Upper Austria and Upper Steyermark. The few evangelical pastors existing at the commencement of the late conflict, have been slain, or fled from the country at the hazard of life, so that almost all the pastors now in Hungary, are Rationalists, and some of them even Atheists. The poor people hunger and thirst for the word of life, and the call to send them Bibles, books, and tracts, is most imperious.

The Rev. Dr. BARTH, at Calw, through whom the Society's grants have been sent to Hungary, has communicated intelligence respecting the state of affairs there, and indeed anticipated the Society's grant of last year by remitting in advance $100, to meet the pressing calls then made upon Mr. Wimmer for books.

G E R M A N Y .

At Elberfeld, the seat of the operations of the BARMEN or Wupperthal Tract Society, in the valley of Barmen on the Rhine, an "Evangelical Society for Germany" has been formed, and the Rev. L. Feldner, president of both institutions, has written this Society communicating their annual reports, and requesting support in their tract operations. The Evangelical Society aims chiefly "to raise the banner of the cross in those portions of Germany where superstition and infidelity reign, and the gospel of Christ has become an unknown doctrine," by evangelists, colporteurs, schools, etc., the Tract Society furnishing the laborers with publications for distribution. This Tract Society was formed through the agency of the Rev. Dr. Pinkerton, in 1814, and in the 34 years of its existence, to 1849, issued a series of 343 tracts, or 411,400 copies, chiefly of larger size; its total receipts through that period being $24,744 80. It was hoped that the small grant of $100, now sent, might encourage them to issue such works as Bunyan's Pilgrim and Baxter's Call, and thus perhaps give additional strength and power in their work. Twenty tracts have been recently stereotyped at Barmen, at the joint expense of the Barmen and London Tract Societies.

From STUTTGART, Messrs. C. F. Wagner and G. Scholl have written, inclosing the report of the Stuttgart Tract Society, who have engaged, to some extent, in sending out colporteurs and teachers among the children of Roman-catholic and other neglected districts. They also sent copies of tracts and children's tracts, upwards of fifty of which have been approved for circulation at this Society's expense.

At WITTEMBERG, the cradle of the Reformation, about 500 ministers and laymen assembled, a few months since, to consult for the best interests of Protestant Germany and the extension of vital godliness, when it was ably and eloquently urged, that the more immediate want is not the erection of new churches, but godly men, ministers, and others, to go out among the people wherever access to them can be gained, at the fireside, or in the highway, and there make known to them the way of salvation by faith in Christ; men who can turn every poor man's dwelling, or any place amidst the busy scenes of life, into a pulpit; men full of faith and courage, burning with love to souls, and armed with the Spirit and power from on high. This is the true spirit of Colportage.

The LOWER SAXONY TRACT SOCIETY AT HAMBURG are pushing forward their operations with renewed vigor. The Rev. James Craig, D. D., Secretary, writes, February 28, that while the revolutions of the past year have taken away the means of many contributors, "on the other hand, the universal fear of what is coming, the shaking of what was once regarded most stable, and the depths of depravity laid bare, have awakened many to greater activity in the work of the Lord." In the large towns missionary societies have been formed, in some cases with auxiliaries around them, all which apply for tracts to enable them to enter on their work with vigor. Other missionary societies embrace a wider range, as in the Grand Duchy of Hesse, in Silesia and Pomerania. In many of these districts, associations have been formed for promoting the sanctification of the Sabbath, and 10,000 of Gosner's beautiful tract, "The Lord's Day," have been printed by the Lower Saxony Society, and nearly all circulated within a few months.

The blockade of the ports the last year having turned the tide of emigration to America and Australia through Havre, nearly 300,000 pages have been sent to that port. Five colporteurs have been employed, two of them the whole of the year, with very cheering results.

In order to gain access to millions in Austria, a member of the Committee visited that country and spent a month. For his use, 24 tracts were translated into Bohemian for 4,000,000 in Austria speaking that language. These and some German tracts were printed at Brünn, the capital of Moravia, and the centre of the Bohemians, amounting to 180,000 tracts, or 1,680,000 pages, and a colporteur engaged to superintend their distribution. Among the factories, proprietors were found with 400 to 600 families dependent on them, who not only became active distributors, but subscribed to the funds of the Society. It is hoped that in the ensuing summer a similar visit may be made to carry on the work among the Bohemians. The expense of publishing these tracts for the Bohemians alone was £75, or about $360. Including these 180,000 tracts for Bohemia, the Lower Saxony Society issued the last year 638,000 tracts, or 7,572,000 pages.

The Rev. J. G. ONCKEN, of the American Baptist mission at Hamburg, writes, "The Lord is doing wonders, and in the midst of all the turmoil and strife which agitate the millions of our country, his precious gospel is peacefully achieving one victory after another, and many, many sinners are savingly converted to him. Forty-five precious souls have been added to the church at Hamburg since January, and we have now ten preaching stations around the city, which are regularly supplied by brethren from our church.

"In all parts of the country, there is evidently a great readiness manifested by the people to listen to the plain statements of the gospel, and, blessed be God, millions are now reading and hearing the gospel. The distribution of tracts forms still one of the most powerful means in our efforts, and as the number of our colporteurs and missionaries is not at all adequate for the present wants, their circulation must be increased. We look to our American brethren especially for aid, now when the whole land is open before us. We circulated, in 1848, upwards of 600,000 copies. I have already advanced several hundred marks for the Society; but though we have a debt on hand, we must go on, certain that we are doing God's work, but quite uncertain how long these favorable openings may last. We beseech you, my dear brother, and all the brethren on the Committee, to render us all the assistance in your power."

At a later date he informs us, that during the last year 112 converts had been added to the church; and that about 40 missionaries and colporteurs, nearly half a million of tracts and other publications, and 22,000 copies of the holy Scriptures, had "disclosed the untold tale of Christ's love to sinners" among the millions in Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Hungary, Austria, Holland, and Switzerland. The churches are becoming organized into associations for spreading the gospel, and it is recommended to every church to appoint brethren to supply every member each month with a suitable number of tracts for distribution. Of the converts added to the church, not a few were convinced of the error of their ways by reading tracts thus circulated. At Mr. Oncken's request, 50,000 pages German, and 10,000 Dutch tracts were granted him, and a supply of Baxter's Saints' Rest and Call sent him on sale.

Mr. S. ELSNER, of the Prussian Tract Society at Berlin, wrote, Nov. 26, informing of its continued usefulness, notwithstanding the late exciting political agitations, and that the field is enlarged by colportage.

Through the Rev. A. Rauschenbusch, who is extensively acquainted in Germany, and is now coöperating with the American Tract Society, copies of the Society's late German publications and letters of fraternal Christian regard have been sent to all the Tract organizations above-named in Germany, and also to the Tract Society at Bremen; the Christian Union Society, Northern Germany; the Evangelical Publication Society in Berlin; Barmen Foreign Missionary Society; Ranke Hans Institution for Children, etc., at Hamburg; Silesia Central Temperance Society; Rev. Mr. Mann, at Leutusheim, Grand Duchy of Baden; Rev. Frederick Aefeld, Halle, on the Saale river; Ravensburg Auxiliary Mission Society; Mr. Engelbert, inspector, Duisberg, and Rev. Mr. Bram, Neuhirchen, both in Rhenish Prussia; and to Dr. Marriott at Basle, the Evangelical Society at Bern, and Rev. Mr. Antister, Spleissin-Schauffhausen, in Switzerland.

DENMARK — SWEDEN — RUSSIA.

In the absence at present of the Hon. Peter Browne, Mr. J. C. FALCK, Secretary of the Tract Society at Copenhagen, has reported its operations; its distributions during the seven years of its existence amounting to 9,000 publications, of which 6,000 were circulated the last year, many being given to the army and the sick and wounded in the hospitals, which were received with every mark of interest and gratitude. The war, while it created a large demand for books, has at the same time diminished the ability of contributors.

Mr. GUSTAVUS CH. KEYZER writes from Stockholm, that the circulation proceeds in Sweden, especially by the agency of colporteurs, with evidences of the divine blessing.

Mr. W. C. Gellibrand has enclosed the annual report of the friends in ST. PETERSBURG for 1849. During the year they printed 137,800 publications in Russian, 10,000 in Finnish, purchased and otherwise received, including Scriptures, 42,535—total, 180,335 copies. Circulated, by sale at the depot, 100,493; total circulated, 186,730. Circulated since the commencement of their operations, 3,822,830 publications. The treasurer was in advance about $500. Many tracts have been circulated in the army in past years, and they hope to provide a more liberal supply, and to have the sanction of those in authority for bestowing this boon upon the soldiers. The field is most extensive, and it can only be acted on by works in Russian, the national tongue. Thus far the censorship, instead of being a hinderance, has been a great assistance. Having the imprimatur of the clergy, every tract goes forth with their sanction and approbation, and every dutiful son of the Greek church receives it as canonical. This is regarded as a favor from God, and they thus take courage to go on in confidence and joy, and ask the assistance of American Christians in the work of the Lord.

“We are diffusing,” says Mr. William Ropes, now in Boston, “a knowledge of sacred things through that vast empire, in the only form in which it can be done; and God will bless the work thus carried on for the advancement of his cause.”

G R E E C E .

The Rev. JOHN H. HILL, of the Protestant Episcopal Mission at Athens, wrote, March 7, 1849, a cordial letter, recalling the scenes, 18 years ago, when, with his pastor Dr. Milnor, he joined in the labors of the American Tract Society.

“When Mrs. Hill and myself,” he says, “look back to our connection with your Society, which we cannot but consider as our first step in that course of life which we have pursued for the last eighteen years and upwards, we cannot doubt that you are ready to aid us in whatever can promote the success of our efforts for the glory of God. Nor is it without gratitude to him who has so long upheld us, that, amidst the changes and vicissitudes to which life is subject, I have still the privilege of addressing the same friend who was our helper in the earlier part of our missionary career, holding the same important station in the counsels of our great national evangelical Tract Society.

“Many changes have taken place in Greece, since we first set our feet upon her shores—in the political, moral, and spiritual condition of the country; but I am sorry to be obliged to add, that I see but little improvement in either of these aspects. Three years after our arrival here, a Christian monarch succeeded to the government of this country, which had been for so many centuries under the sway of Mohammedan rulers; and yet we find, at this very day, that the restraints which even superstition imposed have been weakened, and immorality has increased; and with the exception of here and there a few who have been privileged with evangelic instruction, the present spiritual condition of this interesting country is worse, (if I may be allowed to say so,) than under its Turkish rulers—a general defection from old systems, but no inquiry after the truth. The great error is the absence of all public and general means for the promotion of vital piety.”

More recent letters report the issuing and distribution of publications, and particularly the welcome reception of a grant from the Society, comprising a supply of illustrated books for the young, for the benefit of the four or five hundred Greek children in the mission school.

“On the first of October,” he says, “the box of books arrived, the estimated value of which is forty dollars, but their real value to us is not to be estimated. The very beautiful Tract Primers were immediately placed in the hands of fifty of our pupils, and you will be pleased to hear that there is no necessity of translation, except what can be done orally. The simple reading lessons are soon learned by heart, and I often wish I could transport you here, to listen to the rhymes on the alphabet which the dear children take such great delight in repeating; they seem to come with a peculiar grace from the lips of our dear little Greek children, and it is always an amusing exercise for the English and American strangers who now and then drop in to visit us. The reading lessons from the Scriptures are perfectly understood by the first class, who read and translate them with the greatest facility. It is really delightful to witness the impression which these lessons make upon their young minds, and to hear their exclamation, ὦ! ποσον ὡραία! 'O, how beautiful!' when they read those parts which allude to the goodness of God and to our Saviour. We have just been distributing our annual gifts to our pupils, more than five hundred in number, consisting of portions of the word of God, and books of a religious and moral tendency. Twenty-three copies of your beautiful Tract Primer were given on that occasion, and in one of the infant-schools—for we have two, one of which is composed nearly altogether of the children of our former pupils—there are some very little children, who are able to use it with as much facility as they do their own (Greek) elementary books."

The Rev. Dr. KING has distributed the last year about 4,000 tracts and books, including a number of Italian Bibles and Testaments supplied to Italian refugees, who expressed great anxiety to receive them, and also to obtain liberal supplies to distribute in Italy. Dr. King states that he has never before seen among Roman-catholics such a desire to obtain the word of God. He is about to attempt a larger circulation by sale in Athens, the present prosperity of the people giving them means to buy.

ARMENIANS OF TURKEY.

The following official letter from Rev. C. Hamlin and Rev. J. Bliss, on behalf of THE MISSION IN TURKEY, dated Constantinople, July, 1849, gives an admirable view of this Society's department of labor in that field, embracing the mission stations at Smyrna, Constantinople, Broosa, Trebizond, Erzeroom, and Aintab.

"DEAR SIR—At the annual meeting of our mission, we are accustomed to pass under careful review the different agencies which have been employed in the dissemination of the truth, and to consider what departments of our work most pressingly need enlargement. In thus reviewing the past, we cannot but feel that divine providence and grace, in having peculiarly blessed the publications of your Society, and opened a wide field for their distribution, call upon you to pursue your great work in this empire with renewed zeal.

"In our acquaintance with individuals, we know of many, some of whom have died in faith, and some are now adorning the doctrine of God our Saviour, who were guided to the knowledge of the truth by the publications of your Society.

"If we examine cities and villages where a spirit of inquiry exists, or where evangelical churches have been formed, we are struck with the fact of your Society's agency having been signally blessed. For example, the interesting churches at Nicomedia and Adabazar both owe their existence in a great measure to the publications of your Society. The tracts and New Testament given by Mr. Goodell at Nicomedia in 1832, were the means of the conversion of the two priests of that place, Harootiane and Vertorees, who have suffered much for the truth's sake, and who are to this day faithful laborers in their Master's vineyard. With them began the work which persecution has so often attempted in vain to stop. In 1841, when Mr. Dwight and Mr.

Hamlin visited Nicomedia, they met with a man from Adabazar, with whom they had much conversation, and to whom they in like manner gave the New Testament and tracts. In the reading of these books, commenced that interesting work in Adabazar which has withstood for years the heavy assaults of an enraged and powerful priesthood, with almost the entire population obedient to their will. In many other places, the first light which has shone upon the spiritual darkness of a thousand years, has been from the Tract or Bible Society, or rather, from both united.

“This is a fact worthy of special notice. It calls upon the Christians of America to extend to these societies a more liberal hand, and to enter into their designs with a stronger faith and zeal. Our work among the Armenians is becoming more extended from year to year. Our publications are obtaining a wider circulation, and consequently, we must call for increased appropriations. The state of the Armenian mind also, is such as to demand a greater variety of religious truth than formerly. Some of our most useful works are out of print, and new editions must be issued. Others, adapted especially to the present aspects of the work, are ready for the press, and we are now waiting for more efficient aid from your Society. For some years to come, success will occasion a demand for larger appropriations. It will continue to be so until the religious communities springing up over various parts of the empire shall acquire strength, combination, and activity, and shall begin to supply the demands of the work themselves.

“There is more inquiry, greater mental activity, a more evident disposition to throw off the trammels of the past, even where no directly religious feeling is yet awakened. These are signs that the long night of superstition and priestly rule is passing away. Not only here and there a few individuals, but the universal mind, is preparing for a great change. Your publications must be more abundantly scattered among all the Armenian cities and villages, from the Mediterranean to the Euphrates, and everywhere they will find attentive and serious readers. We could immediately appropriate three thousand dollars to the publication of works which seem to be urgently called for, and which, by the blessing of God, would produce an extended and permanent impression upon the Armenian mind.”

The Rev. N. Benjamin, missionary at Smyrna, writes, April 25, that books are now circulated among the Armenians almost exclusively by sale at low prices. The late works in their beautiful language have been neatly printed, and as the circulation by sale is steadily increasing, it affords conclusive evidence that the books are valued, even if we had not the higher and more animating evidence which he proceeds to give, that the Spirit of God is inclining the people to search these books as for hid treasures, that they may learn from them the way of salvation by a crucified Redeemer.

“We have just received intelligence,” he says, “from Arabker, a considerable city in the very eastern part of Asia Minor, to the effect that several hundred of Armenians have fully separated themselves from their church, declaring themselves Protestants. This movement must have been produced chiefly by the divine blessing on the publications of this mission. And we shall see greater things than these. I am convinced that there is an unseen work accomplished on the hearts of a great number of this people, the full disclosure of which would astonish our Christian friends at home. But the day is not distant when these secret convictions will be proclaimed and acted on, and a great multitude come out on the Lord's side. Let us not faint, nor withhold our hand. God may permit even us to rejoice in the wonder-working of his grace.

"Your work in our own beloved country, and beyond our southern frontier," he adds, "is blessed indeed. When I read of the amount of evangelical truth which your Society is scattering, and of the manifest blessing which has everywhere gone with it, I cannot but feel that there is hope for our country and hope for the world. I rejoice in the labors and successes of your faithful colporteurs; in the increased number of your publications, and in their improved style and acceptability; in the sale of them at thoroughfares; in the attraction and evangelical character of your Messenger, and its great circulation. Here is cause for joy and gratitude and hope for all who love the blessed Redeemer. Let us rejoice together, and pray God continually that a Society already so highly blessed, may still enjoy the divine favor, and hasten to accomplish its great mission to the world.

"Allow me before closing to express my earnest hope that your Committee will not feel necessitated this year to withhold any part of the appropriation which our board has solicited for this mission. Be assured that 'the administration of this service not only supplieth the wants of the saints, but is abundant also by many thanksgivings unto God.'"

The Rev. B. Schneider, whose station is now Aintab, writes, November 9, concurring in the cheering views above given of the work among the Armenians, and showing that the blessing of the Holy Spirit has richly rested upon it. At Aintab there is now a school of 100 pupils, a Sabbath-school of 60, a Bible class, a Temperance Society, a weekly female prayer-meeting and sewing circle, and a church of 20 members laboring to bring in those around them who are far from God; the Sabbath congregations number from 150 to 200, the truth is listened to with deep interest, often with tears, additions to the church are frequent, and the spirit of inquiry continues.

"Now, what will interest you," adds Mr. Schneider, "is the fact that the commencement of this work is traceable chiefly to the influence of Bibles and tracts. By their means, in connection with some native agency, the fallow-ground was broken up, and the way prepared for the labors of missionaries. The influence of Jones' Summary of Christian Theology in instilling gospel principles into the minds of the youth, and to a great degree also of adults, I contemplate with great interest."

Mr. Schneider has just issued a work of 220 pages, on "The Origin of the Fasts and Feasts of the Oriental Churches," which is read with avidity. He reports with great pleasure that females, in coming to the knowledge of the truth, are learning to read.

The Rev. H. J. VAN LENNEP, who has just returned from a visit to this country, has fully confirmed the above statements of the silent and powerful working of the Spirit of God far and wide among the Armenians. Stimulated by the success of the mission schools, the Armenians are well conducting their own schools, and training their children to be intelligent readers. Instead of issuing their books, as formerly, almost wholly in the ancient Armenian, which is dead to the most of the people, they now also imitate the missionaries by publishing books in the modern language. It devolves on missions to supply the readers thus raised up with the gospel in Bibles and good books.

THE NESTORIANS OF PERSIA.

A cheering letter from Rev. JUSTIN PERKINS at Ooroomiah, October 26, reports $1,083 21 expended for their handsome edition of the Pilgrim's Progress in Nestorian, and states that he was translating the Shepherd of Salisbury Plain, and hoped to add to it the Young Cottager, while Mr. Breath is preparing type for printing the Old Testament, both which tracts have since been issued.

"I need not go into particulars," he says, "in regard to the marvelous work of grace which it has been our unspeakable privilege to enjoy among the Nestorians the present year. It was eminently God's work; and while we wonder and adore, in view of it, to him would we ascribe all the glory. Nor need I attempt to describe to you the important agency which your publications have had in preparing the way for that blessed work, and contributing to its progress. You need not be told that the Dairyman's Daughter, the Pilgrim's Progress, and some other works which you have placed in the hands of this people, have proved powerful auxiliaries in bringing scores of them to the knowledge and acknowledgment of the truth as it is in Jesus. In addition to the private reading and studying of the Pilgrim's Progress by our pupils and others, during the late revival, a weekly lecture was delivered on successive portions of it by a member of our mission, in our male seminary, to large congregations, and with the happiest effect."

The Rev. GEORGE W. COAN, who has recently joined the mission, gives a cheering view of the work wrought through the influences of the Holy Spirit, where so little of the pure light of the gospel had until recently shone. A periodical, "The Rays of Light," is now commenced for the Nestorians.

AFRICA.

The Rev. C. Colden Hoffman, of the Protestant Episcopal mission at Cape Palmas, has written earnestly requesting publications, including supplies for seamen, which were sent to the amount of 75,000 pages.

Other missions have also been supplied, as by the list of grants in another part of this Report.

The American mission in South Africa has been reinforced with a printing-press. Mr. Grout of this mission has furnished for the Journal of the American Oriental Society an able paper, confirming the supposed resemblance in the languages of Africa south of the equator, or the mountains of the moon. The principal families of dialects are the Zulu or Kafir, the Sechuana, the Darnasa, and the Congo.

INDIA—BOMBAY.

Among the "signs of the times," doubtless indicating, on the whole, the progress of religious light and truth in Western India, is the unwonted activity of the native heathen press. On this subject the Rev. D. O. ALLEN, who has long and intelligently watched the progress of things, presents to his own Board the following clear and condensed view.

"It was not till long after Europeans had introduced printing into India, that the native population showed any desire to use it for any purpose whatever. And it was not till missionaries began to use the press in attacking the systems of false religion and superstition which here prevail, and in setting forth the truths and claims of Christianity, that the natives became aware of its power. They then saw the importance of using the same means in self-defence, and for some years past the native press in Bombay has poured forth a quantity of matter which, considering the previous apathy, has appeared almost incredible. Some of these works have been in Sanscrit, some in Mahratta, some in Goojrattee, some in Hindostanee, some in Indo-Portuguese, some in Persian, and some in Arabic. Several editions of the Koran, amounting to ten or twelve thousand, have been published. There have been several editions of the Gitá, which, more than any other work, may be called the Bible of the Hindoos. There have been manuals of devotion and of rites and ceremonies, large and small religious works, magazines, pamphlets, newspapers, etc. Comparatively little has been published on science or general literature. The works issued have been chiefly religious and superstitious in their character and influence, or they have consisted of legends and poetry, suited to the perverted taste and licentious manners of the people. Some of these works have contained vehement attacks upon Christianity; long arguments, supported by a familiar acquaintance with the deistical writers of Europe, to show that the Bible has no claim to a divine origin; scurrilous and abusive remarks and misstatements concerning missionaries, their translations, tracts, operations, etc. Still, all these various works, in connection with the study of the English language and literature, the missionary schools, the distribution of the Scriptures and tracts, and the preaching of the gospel, are making a deep impression on the native mind."

He proceeds more particularly to describe a native periodical of eight pages, published every Sabbath, called the Prabhákur, or Illuminator, which has been continued seven or eight years, and discusses all subjects connected with the Pagan or Christian religion with great freedom, not unfrequently with candor, and which probably on the whole is exerting an influence gradually to sap the foundations of Brahminism and prepare the way for the introduction of Christianity. Some articles in this paper have opposed caste, and decidedly advocated freedom of conscience.

MADURA.

Letters from Rev. W. TRACY, of September 5 and December 21, report that Doddridge's Rise and Progress had been published in Tamul, and that all the appropriations from this Society had been expended. Of twenty-nine students in the mission seminary, eleven were members of the church at the beginning of the year, and all but one of the remainder had since indulged hope in Christ, and nine had been admitted to the church.

"One of the effects of this refreshing from on high," he says, "has been a greatly increased desire for the conversion of the heathen. Every Saturday afternoon has been occupied by the students in visiting the adjacent villages to distribute tracts and books, and to converse with the people; and their daily hours of leisure and recreation have been spent in conversing with persons constantly passing on the road. In these ways they have distributed the past year nearly 7,000 tracts, precious seed, which I trust will bear fruit to the glory of God.

"I am more and more convinced of the great importance of judicious tract distribution, as a means of promoting the cause of Christ among the heathen, at least in this field. Good tracts, in connection with the Scriptures, are emphatically the 'hidden leaven,' which will not cease its influence till the whole mass of heathenism is leavened with the truth of God. That our tracts are prized by the people, we are constantly receiving new evidence. One man, a heathen merchant, recently sent a cooly to one of the teachers of the seminary, a distance of forty miles, for tracts which had been promised to him.

"At a recent festival in this neighborhood, my supply of tracts, though two or three times replenished, was entirely exhausted, and many were sent away empty. One man said he wanted the tract 'The Spiritual Light,' and could not be satisfied without it. As I had none, he said he would come back again after three days, and wished me to procure, if possible, a copy in the mean time. He came according to his word, and was greatly delighted to find that I had obtained for him the coveted book. Others, disappointed by getting no books, said that they should certainly call again at the time of the next monthly festival, when they hoped that I would not again send them away empty. One young man, on receiving a small tract, exclaimed, 'Ah, this is just what I want, it is so nice to carry in the bosom.'

"In some cases opposition is met with, but this is a rare exception and not the rule. Such books as we distribute by the aid of your Society, filled with the truth of God, received with desire and read with interest in thousands of families, cannot fail of doing good. The word of God will not return unto him void. Light is now shining in a multitude of dwellings, where but a short time ago not a ray had ever penetrated the gross darkness. God grant that the darkness may comprehend the light. We have been a good deal straitened the past year for tracts. We need your aid; indeed, we cannot dispense with it without great detriment and hinderance to our work, and I trust your respected Committee will 'devise liberal things' for us the coming year."

CEYLON.

Mr. E. S. MINOR, April 12, reports, that books and the visits of missionaries, with schools and the various influences exerted, are evidently sapping the foundations of heathenism, especially among the young. "Native Hindoos are often heard conversing together as to the contents of the tracts; and many have been enlightened to see the folly and absurdity of pagan ceremonies and observances."

The Rev. Mr. Meigs, who recently spent several weeks in the eastern part of the province, says, "The contrast between the young and the aged in this district, as to their knowledge of divine things and their respect and reverence for heathenism, is very great. One of my native assistants, who spends nearly his whole time as an evangelist among the people, lately remarked to me, that he found the aged and the ignorant among the people still having respect for heathenism and fear of their gods; but the youth appeared to have very little of either. They attend the festivals merely to hear the music and to see the display that is made to attract and please the multitude.

"Their fear of the gods is gone. As an illustration of this, I may mention a recent circumstance in one of the villages of Manepy. A respectable native officer has been in the habit, for many years, of making a great sacrifice at one of the temples. After the death of the father, it was the expectation of the people that the son would continue the sacrifice. The officiating Brahmin, with this expectation, made the necessary preparations at the temple. The son, however, refused, and took some people with him in the night and pulled down the flag-staff that had been erected. Many people predicted that he would suffer from the vengeance of the gods, but he says he has no fear of them. The flag-staff was erected a second time, and a second time it was pulled down by this man."

Cheering letters are also received from the Rev. Levi Spaulding and Rev. T. S. Burnell, the latter of whom was once a colporteur of the American Tract Society, and encloses $20 to aid its operations among the destitute of our own land. The missionaries express their desire that nothing may hinder the Society's colporteur and other labors at home, while yet they "trust the Society will not be compelled to withdraw any portion of the aid hitherto annually given for the heathen."

MADRAS.

The Rev. Dr. SCUDDER, and his son Rev. HENRY SCUDDER, intent on coming into more immediate contact with the natives, have moved their residence into the heart of Madras, where they can be continually among them, addressing them on all occasions, supplying them with books, and employing medical skill as a means of winning their attention to Christ and his salvation.

"I am once more in Madras," writes Dr. Scudder, Sept. 14. "My son Henry and myself live together in that part of the city called Black-Town, the fortified part of the city, on one of the thoroughfare streets, where there are multitudes of goers and comers. Our house stands a little back from the street, with a wall before it. In front of this wall is an elevation of Chunam work, on which we stand and preach the gospel to great multitudes. We have seats within the wall, which we have had frequently filled by their coming in. To great numbers we distribute tracts and portions of the Scriptures. We also distribute many in other parts of the city. When Henry stays at home to preach and distribute books, I go out and preach in the streets and in the suburbs of the city, and vice versa. Since my return to Madras in April, we have had a new edition of the Almanac, 5,000 copies; of these there are but few left, and these with many more we could have distributed. I should use a large number of your publications, to say nothing of Henry's operations, in a year, could I get them. Every day I preach the gospel. I never think of such a thing as giving myself a day's freedom from these labors. We ought to have at least 20,000 copies of the Tamil almanac yearly; and what is even this number for the 700,000 of Madras? We are now distributing large numbers of the 'Blind Way,' and single gospels. We thank you again and again for all your help. In the day of final reckoning, you will not regret that you have labored for us in these ends of the earth.

"I have established a hospital here, and many persons have come to me for help. It is peculiarly a fit time to preach the gospel when disease has broken down the spirits. Henry is so deeply impressed with this means of communicating the gospel, that he intends pursuing the study of medicine and surgery."

Since the above was written, Mrs. Scudder, who has toiled with her husband thirty years for the heathen, who had two sons preaching in India, and more in America who she hoped would come to that land, has entered calmly and joyfully into the heavenly rest.

The Rev. Mr. WINSLOW, who, like Dr. Scudder, has devoted more than thirty years to laborious foreign missionary service, writes that he feels more and more deeply the necessity of employing "every possible method of bringing the truth to bear upon the hearts and consciences of men."

"I am fully convinced," he says, "that the sending forth of truth on the printed page is, at the present day, in almost every land, one of the most important means of doing good. In India, where the number of preachers is so few, and the multitudes to be taught are so great, it is an almost indispensable aid to the minister, and where there is no minister, may even to some extent supply his place. At a meeting last evening, nine cases of the apparent conversion of Hindoos at out-stations were mentioned, in which one was led to reflection by 'Schwartz's Dialogues,' another by reading the 'Indian Pilgrim,' a third by a leaf of a Bible of which he saw some practical exposition in the life of a native Christian, and still another by the gospel of John. Three men of some education in a remote place were brought to reflection by tracts conveyed to them by pilgrims from a distance, who had received them at some fair or festival at a heathen temple. They read the tracts and reasoned with each other on their contents; at length got others, and finally a gospel, and about the same time met a native for a few days who was inquiring on the subject of religion and better informed about Christianity than they. These all, at one time, held a meeting in a heathen temple, and in the very presence of the idol, they kneeled down and prayed to the Saviour of sinners. What these men knew, was almost entirely derived from books. They had never seen a missionary except once, and that some five or six years before, when they paid little attention to what he said. Yet when they went a distance to a mission station, and made known their feelings, the missionary says they seemed like Christians of some years standing."

In another letter he says, "The Society's support in our labors is most important. We need much, MUCH more than you are able to give. There is a greatly-increasing spirit of inquiry among the Hindus, in part the consequence of former distributions, and in part in connection with the influence of schools."

January 14, he writes that the calls for the Tamil calendar for distribution, for thousands of copies of the Blind Way, for a small volume of Select Tracts, 32mo, for the Jewel Mine of Salvation in Telugu, and other tracts, was so urgent, that the cost of the issues in 1849 was $1,630 92, the expenditures for approved publications being now more than two thousand dollars in advance of the Society's total grants.

"What we shall do for funds for our tract operations," he says, "I know not. We must try a draft on the Christian public in America, if you will endorse it; and if they will not pay, and our worthy patrons the American Board will not foot the bill, it will be a serious question what can be done. I hope the churches will be so liberal, not to us, but to their poor native brethren here 'drawn unto death,' as to prevent the necessity of our exceeding the limit of their liberality. When so little compared with what is required can be done by the living voice, we must plead earnestly that the press may be allowed to speak without hindrance.

"We present to you, dear brethren, fifteen millions of Tamilians and Telugus needing your aid; and say, that so many of them as you can reach, and do not, with the calls of mercy through the press, will have a charge of neglect against you in the great day. Let none of us excuse ourselves concerning the misery and helplessness of our poor brethren, and say, 'We knew it not.'"

Of the Baptist mission to the Telugus, Messrs. Day and Jewett wrote to their board, October 9, "The Madras Tract and Book Society supply books and tracts when they have them in store, but that Society is not nearly adequate to the demands made upon it. We would be glad of $500 for this department from the American Tract Society, if they can kindly aid us thus much." At a great Mohammedan feast, they distributed two hundred and fifty tracts, "one-third of which, perhaps, in Hindustani, the language of Mohammedans all over India."

The Lutheran mission to the Telugus have established a new station about sixty miles from Guntoor, and Rev. Mr. Heyer had removed to the new field of labor. In the failure of the health of Rev. Mr. Gunn, no communication has been received from Guntoor.

ORISSA.

This field, as shown above in the abstract of the address of the Rev. AMOS SUTTON, who is about to resume his long-continued and successful labors there, is occupied by the General Baptist mission from England and the Free-will Baptist mission from this country. Letters from Rev. J. G. Pike, secretary, Derby, England, gratefully acknowledge this Society's aid; and a full communication from Rev. J. BUCKLEY, Cuttack, April 25, stating that the issues of tracts for 1849 would be about 40,000, gives the most encouraging statements from several missionaries in various parts of their wide field, showing the efficiency of tracts, under the divine blessing, as a means of diffusing among the heathen the tidings of salvation through a crucified Redeemer.

The Rev. Mr. Lacey states, that the circulation of tracts in 1848 was very wide, extending from the hilly regions of Orissa in the north-west, to the swampy regions in the east; and from Poree and the Chilka lake in the south, to Buddruck in the north, "in which vast region the population is immense." The missionaries have made extensive tours, and have sent tracts from the market-places and festivals into almost every town of the interior, and by this and other means they "have found their way into every village and hamlet" in very wide districts.

Some of the native preachers, eighty miles from Cuttack, heard five or six natives singing the poetic tract "Jewel Mine of Salvation," and found they were familiar with other tracts, and acquainted with the doctrines of the gospel. They received the preachers with great affection, and sought from them more books. At another place, Sebo the native preacher found a tradesman who a year before received the "Jewel Mine," and repeated from it lines showing that Christ died for the sins of men. A devotee was found by Sebo, who so valued the same tract, that when his house was on fire, his first anxiety appeared to be to save it, and he has been led, it is trusted, to look to that Saviour whose love it reveals.

Mr. Barley, in travels through the southern part of Orissa, found the people, without exception, anxious to obtain tracts. “‘Sahib, O Sahib, give me a book, that I may keep it, and understand the religion of the uncreated God,’ were sounds with which,” he says, “we were daily familiar.” In the jungles of Athgur and Goomsur a similar desire was manifested. In a place never before visited, an old man came running, and asked for “The Destroyer of Delusion” and “The True Refuge.”

Rev. Mr. Phillips, the American missionary at Jellalore, gives the history of a pilgrim who travelled eight hundred miles to Pooree; but disgusted with the heathen ceremonies, he embraced the gospel and was baptized, stating that in his country the books are read by a considerable number of the people.

NORTH INDIA MISSIONS.

The several large missions in Northern India have prosecuted their labors, including the operations of the press, with much efficiency, the whole of the Society's grants having been expended. The mission at Allahabad alone printed the last year 117,700 publications, including, in Urdu, Roman character, Flavel's Fountain of Life, of 478 pages; True Wisdom, by Rev. J. Warren, 198; Watts and Henry on Prayer, 160; Book of Instruction, 104; and in Hindi, Nagari character, Investigation of True Religion, 308 pages; and Epitome of Christianity, 40; with numerous smaller tracts in both languages, and four in English; making in all at Allahabad, for the year, 4,610,100 pages. The war of the Punjab at the north being over, and “the last Sikh having signed away his title, by which act that vast territory has become a part of the British empire in India,” a new field of labor is opened for the Lodiana mission with the press, the operations of which are reviving with vigor.

The American missionaries at Allahabad have recently given their coöperation with British Christians of different evangelical denominations, in organizing a Tract Society for the country, which promises great good. It was organized two or three years since, and engaged in printing new and revised editions of the old Hindi tracts issued at Calcutta and Serampore. At first it was called the “Benares” Tract Society; but this being too local, it was about to take the name of “The Religious Tract Society for the North-western Provinces,” when it was found that Christians at Agra, the seat of government, some three hundred miles north-west of Benares and Allahabad, were about to organize a similar society, and the brethren at Allahabad united with the Society at Benares, calling their institution "The Central North India Tract Society." The tracts in Hindi are printed at the mission press, no less than twenty numbers having been already issued in a "revised Hindi series," partly at the expense and for the use of the mission, and partly for the Central Society. "The effect of this arrangement," Mr. Warren says, "is to double the usefulness of our press in this department; and it develops the resources, both mental and financial, of the church in this country. A translation of Hodge's Way of Life by Mr. Warren was in the press.

In answer to a request from the Rev. J. WILSON at Agra, in behalf of the Christian Tract Society recently organized there, to operate in the north-west provinces of India, of which the Rev. C. G. Pfander is secretary, supplies of the Society's publications were sent for their use to the amount of fifty dollars as a grant, and one hundred dollars on sale. The Committee, consisting of members of the Episcopal, Baptist, and Presbyterian churches, are divided into sub-committees on the different dialects, Hindi, Urdu, Panjabi, Persian, etc. Mr. Wilson states, that many a European soldier who fell in the late bloody wars in Afghanistan and the Punjab, has been supplied with tracts and books, and read them with prayerful interest. The regiment which was so dreadfully cut up on the 13th of January, 1849, spent the previous year at Agra, and contained an unusual number of sober, thoughtful men. Letters from some of them, on the night before the battle, to those who next day were their widows, and to Mr. Wilson, showed that they had read the books, and received religious instruction with profit; and some who survive give a living testimony to the value of these means of grace. Mr. Wilson believes the new Society will do much to supply the soldiery throughout the provinces, and wishes to see some system of effort introduced like the colporteur labors which have been so much blessed in our own country.

The Rev. JOHN NEWTON, writing from Lahor, lately the capital of the Sikh empire, which the mission have recently occupied as a station, says, "We have here a wide field open before us. Mr. Forman and myself are the missionaries now on the ground, but hope soon to be joined by others." At the request of a lady, through Rev. Mr. Newton, Baxter's Call, Doddridge, Nelson, the Sabbath Manual, and other volumes issued by the Society in German, have been sent to her friends in Germany for their spiritual benefit.

TRANSLATION OF A YOUNG HINDOO'S LETTER FROM THE COLLEGE AT DELHI TO REV. MR. WARREN, SENT TO THE SOCIETY IN THE NATIVE HINDUSTANI.

"To his honor the Superintendent of the Allahabad Mission press, peace:

"I have read the book, 'Inquiry concerning the True Religion,' in which, by proper signs, the Mohammedan, Hindoo, and Christian religions are examined; and it is exceedingly acceptable to me, and I have a great desire for it. On this account I am giving you the trouble to be sure and send to my address one copy of that blessed book. So please to send said book by mail to me, that I may receive a benefit from it. And whatever its price may be, I will pay it according to your bill; or if it be distributed gratuitously, then it is all the same. Please without fail give an answer to this petition along with the book.

"The writer is Ram Chander, of the government college at Delhi."

BURMAH—THE KARENS—ASSAM.

The Rev. THOMAS S. RANNEY writes, January 20, "The number of pages issued from the depository in Maulmain in 1849, including with tracts, hymn-books, was 750,185, which is an increase over the issues of 1848 of more than 300,000 pages. We have good reason to believe that these tracts are received, read, and to a very considerable extent, preserved. They are circulated over an immense tract of country, throughout the provinces and mountains of Arracan; along the rivers of Burmah proper, up to the borders of China; along the coast and provinces of the Tenasserim upon the bay of Bengal, down to the Malay borders; and eastward to the Shan states; penetrating even the interior of Siam, where an immense number of Peguans reside, whose ancestors were taken captive in this vicinity and carried away to Siam. Over these regions the living preacher has never been, and cannot go; but taking his stand in a central place, it is his privilege to send out his voice by these silent messengers, speaking to the millions enveloped in darkness and dead in sin, publishing the glad tidings of salvation. How much good is accomplished in this way, future generations will make known. The present is the day of small things, but while these rays of light are going out into the darkness, faith looks to the future and sees the fulfilment of the promise, 'Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit.'"

Mr. Ranney expresses the sorrow of the missionary's heart, who, "in the midst of a Babel of languages," caring not only "for the numerous sons of hither India, but for Cingalese, Malays, Chinese, and the Tounghoos and Shans of the neighboring eastern borders, can only get one language by long and tedious study;" and though passing them in the streets day by day, is unable to warn them of the ruin to which they are hastening. Two new tracts, "The Ten Commandments," and "How do we know there is a God?" have been prepared with special reference to meet objections urged by the disciples of Gaudama against the truths of the Bible. Mr. Ranney says the statement that Dr. Judson had removed to Ava, the capital of Burmah proper, was entirely incorrect, as the present king is distinguished for his intolerance, and closes every door of entrance. Dr. Judson's short residence in Rangoon was like living in a prison. Two attempts by the Rev. Mr. Abbott to enter Burmah proper from Arracan, have been resisted.

The Rev. C. Bennett, of the Karen mission at Tavoy, wrote, Nov. 12, enclosing $50 from an anonymous reader of the Messenger in Burmah, "to aid the American Tract Society in any way the Committee may direct in the endeavor to save souls from woe," and stating that for the past year the press has been occupied with the Karen dictionary, Arithmetic, Calendar of 96 pages, and other works not coming within the scope of this Society. They also continue the monthly Morning Star, now in the ninth year of its publication, which, with the Calendar, Mr. Bennett says, are to the Karens in some degree what the American Messenger and Christian Almanac are to the United States. "The intelligence circulated in them would not reach the people in any other way; and all is designed to enlarge the minds and elevate the hearts of the Karens, as well as lead them to love and serve God more faithfully and effectually." In the last year 2,096,960 pages were printed at Tavoy, and 849,676 pages issued from the depository; whole number of pages printed in Karen, at Tavoy, 18,399,612. The converts among the Karens have erected houses for worship in many villages, and in 1848 supported 19 schools four months of the year. Their liberality, and that of the converts in Arracan, abounds in the depth of their poverty, "to their power, yea, and beyond their power, willing of themselves," in a manner that should stimulate the people of God in Christian lands to far higher endeavors.

THE TORN LEAF BLESSED.—A missionary in Maulmain, one Sabbath morning observing a young man apparently unwell, sat by the side of his couch, and asked him if he was acquainted with Christianity. He replied, "Yes, I know about going up to God," and stretching out his hand to his pillow, drew forth a bit of paper carefully rolled up, which he as carefully unrolled, and then looking down the page he read the third, fourth, and fifth verses of the twenty-fourth Psalm. "I know that much," he said, and then handed the torn leaf to the missionary. This leaf of the tree of life had been the companion of his weary hours, and the Spirit of God had drawn his attention to the verses best adapted to his circumstances. After faithful instruction, the missionary left him, thankful to God that he had made the wickedness of man in tearing up his word, to praise him.

The Rev. N. BROWN wrote from Sibsagor, Assam, May 4, that new editions of the History of Joseph, and the Sermon on the Mount, and a Dialogue between a Mother and her Daughter, translated from a Bengali tract, had just been printed; and "the Rev. Mr. Cutter has been laborious in distributing tracts and portions of Scripture, assisted by several native laborers." Mr. Brown expresses great joy in what this Society is doing in our own land, "especially among the new states of the West, among Roman-catholics and infidels, among Germans and other emigrants."

MISSIONS IN SIAM.

The Rev. JOHN TAYLOR JONES, of the Baptist mission, Siam, wrote, December 19, reporting more than 2,000,000 pages printed within the year on the Society's account, considerably more than exhausting the total grants.

"In regard to the distribution," he says, "I would remark, that last February Mr. Chandler took a tour of a month into the northern part of the country, and proceeded farther than any one had previously gone; and generally, wherever he went, our publications were eagerly sought. That they were sedulously read, is evident from the fact that many persons from those remote regions have since called at our mission for more, and have reported the books as having awakened a very general interest. Mr. Chandler has made two subsequent tours of two weeks each, from the last of which he has just returned. The last trip has been almost entirely in previously unvisited regions, where the population was large, and the interest of a most promising character. Missionaries of the other societies have taken our publications on their tours, and distributed them from their residences. From our house the distribution has varied exceedingly; sometimes, for several successive days, I could do scarcely any thing else but distribute and converse with the recipients. At other times there has been an apparent lull. I have reason to think fewer books are destroyed than formerly, and many I am sure have been carefully read, or their readers could not have given so good an account of them. But we very much need a greater variety, and more explanation and exhortation to be given with them. We have printed some Chinese tracts, and received others from China. Two or three catechists have been employed almost every day in distributing and explaining these tracts. A few hopeful conversions cheer their efforts.

"From the above you will perceive that we can judiciously appropriate, in a way which promises incalculable eventual good, any amount of funds you place at our disposal; and we shall ever be grateful to receive small appropriations when you cannot send us large ones. A blessing rest on you and your faithful associates. Let multitudinous Siam be remembered in your prayers."

The Rev. Mr. Chandler, impressed with the force and value of Dibble's Thoughts on Missions, especially as adapted to awaken the members of the churches to faithful labors for the souls of men, enclosed $40 for the distribution of that work to every member of a church in this country, in whose spiritual welfare he feels a deep interest. He believes that laymen as well as preachers might do a great work, not only in Christian lands, but among the heathen. He reports four recent admissions to the church and some inquirers. As evidence of the influence of tract distribution in Siam, he says, "About the first of June an old man called, in company with some priests, for books. On questioning him, we found he had a very good knowledge of the Christian religion. He said he came from a place five day's journey north-east of the city. Some of his friends or neighbors, about seven years ago, obtained copies of our tracts and books and carried them home. He accidentally found some of them, begged, and read them through. The truth took hold of his mind, and from that time forth he believed in Jesus. He had never seen a missionary until he called on us. Being a poor man, he begged to remain with us a short time and learn the way of the Lord more fully."

The Rev. A. HEMMENWAY, missionary of the American Board of Commissioners, reports three tours for preaching and distribution made upon the banks of the three principal rivers, in which he says, "I was deeply impressed with the necessity of an increase of helpers in this work. It seemed to me that a few such men as engage in the colporteur work in the United States, might, by the blessing of God, do a great and good work here.

"Let one colporteur be stationed on the Meckleng river, to labor among the gardeners that dwell along its beautiful banks, going from house to house and from temple to temple, to call the attention of the people to the things that belong to their peace, before they shall be for ever hidden from them. Another might find work enough to do among the people on the Fachin, where he would find Siamese, Chinese, Laos, and Cambodian dwelling side by side, most of them knowing enough of Siamese to be benefited by his instructions. Here are the great sugar-mills of the kingdom. A third colporteur might find abundance to do on the Meinam, following up its branches among hundreds of thousands not yet visited by missionaries; and a fourth might find on the Bangplakong river, to the east of this, a wide field of usefulness. I doubt not that the time will come, when the missions here will feel the need of such helpers, and will ask the churches for them, if suitable men shall not be raised up here among the Siamese."

At the suggestion of Rev. Mr. Hemmenway, the Rev. Stephen Mattoon, of the General Assembly's Mission, has been appointed on the Examining Committee for Siam, in place of the Rev. Mr. Robinson, deceased.

CHINA.

A printed list of the "missionaries engaged in publishing the gospel to the Chinese," with the Boards and Societies with which they are severally connected, was received, some months since, from a missionary at Canton, giving the whole number at that time as sixty-seven, of whom seven were absent. There were connected with the American Board of Commissioners, 10; Presbyterian Board, 10; American Baptist Missionary Union, 6; Southern Baptist Convention, 6; Board of the Protestant Episcopal church, 3; Methodist Episcopal church, 4. Of the whole number, 45 were Americans; 19 English, of whom 14 are connected with the London Missionary Society; 2 Swiss, and 1 German. A later statement makes the whole number 73, who were stationed as follows: Canton, 14; Hongkong, 12; Amoy, 7; Fuhchau, 9; Ningpo, 11; Shanghai, 19; Siam, 1. Eight American Societies send 42 missionaries, and four English Societies send 24 missionaries. These laborers are prosecuting with ability, fidelity, and enlargement of plan, their arduous work, in which the press assumes continually the more importance as many of the older missionaries are becoming more truly masters of the language, and able to issue truth in forms adapted to be received and understood by the Chinese. The new translation of the Bible is proceeding, with immense labor by several of the oldest missionaries, at the rate of about thirty verses a day, every word being inserted in a vocabulary as they advance. It is hoped that the New Testament will be completed the present year.

From CANTON, the Rev. Dr. Ball wrote, January 25, that 1,691,700 pages were printed on the Society's account in 1848, including 25,100 copies of the Christian Almanac, which has been reduced in size to 23 pages, to give it a wider circulation. One object of issuing it is to designate to its numerous readers the regular recurrence of the Sabbath-day. About 20,000 copies were printed for missions of other Boards. "Of the importance of distributing tracts among the people of this region," says Dr. Ball, "my conviction is yearly strengthening; I know not what I should do without these assistances."

The Rev. I. J. Roberts, missionary of the Southern Baptist Convention, has just returned from a visit to this country, to resume his active labors at Canton.

From HONGKONG, the Rev. William Dean wrote in May and December, reporting the issues of the press, and sending the gospel of Matthew handsomely printed in Chinese, with notes prepared by him. As a reason for adding the notes, he speaks of "the extreme difficulty the Chinese have in understanding the Scriptures without explanations either written or oral;" and states, that most of the Chinese classics are accompanied with commentaries, explaining them in a more colloquial style. He has prepared the Acts of the Apostles in a similar manner, and was proceeding with Genesis. "At this station and vicinity are six or eight native assistants, preaching and colporting, at an aggregate cost of $800 per annum."

Mr. Dean states, that the committee for examining tracts in Chinese, consisting of himself, Bishop Boone, and Dr. Bridgman, had proposed to prepare a revised list of the publications issued on account of the Society; and at their suggestion, the Rev. M. S. Culbertson of the Presbyterian mission at Ningpo has been added to their number. They had recommended for this committee the lamented Rev. Mr. Pohlman; "but he, good man, has gone to his rest, apparently ripe for usefulness here, and ready for the gracious awards of the upper world. Within a few years," adds Mr. Dean, "Abeel, and Lowrie, and Lloyd, and Pohlman, and others of our associates have gone to the home of the blessed. Their names are hallowed in the recollection of the good, and we shall read the history of their labors in eternity. There it may appear that the seed sown by these devoted men has borne a harvest of glory to the Redeemer, and a harvest of happiness to the saved from the heathen; while many who bear the Christian name and were born in a Christian land, may find that they have made a fatal and fearful mistake, by living for the present to the neglect of the future."

From NINGPO, the Rev. M. S. Culbertson, of the General Assembly's mission, wrote, July 12, reporting the operations of the press, and gratefully acknowledging "the kindness and liberality of the Society's appropriations." "We all feel a very deep interest," he adds, "in the objects of the Society, and trust we shall soon be able to avail ourselves more largely of your kind assistance in endeavoring to promote that blessed cause in which we are alike laboring. As the facilities for acquiring the language of China have so greatly increased, and there is so large a body of missionaries devoting their talents to the work, we hope soon to be provided with a class of publications superior to those which have hitherto been prepared. A class of readers is also springing up, who can read tracts with a greater probability of profit than formerly existed. They have heard the word preached frequently, and having thus obtained some knowledge of the gospel, can better appreciate the instructions and exhortations of our tracts. A great work is yet to be done by your Society for China. We are permitted to see the beginning. The end we may see perhaps when our part in it shall long have ceased." In the last year about 800,000 pages were distributed by missionaries in and about Ningpo, and nearly 300,000 pages sent far and wide, "by means of native junks trading to all parts of the coast of China."

Dr. D. J. MACGOWAN, of the mission of the Baptist Union at Ningpo, devotes himself in a great degree to the distribution of the Scriptures and tracts in connection with preaching, and two native assistants are devoted in part to the same service. "The recent appropriation for this station was much needed," he says, "and could a like amount be spared for tract distribution every year, one of the most powerful engines of the missionary arsenal would never slacken fire. We are not the only tract distributors in China, nor are Christian Tract societies the sole publishers of tracts for gratuitous distribution. The sects of Budha, of Reason, and of Confucius have long known the utility of this mode of disseminating their doctrines, and are frequently practising it; a sufficient evidence of the importance of this part of our work."

In the journals of Dr. Macgowan, after reporting a cheering visit of Rev. Mr. Dean from Hongkong, and Rev. Mr. Goddard from Bangkok, and expressing his joy that the labors of Mr. Goddard will now be transferred to Ningpo, he gives a history of a journey upon the continent, in which he was dressed in the Chinese costume and accompanied by two native assistants. He first visited the walled city of Hangchau, on the Tsientang river, forty miles from its mouth, a great silk mart containing nearly a million inhabitants, and in returning visited the ancient city of Shanhing.

"Our last day at the provincial capital," he says, "was employed in the distribution of religious books. They were so easily distributed, and so well received, that we regretted we had not taken a much larger supply. May we not hope that God will bless the reading of these volumes to some of these deluded people? There are doubtless many in that great city, who know and confess that they are sinners. It was such that Jesus came to seek and save. Some of them possess enough of the gospel to point them to him. Will he not answer the prayers of those who cry day and night unto him for the conversion of these people?"

"This visit to the interior," he adds, "has caused us to attach increased importance to Bible and tract distribution in this country. It is true, that the number of the readers in the empire is much less than has been supposed; but these cities, hitherto unvisited by the Protestant missionary, had been reached by the printed page distributed at Ningpo and Shanghai; and doubtless, these precursors of living witnesses have penetrated into the very recesses of the continent. Let the press be kept in incessant operation, give us means to scatter its productions, and great good will certainly result. We hope to be able to send a colporteur to the capital every year, or at least at each period when candidates from all parts of the province assemble to compete for high literary honors."

From SHANGHAI, Rev. J. L. Shuck and Rev. Thomas W. Tobey, of the mission of the Southern Baptist Convention, have written, reporting that they had just put to press Milne's Two Friends; that they go everywhere into the country without molestation; that they have large congregations and a number of inquirers, a new gothic chapel being in process of erection. Mr. Shuck requests a set of the Society's publications for the use of himself and the mission, which have been granted; and expressing the satisfaction with which the six copies of the American Messenger sent him have been read, has been procuring subscribers in Shanghai, enclosing four dollars and a list of thirteen clergymen of different denominations, including Bishop Boone and Rev. Mr. Medhurst, to whom it is regularly sent.

The Rev. E. W. Syle, of the American Episcopal mission, which has a supply of the Society's funds for the coming year, says in his journal of Sabbath, November 26, "Bishop Boone being well enough to take the morning service in the school-chapel himself, I took some tracts in my hand, and went among the people of the village nearest to us. To say that on such occasions one is 'well received,' does not convey a sufficiently favorable idea of the lively welcome offered to us, and the eager attention with which our remarks are listened to. Indeed, it is hard to say which is the more inviting field for exertion—the city where the numbers are so great, or the country parts where the people flock round us so eagerly. Oh, that we had men enough to attend properly to both!"

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Mr. LEVI CHAMBERLAIN, who has long and faithfully corresponded with the Society, has rested from his labors. His last request to the Society was for a grant of $1,000 for 1850, and $1,000 for 1851, in aid of the mission press. On the 31st October, Mr. Samuel N. Castle, who succeeds Mr. Chamberlain as agent of the mission, wrote the Society, enclosing $130 25 from the Hawaiian auxiliary, of which he is treasurer, and $20 from a member of the mission, and reporting the total expenditure on the Society's account $22,512 37, which exceeds the total grants. One hundred copies of the American Messenger are regularly received at the islands.

The Rev. Titus Coan gratefully acknowledges the Society's grants of books from time to time, which he has faithfully circulated, chiefly among seamen, and encloses one hundred dollars from his native Hawaiian church, a donation constituting himself and Rev. Mr. Bond of Kohala life directors of the Society. "This sum," he says, "has been most cheerfully given. Both pastor and flock feel, we trust, that we are debtors to all men. Freely we have received, and we freely give. Our people are beginning to understand, that 'it is more blessed to give than to receive.' I think their contributions for 1849 will amount to $500 or $600. They are poor, but many give cheerfully." This liberal gift from a people so lately recovered from heathenism has been acknowledged in a letter to them, expressing the gratitude of the Society and the spirit in which it is received.

As to the seamen, Mr. Coan says, October 16, "It is now the shipping season, and our streets are all alive with sailors. Many call for tracts and books. Some are serious. One of the musicians of the United States ship Ohio is, I trust, a monument of grace. He devours religious books, and has read many of the Society's publications with profit. He has just called and selected a large bundle of tracts for distribution in the 'sick bay,' and among the crew."

The Rev. Lorenzo Lyons, at Waimea, states the usefulness of previous grants, and requests a new supply of 20,000 pages, which were granted.

The Rev. S. C. Damon, seamen's chaplain at Honolulu, had returned to the islands, August 22, from a visit to Oregon and California, and requested supplies of the Christian Almanac, of which 1,000 were sent.

ILLUSTRATED BOOKS AT THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—"We are deeply indebted to the Tract Society," writes a missionary, "for the Tract Primer and other beautiful books. They made the little ones hop and sing finely, and I can't refrain from telling you how my own heart bounded with delight on beholding 'The Christian Almanac,' and the children's books in the same beautiful style. I could not contain my feelings; the joy poured out in streams, that the wisdom of the serpent with the harmlessness of the dove is thus exhibited by one of our great and noble institutions. 'These books will go, and the devil cannot stop them—the pope cannot hinder them,' was my first glad thought on seeing them. Now, indeed, the mechanical execution is worthy the contents of the books. The additional pecuniary outlay will bear no proportion to the additional spiritual harvest that will be secured by the charming exterior and beautiful pages of these books. Truly it is a happy thought, that the ten thousand rills of life flowing from this fountain before, will be indefinitely multiplied by any scheme of man's wisdom sanctified by the grace of God."

Thus have the Committee briefly reviewed the ways of God towards this Society; and to him, in humble trust, they would commit its future interests. They bespeak the prayers and labors and contributions of all the people of God. The work is sacred, involving responsibilities for eternity, identified with the dearest interests of Zion. As such may the language of every laborer, friend, and patron be, "If I forget thee, let my right hand forget her cunning; if I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy."

JUBILEE MEMORIAL

THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY IN LONDON.

This interesting volume, referred to on page 17 of this Report, did not come to hand till after most of the preceding pages were printed. It was prepared by Mr. William Jones, Corresponding Secretary, and comprises 698 beautifully printed octavo pages; giving the history of the formation of the Society, May 9, 1799, a notice of its founders, and an animating view of its progress, and the success of the several departments of its labors at home and abroad for fifty years. It contains portraits of the Rev. George Burder, Rev. Joseph Hughes, and Rev. Legh Richmond, among its founders and early supporters; of Joseph Reyner, Esq., and J. B. Wilson, Esq., the first Treasurers, and Rev. John Campbell, long an active member of the Committee; and of George Stokes, Esq., Mr. William F. Lloyd, and Mr. William Jones, "the three-fold cord," who devoted their undivided and untiring efforts to the Society's interests for nearly thirty years. The labors of Mr. Stokes and Mr. Lloyd were chiefly devoted to the publishing department, and a large number of the four thousand three hundred and sixty-three publications of all descriptions on the Society's list, especially those for the young, were prepared by them. Mr. Stokes prepared several larger works, including the Society's Commentary, of six volumes. The excellent and catholic original address of the Committee, constituting Tract No. 1, was written by the Rev. Dr. Bogue, of Gosport.

The following interesting items in the history and operations of the Religious Tract Society have been selected from the "Jubilee Memorial."

FORMATION OF "THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY."

"The Rev. George Burder, the minister of a congregation at Coventry, was, under the good providence of God, the originator of the Religious Tract Society. He was among the number of those friends who, while they rejoiced in the wide diffusion of Mrs. More's tracts, regretted that they did not contain a fuller statement of the great evangelical principles of Christian truth. He therefore felt the necessity of publishing tracts of a more decidedly religious character. A review of all the steps that led to the formation of the Society will be interesting to the reader, when he associates with them the results which have followed.

"'I think,' remarks Mr. Burder, in his own diary, 'it was at the commencement of the year 1781, when residing at Lancaster, that I first printed a small tract, called 'The Good Old Way,' in which the fall and recovery of man were stated and proved from Scripture, and confirmed by quotations from the Articles and Liturgy of the Established church. I sent copies of this tract round Lancaster to each house, with a few words of dedication to the inhabitants. What effect it had I know not. One or two were sent back with abusive expressions. Whatever effect the tract produced at Lancaster, I have great cause to be thankful that I wrote it, for it has been printed many times over in England and Scotland, and I suppose that hundreds of thousands have been distributed, I believe to the good of many. An odd circumstance happened at Bolton: I was told that two churchwardens, who observed its title, and thought it was written against the Methodists and dissenters, purchased and gave away two hundred at the church-door.'

"After the appearance of this tract, Mr. Burder was encouraged to go forward in this way of usefulness. The opposition to his first effort only induced him more zealously to engage in the work. He conferred with his friend the Rev. Samuel Greaheed on the subject, who warmly entered into his views. In connection with that revered minister, Mr. Burder published six tracts, exclusively religious, under the title of 'Village Tracts,' which were sold for one penny each. These productions were intended to lay open, with as much simplicity and clearness as possible, the distinguishing doctrines of Christianity, and to connect with each an earnest appeal to the heart; in the hope that, through the blessing of God, many who had little leisure and less inclination to peruse entire volumes, might be furnished with agreeable and useful employment, and eventually be led to an acquaintance with their own hearts, and a knowledge of salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.

"The publication of these tracts was committed to the care of a London bookseller. He had the superintendence of them but a short time, when his bankruptcy interfered with their circulation, and led to a considerable loss on the part of the benevolent and disinterested writers.

"The failure of this agent was a circumstance of importance in connection with the formation of the future society. Mr. Burder and his friend discovered that these private efforts were too limited to lead to any permanent results, and they determined to promote the formation of a society to secure the object, when the fitting time should arrive. They felt that a general depository was wanting, to which all persons might freely resort, where the opulent man might spend his guinea, and the poor man meet with cheerful civility though his order should not exceed a penny. There was wanting, too, a series of tracts adapted, by their variety, to readers whose respective attainments, condition, and character demanded so many different modes of address.

"The mind of Mr. Burder, always intent on the attainment of his favorite object, anxiously watched for the season when his views could be fully made known to the Christian public. At length the time arrived—it was on the eighth day of May, 1799, when the annual sermon was preached for the London Missionary Society, at Surrey chapel—the scene of the venerable Rowland Hill's lengthened and successful labors. The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. Finlay, of Paisley, from Isaiah 11 : 6–9.

"Before the missionary service, Mr. Burder explained his plan to Mr. Hill, which met with his cordial approval. After the sermon, he requested the attendance of ministers in the school-room adjoining the chapel. In those days this arrangement did not interfere with the interests of the Missionary Society, no collections being made after the appeal from the pulpit. It was not then considered prudent to press the people overmuch, lest they should become 'weary in well-doing.' A goodly number of devoted men assembled after the missionary services. 'I told the ministers,' remarks Mr. Burder, 'that it was my wish that something should be done in a more regular and systematic way to promote the dispersion of religious tracts, which should develop more fully than Mrs. More had done in her excellent Cheap Repository Tracts, the evangelical doctrines of the gospel. I requested the opinions of the ministers, whether it was not desirable to form a society for the publication and circulation of such works.' They freely conversed on the subject, and all concurred in the desirableness of such an institution. How encouraging to the benevolent feelings of Mr. Burder to witness the union of many holy minds in the object that had long engaged his prayerful attention. It conveyed to him the conviction that the work was the Lord's, and that 'the set time' for its establishment had come.

"Much, however, depended on the prompt prosecution of the undertaking. Its indefinite postponement might have been fatal to its accomplishment. The question was, when the matter could be taken into further consideration. How important was the reply to this inquiry. It was suggested by Mr. Burder, that an adjourned meeting should be held on the following morning, Thursday, the 9th of May, at seven o'clock, at the St. Paul's Coffee-house, in St. Paul's churchyard.

"At this meeting, about forty persons breakfasted together. The late Thomas Wilson, Esq., of Highbury, then a young man, just entering on active engagements in the Saviour's cause, presided; and the Rev. Joseph Hughes, of Battersea, offered the first prayer to God, for his blessing on the deliberations of the meeting, and the Society that might be formed. Among the friends present were the devoted Rowland Hill and several of the active ministers of the day, whose desires for the advancement of divine truth had been rekindled by their connection with the great missionary enterprise. After much conversation, the Society was established; and, according to the custom of the times, a committee was appointed to consider the rules that would be necessary for its regulation. This committee consisted, among others, of the Rev. Messrs. Alien of Exeter, Bennett of Romsey, Bogue of Gosport, Burder the founder, then of Coventry, Hughes of Battersea, Lambert of Hull, Slatton of Chatham, Sloper of Devizes, Town of Royston, and Matthew Wilks of London. These ministers were assisted by the Messrs. Reyner, Sewell, and Wilson.

"At an adjourned meeting, held at the St. Paul's Coffee-house, on Friday morning, the 10th of May, at seven o'clock, the Rev. Rowland Hill presided, when the sub-committee presented the following plan of the institution, and the rules for its government, which were adopted:

- "1. That the society now forming be called, 'The Religious Tract Society.'
- "2. That it consist of persons subscribing half a guinea or upwards annually.
- "3. That an annual meeting be held on the Thursday morning of the missionary week, at St. Paul's Coffee-house, when a treasurer, secretary, and committee shall be chosen.
- "4. That the tracts be paid for on delivery.

"The following ministers and gentlemen were appointed as the committee and officers for the first year:

AGENCY OF "THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY" IN ORGANIZING THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY.

"In the year 1802, the Rev. Thomas Charles, of Bala, in Wales, was walking in one of the streets in that town, when he met a child who attended his ministry. He inquired if she could repeat the text from which he had preached on the preceding Sunday. Instead of giving a prompt reply, as she had been accustomed to do, she remained silent. 'Can you not tell me the text, my little girl?' repeated Mr. Charles. The child wept, but was still silent. At length she said, 'The weather, sir, has been so bad that I could not get to read the Bible.' This remark surprised the good man, and he exclaimed, 'Could you not get to read the Bible! how was that?' The reason was soon ascertained: there was no copy to which she could gain access, either at her own home, or among her friends; and she was accustomed to travel every week seven miles over the hills to a place where she could obtain a Welsh Bible, to read the chapter from which the minister took his text. But during that week the cold and stormy weather had prevented her usual journey. Surely the word of the Lord was precious in those days to this lamb of the Saviour's fold.

"This incident made a deep impression on the benevolent mind of Mr. Charles, and increased the anxiety he had long felt to secure for the Welsh a good supply of the Scriptures in their own tongue.

"The next step which advanced the Bible cause is stated by his biographer. After noticing the failure of various attempts to obtain the Scriptures in Welsh, from the Christian Knowledge Society and other sources, 'Mr. Charles, in December, 1802, took his annual journey to London, intending to lay certain plans for securing his object before several charitable friends, particularly the Committee of the Religious Tract Society, of which he was then a member. The subject was much on his mind; and while awake in bed, as he told me himself, the idea of having a Bible Society established in London, on a similar basis to the Religious Tract Society, occurred to him. He was so cheered by the thought that he instantly arose, and went out to consult some friends on the subject.' The first person he met was Mr. Tarn, who was then on the Committee of the Tract Society. They discussed the subject together for a considerable time. At the next meeting of the Committee, held on Tuesday, the 7th December, 1802, Mr. Charles was introduced. On this occasion, the Rev. Matthew Wilks occupied the chair, and the following friends were present: The Rev. Messrs. Steinkopff, Townsend, and Hughes; also Messrs. Pellatt, Alers,* Mackenzie, Gouldsmith, Shrubsole, Preston, Freshfield, Reyner, Hamilton, Fowler, Shotter, and Tarn.

"Mr. Tarn, after the regular business of the Committee was finished, mentioned the particulars of his conversation with Mr. Charles, when the latter fully unfolded his plans, and urged assistance in the attainment of an object which had long occupied his mind. How deeply important was the hour devoted to this conversation. Surely the Lord was in the midst of the little assembly, suggesting holy thoughts to his servants. At the moment when Mr. Charles was appealing for the Bible for Wales, it occurred to Mr. Hughes, 'Surely a society might be formed for the purpose; and if for Wales, why not also for the empire and the world?' He mentioned to the friends that it appeared to him desirable to extend the plan suggested by Mr. Charles so as to facilitate a general circulation of the Scriptures. In these views all present united, and instructed Mr. Hughes to make the following entry in the minute-book of the Tract Society:

"'Mr. Charles, of Bala, having introduced the subject, which had been previously mentioned by Mr. Tarn, of dispersing Bibles in Wales, the Committee resolved that it would be highly desirable to stir up the public mind to the dispersion of Bibles generally, and that a paper in a magazine to this effect may be singularly useful. The object† was deemed sufficiently connected with the object of the Society thus generally to appear on these minutes; and the secretary, who suggested it, was accordingly desired to enter it.'

"Mr. Hughes was requested at this conference to prepare a circular-letter, inviting Christians of every name to unite in a society to send the word of God, without note or comment, all over the world.

"The origin of the Bible Society, as furnished by its eloquent historian, the Rev. John Owen, agrees very much with the statements which have been given. He notices the Committee of the Religious Tract Society as 'a circle of friends who had met to transact a different business;' and in a note acknowledges the services they rendered 'at the commencement of the noble effort, to spread scriptural truth throughout the world.'

"It is due to the Society, however, fully to state the part its Committee took in this holy work. We have shown the dawn—let us now exhibit the progress of the cause.

* Now W. Alers Hankey, Esq.

† That is, the circulation of the Bible throughout the world.

"On Tuesday, the 21st December, 1802, the Tract Committee again met, when Mr. Thomas Pellatt presided. There were present, the Rev. Messrs. R. Hill, Townsend, Hughes, Anlezark, Charles, and Wilks; and Messrs. Preston, Alers, Shrubsole, Freshfield, Reyner, Rogers, Gouldsmith, Tarn, Saddington, Mills, and Williams. The following entry on the minutes is in the writing of Mr. Pellatt:

"Mr. Secretary read a paper on the importance of forming a society for the distribution of Bibles in various languages.

"Resolved, "That a special meeting be holden next Tuesday, at eight o'clock, as preparatory to a general meeting to promote that end."

"At the appointed time the Committee met. Mr. Charles was in attendance. The following minute was the result:

"The object of the intended society was maturely considered, and determined unanimously to be, 'To promote the circulation of the holy Scriptures in foreign countries, and in those parts of the British dominions for which adequate provision is not yet made; it being understood that no English translation of the Scriptures will be gratuitously circulated by the Society in Great Britain.'"

"The address by Mr. Hughes, explanatory of the object of the intended society, was adopted after careful revision; and Mr. Mills was requested to prepare the outline of a plan for its regulation. In January, 1803, it was arranged that Mr. Reyner should 'correspond with some liberal individuals in different parts of the country on the subject of opening a subscription as the basis of the intended society.'

"On the 1st of February, 1803, the rules of the society were finally settled. On the 8th of the same month, an important minute is recorded, 'That the translation of the Scriptures, established by public authority, be the only one in the English language to be adopted by the society.' At this meeting also it was proposed to apply to his majesty George III. for his patronage of the society; but the design was afterwards abandoned. The friends appear to have considered that a more suitable patron could not have been found, than the monarch who had expressed the pious wish, 'that the day might soon come when every poor child in his kingdom should be taught to read the Bible.'

"At the fourth general meeting of the Tract Society, held at St. Paul's Coffee-house on the 12th of May, 1803, the contemplated Bible Society was the great absorbing subject of the morning. The secretary stated that 'it was in the contemplation of some respectable friends to form an extensive plan for the diffusion of Bibles into the hands of such persons as are at present unable to procure them, and requested the members present to inquire, in their respective vicinities, as to the facility of procuring Bibles, and to communicate such information.'

"Subsequently to this meeting, and during the remainder of the year 1803, various difficulties impeded the formation of the society, but a wise and prudent course on the part of its friends gradually removed them. In January, 1804, a special meeting was held 'for the purpose of promoting the Bible Society,' when it was resolved, 'That the title of the society should be, "The British and Foreign Bible Society," agreeably to the suggestion of the Secretary, and that he be requested to prepare a circular letter on the subject.'

"This circular was soon presented by Mr. Hughes to the Committee, and approved by them. It was extensively circulated, and led many persons to consider the great object which had so long engaged the anxious attention of the Tract Committee. Among other results, Mr. Reyner reported, 'that from a conversation he had had with Robert Howard, Esq., he had reason to conclude that several respectable members of the society called Quakers would attend the public meeting, and exert themselves on behalf of the excellent object.'

"At length the happy period arrived when the prayers of many Christians were answered, and the preliminary and anxious labors of the Tract Committee were happily and successfully terminated. On the 7th of March, 1804, the British and Foreign Bible Society was fully established. On this occasion several members of the Tract Committee 'explained the nature and design of the projected society, demonstrated its necessity, and in a strain of good sense, temperate zeal, and perspicuous information, urged the importance of its immediate establishment.' The historian of the Bible Society appears to have been deeply impressed by this meeting. He describes himself as having been 'surrounded by a multitude of Christians, whose doctrinal and ritual differences had for ages kept them asunder, and who had been taught to regard each other with a sort of pious estrangement, or rather of consecrated hostility.' He adds, 'The scene was new; nothing analogous to it had perhaps been exhibited before the public since Christians had begun to organize among each other the strife of separation, and to carry into their own camp that war which they ought to have waged in concert against the common enemy.' To the author it appeared to indicate the dawn of a new era in Christendom, and to portend something like the return of those auspicious days, when 'the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul;' and when, as a consequence of that union, to a certain degree at least, the word of God mightily grew and prevailed.*

"Among the elected committee were the following members of the Tract Society: Messrs. William Alers, Joseph Bunnell, Robert Cowie, Joseph Hardcastle, Thomas Hodson, Samuel Mills, Joseph Reyner, Robert Steven, and C. Sundius. The Rev. Joseph Hughes was one of the secretaries of the new institution.

"The auspicious commencement of the society was immediately communicated by Mr. Tarn to Mr. Charles. He wrote, 'The meeting consisted of about three hundred persons from different denominations of Christians, and there was nothing but harmony throughout. A subscription was opened, and £700 obtained on the spot.' He added, 'We cannot, my dear brother, but rejoice together when we consider that this work had its beginning in a conversation we had one morning which will never be forgotten. Hence I was induced, at the next meeting of the Tract Society, to mention the scarcity of Bibles in Wales, and then it was that the flame was kindled which now breaks out, and which I hope will burn brighter and brighter till that day of universal knowledge comes, when we shall no more teach our brother, saying, "Know the Lord;" but all shall know him, from the least to the greatest. To the Lord be all the glory.'

"It was no common privilege for the friends of the Tract Society to take a leading part in the work which has been thus described. The minutes which have been given are found in the Society's books, incorporated with its own benevolent transactions, and recorded by its official friends. It has ever possessed the kindest paternal feelings for the Bible Society, and now rejoices that so great have been its hallowed achievements, that 21,973,355 copies of the Scriptures, in whole or in part, have been distributed in one hundred and sixty-two languages and dialects. 'Its line has gone out through all the earth, and its words to the end of the world.'"

ENGLISH WORKS REPRODUCED IN VARIOUS LANGUAGES.

"There is one view of the Society's foreign labors it would be improper to overlook; namely, the manner in which they have extended the influence of Christian writers through the world. Authors who only contemplated the improvement of their own countrymen when they composed their works, have had their thoughts conveyed into languages, the very names of which were unknown in their days. Little did John Bunyan foresee that in future times missionaries would go forth to the heathen, and by twenty-eight different translations of his enchanting volume interest the people of many nations, the civilized and the rude, so that the learned and polished inhabitant of France or Greece, the tawny wanderer of Arabia, the persecuted believer in Madagascar, the sunburnt Caffre, and the degraded Hottentot, should read with avidity the book which is the delight of the lowly cottagers of our own land.

* "Owen's History of the Bible Society, vol. i., p. 44."

"The pious writer of the touching narrative, 'Poor Joseph,' in all probability only contemplated its usefulness within the limits of his own country: how surprised he would have been if one endowed with prophetic vision had told him that his 'half-witted man' would speak in seventeen languages, and be the means of teaching the knowledge of Christ to the Chinese in the east, the Greek in the west, the Esquimaux in the north, and the African in the south.

"Neither did the amiable and devoted Legh Richmond, when employing his persuasive advocacy and active labors for the Society, imagine that he was sustaining an agency which would convey his 'short and simple Annals of the Poor' through twenty-one languages to the Russian, the Armenian, the Arab, the Iclander, and the Turk.

"Nor did the esteemed writer of the 'Anxious Inquirer Directed and Encouraged' suppose, when he sent out that useful production, that his affectionate appeals would find an utterance in five continental tongues, in one of the most difficult dialects of India, and in the words of the islanders of the Pacific ocean. In a similar manner, also, other Christian authors, as Baxter, Doddridge, Pike, Stokes, Keith, and Barth, have had their influence extended and perpetuated to an extent they could never have anticipated."

INFLUENCE OF BOOKS ON BAXTER, DODDRIDGE, WILBERFORCE, LEGH RICHMOND.

"One fact will be given from the life of the Rev. Richard Baxter, showing the agency by which he was led to the Redeemer, and the mighty influence which one conversion had on the spiritual interests of men in all ages of the church. 'It pleased God that a poor pedlar came to the door, that had ballads and some good books, and my father bought of him Dr. Sibbs' 'Bruised Reed.'" This I read, and found it suited to my taste, and seasonably sent to me. After this we had a servant that had a little piece of Mr. Perkins' work "On Repentance," and the reading of that did further inform me and confirm me; and thus, without any means but books, was God pleased to resolve me for himself.' A chain of glorious sequences is traceable to this simple event. In reference to this cheering fact it has been remarked, 'Doddridge borrowed the works of Baxter, and the practical writings of the earlier divines of the seventeenth century, which he read often, and carefully, and with much spiritual benefit. "The Rise and Progress of Religion in the Soul," from the pen of Doddridge, which contains solemn appeals, characterized by the spirit and earnestness of Baxter, led Wilberforce to seek for pardon through the divine Redeemer; while "The Practical View of Christianity," by that eminent philanthropist, was the instrument employed by the Holy Spirit to lead one of the Society's earlier secretaries, the Rev. Legh Richmond, to repentance; and who can calculate the numbers that have been safely guided to the rest of the righteous by "The Dairyman's Daughter" and "The Young Cottager?"' "

CONSTITUTION OF THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

ARTICLE I. This Society shall be denominated the AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY, the object of which shall be to diffuse a knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ as the Redeemer of sinners, and to promote the interests of vital godliness and sound morality, by the circulation of Religious Tracts, calculated to receive the approbation of all evangelical Christians.

ARTICLE II. Any person paying twenty dollars at one time into the Treasury of this Society, shall be a Member for Life; and any person paying fifty dollars at one time, or who shall, by one additional payment, increase his original contribution to fifty dollars, shall be a Director for Life.

ARTICLE III. Persons constituted members of the Society by donations not designated by them to be applied to specific objects, shall be annually entitled to Tracts to the value of one dollar, and persons so constituted Directors to the value of two dollars; or, if preferred, they may receive tracts at any one time to the value of half the sum given.

ARTICLE IV. The Society shall meet annually, on Wednesday immediately preceding the second Thursday in May, when the proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, and a Board, consisting of a President, Vice-Presidents, Secretaries, a Treasurer, two Auditors, and thirty-six Directors, shall be chosen.

ARTICLE V. The Board of Directors shall annually elect, by ballot, a Publishing, a Distributing, and a Finance Committee, each consisting of not less than three, nor more than six members; the members of which three Committees shall constitute an Executive Committee to conduct the business of the Society, and shall be, ex-officio, Members of the Board. The Board shall have power to enact By-Laws, and to appoint Honorary Vice-Presidents, Directors, or Members. Twelve members of the Board, present at any meeting regularly convened, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

ARTICLE VI. To promote in the highest degree the objects of this Society, the Officers and Directors shall be elected from different denominations of Christians; the Publishing Committee shall contain no two members from the same ecclesiastical connection; and no tract shall be published to which any member of that Committee shall object.

ARTICLE VII. Any Tract Society, formed on the principles of this Society, and annually contributing a donation to its Treasury, shall be considered an Auxiliary; and the President and Secretary of such Auxiliary for the time being, shall be, ex-officio, members of this Society.

ARTICLE VIII. That the benefits of the Society may be enjoyed no less in distant places than near the seat of its operations, the prices of its tracts shall be, as far as practicable, the same in all parts of the United States.

ARTICLE IX. All meetings of the Society, the Board of Directors, and the Executive Committee, shall be opened by prayer.

ARTICLE X. The President, or, in his absence, the Vice-President, or other Officer first on the list in the city of New York, at the request of five Directors, may call special meetings of the Board of Directors, causing three days' notice of such meetings to be given. The Board of Directors shall have power to call special meetings of the Society.

ARTICLE XI. This Constitution shall not be altered, except at an annual meeting, and by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.
